Edison's Latest. NEW YORK, March 31 .- The kinetophone has been decided upon by Thomas A. Edison as the name for his latest contrivance. It is a combination of the well known kinetoscope and phonograph, and it gives sound as well as action. The new machine resembles the kinetoscope closely, with the addition of rubber tubes and ear pieces, by means of which the voices of the sueject shown may be heard. The matter of combining the two machines was, according to Mr. Edison, very simple, the only obstacle being to get them to work in perfect accordthat is, the kinetscope an I phonograph had to be started at exectly the same time, or the action and subject would not come together. The machine in its present state is small, and the pictures produced are only the ordinary small ones of the kinetoscope. The problem that Mr. E-bson has new set out to solve is the production of life-size figures, and he says he will have a big-machine in working order in three months.
