Our reporter was presented with two beautiful roses this week, one red and the other white, with the following lines attached: One rose is red, and one is white, And you are now my heart's delight. Society.

Among the most pleasant of pleasant things in life is the association of men and women on the fraternal plane. The pure esthetic courtesies which naturally arise in cultivated society develops and rounds out the highest degree of human refinement and creates a longing desire for its frequent indulgence.

These amenities grow and ripen into perfect friendship, which is the bond of human society, and make all mankind more intimately related, and tends to polish off the rough asperity of our nature. Thus moralizing, a PLAINDEALER reporter attended a social gathering at the Odd Fellows' hall last Tuesday evening, after lodge hours, to witness and participate in an entertainment given by the Rebekahs of this city.

The hall was ablaze with light, adornment and beauty, and joy was depicted on every countenance. While there was a preponderance of ladies, there were the sterner sex a goodly number and not a few of the developing buds of promise. All went merrily as a marriage bell, and joy was unconfined, as is the case where youth and beauty meet to chase the hours with flying feet (but they didn't dance), "they ran, they leaped, they rejoiced that they were more excellent than the rose." They played at innocent games; crokinole, whist, shooting at a mark with sacks of beans, and one with silybline proclivities amused her companions by revealing the past and foretelling the future, to the delight of all and the edification of a few.

Presently all this hilarity was interrupted by an invitation to the banquet hall, where "let us behold, a slight gleam of light" was presented. A table spread with edibles that gladdened the heart; cakes, strawberries and sugar and cream, etc., embellished with a profusion of floral adornment "was a sight to behold," such as the Rebekahs are renowned for making.

After duly canvassing this superb spread, they returned to the lodge room. One imaginative genius, prolific in schemes proposed to take a vote to ascertain by ball ballot, who among the ladies was the handsomest. One black ball was to be considered as a possible mistake of the voter, but two black balls would reject without right of appeal. But this scheme failed as the balloting would be tedious. So it was determined that the ladies should all "draw cuts" in the crowd. A star reporter not being able to get his life insured, refuses to give the names of the competitors including the name of the lucky one, for, should he do so, a funeral might be the result of this most enjoyable episode in Roseburg's history, and thus destroy the force of his moralizing introductory to this notice.

An Historical Relic. Mr. James Hanbrough, who has just returned from a tour of the East, has presented to Laurel Lodge, No. 13, A. F. & A. M., a beautiful gavel made of wood taken from the battle grounds of Lookout Mountain. It has inserted in it a minnie ball that was picked up on this famous place. It is a fine piece of work and will doubtless be highly prized by his brother Masons as a souvenir of their esteemed brother, and of the place "Lookout Mt." which is engraved on one side.

REQUESTS FOR TWIN MONEY.

Compliance Would Cost President Cleveland $20,000 a Day. WASHINGTON, D. C., May 27.—Ever since some wag put about the story that the president had given a parcel of a sum of money to the pair of twins and triplets, the office at the White House has been filled with letters of application on that score, and it is estimated that $10,000 a day might be disbursed at the rate of $500 to each applicant. A sample of the kind of letters that come in the mail to the president is the following, which was sent by a man in Texas: "Mr. President Cleveland—Dear Sir: I see you are giving $500 for twins. Please send me $100 right away for I am going to get married this week to a girl that is a twin. I come from a twin-getting stock, so you will see that there is no risk to run and when my wife has twins I will draw on you for the money. I need the money to start housekeeping with. I am in good health, and so is the girl I am going to marry. I have always been a democrat. I voted for you the first time and will vote for you again and name the twins after you. Don't disappoint me, for I may have to get married sooner."

In another case the woman writes that she has failed after waiting a year to get that $500 that the president is said to give to the parents of triplets, and now she is willing to compromise on the basis of the money for the first pair of pants for the little Cleverlands. The clerks at the White House do not permit any of these effusions to reach the president, and they are not even dignified with an answer, now that they have become so numerous and annoying. Of course there is not a word of truth in the story that the president has ever bestowed such bounties.

The World's Fair Tests showed no baking powder so pure or so great in leavening power as the Royal. Cleveland Items. Sunshine and rain. Strawberries are in full blast. How was the festival Friday night? Out of sight. Miss Mollie Livingston of Roseburg came home on a visit. Wm. Callahan was in attendance at the League Sunday evening. Come again, Will. Miss Alice Clinkerback came home Sunday to see her sister, Mrs. E. T. Woodruff. Laurence Nelson made a flying trip to Coles Valley Sunday. Mr. Clinkerback went to French Settlement Sunday and reports a good time. Mr. S. Huntly, Mr. Nolen and the Messrs. Huntly and Miss Bertha Nolen came down from Roseburg to attend the party. Their presence was very highly appreciated. Crops are looking excellent considering the cold and rain during the past week, but the corn is not making a very rapid growth.

The strawberry festival at John Long's last Friday evening was one of the best and most notable entertainments that has ever been given in this community. If the weather had permitted, and those who intended to come, the party would have been one of the largest that ever has been in the country. He will give another one about the 14th. Exceeded Their Authority. In the circuit court, Judge Fullerton in chambers, June 5th, in the case of F. W. Carroll vs. The City of Roseburg on a writ of review on May 29th, was heard and argued by attorneys, and taken under advisement. The court finds that "The defendants Shupe, Strong, Rice, Wright and Kapp as the board of trustees of the city of Roseburg, exceeded their judicial functions erroneously and exceeded their authority of plaintiff, wherefore, it is ordered and adjudged that the said proceedings of said defendants, as a board of trustees of the City of Roseburg had on the 29th day of April, 1895, declaring the plaintiff, as marshal of the said city guilty of malfeasance and declaring the said office of marshal vacant, be and the same is hereby set aside and held for naught; and that plaintiff have and recover from the defendant, the City of Roseburg, his costs herein to be taxed. "Done at chambers at Roseburg, Oregon, the 5th day of June, 1905." J. C. FULLERTON, Judge.

Shirts, hats, caps and overalls in all shapes and variety. Gent's can be accommodated with anything in his line at prices sure to give satisfaction. No shelf-worn goods in store, but all new and of first-class material. Jack's store is next to the National Bank, where he can be found at all times to greet his customers with the courtesy. Call on Jack and inspect goods and you will then conclude that at Jack's is the place to make purchases. That Camp Fire. Let pioneers, friends of pioneers, and everybody that possibly can come to Roseburg, Friday the 11th of June and camp at the grove, and have a grand pow wow relative to early times in Oregon, and then be prepared to join in the procession on Saturday, without the fatigue of traveling to Roseburg on that day. This will be a leisure time with farmers, and let them lay aside toil and care and enjoy a day or two of pleasant recreation. Indications point to the 13th of June as being, or promising to be, the greatest gala day experienced in Roseburg. Then pioneers, be sure to come. Your years of life will soon be ran. S. S.

Camas Valley. Clouds and sunshine. Camas valley people are getting their pictures taken. Ed Trowbridge has a fine record of construction on Mart street, on which two of Camas valley, choice carpenters are busily engaged. That's right Ed, the cage first then the bird.

Mr. H. D. Maxum is having an additional attack of a gripe. The oat and wheat crops are looking fine and the prospect at present is a bountiful harvest. There is some sickness in the valley. Mr. Kennedy's daughter Miss Ada is very low with pneumonia, and her recovery is thought doubtful. Mr. Cook, the storekeeper that lay sick all winter, is again in his store and with beaming smiles for all old friends, and now, is ever ready to wait on his customers.

The latest news from the cheese factory manager is that the company boarded. The Kirkendall mill is steadily turning out lumber of all sorts. The shingle mill company has moved to the Judson grist mill to continue in business. Gardens are looking well along String street, up and down which Mr. Pettis cultivator has made repeated marches. Miss Laura Maxum of Camas valley, who wrote items occasionally under the pen name of Cornucopia was married May 18th at Klamath Falls to a prosperous young rancher and stockman by the name of Thomas Offield. J. W. Wiley returned last Saturday from the Umpqua region. He had taken a load of lumber from one of the Camas valley saw mills. He reports the Camas mountain in no condition for bicycling, and a heavy drizzle for wheels of a more ancient patent.

The fruit crop of this place is badly damaged by the cold waves and heavy frosts of recent date. Our egg market is at ebb tide at six and eight cents per dozen. The North American egg-catcher comes to the breakfast room with a sunny smile, as he beholds that nutritious fruit served in tempting style. Our two public schools presided over by Mr. W. Suttors and Miss Dolly Davis, were progressing in good order, till last week a traveling artist came along and made fairs for both schools, teachers included. The pictures are pronounced a true fair sample. Now each scholar wants the whole school, and the artist being an accommodating gentleman said that he would take any thing that he could eat, for pictures. Then the people took him butter till he said that he would not attempt to eat any more, better than what he had already purchased. Then came strawberries till he begged of there, so here is the great predicament; supply and demand controls the market, and when the market is supplied and some one has not got a picture he must think of the good times coming by and by. Committee Meeting. According to previous arrangement, the people's party county central committee will meet in the Grange Hall, Roseburg, at 10 o'clock a. m., Saturday, June 8, 1905, and every three months thereafter until after the nominations in 1906. I feel stronger than I ever did in six weeks before. Yours truly, Cordelia Bull Apple.

A MOTHER'S EXPERIENCE. South Bend, Pacific Co., Wash. Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.: Dear Sir—I began taking your "Favorite Prescription" the first month of pregnancy, and have continued taking it since confinement. We think it saved me a great deal of suffering. I was troubled a great deal with leucorrhoea also, and I had done a world of good for me. Yours truly, Mrs. W. C. BAKER.
