OREGON.

The contrast between the climate east of the Rockies and the climate of Oregon is becoming more noticeable every year as the business and social relations of the two sections become more intimate. The equable winters and pleasant summers of Oregon are beggining to attract attention from the people of the East, where the cyclone and blizzard devastate crops and destroy human life and property. There is not wanting evidence that an increased immigration will pour into Oregon within the next two years. There is certainly room for double of our present population. Thousands of acres of yirgin soil awaits the hand of the industrious toiler. Untried and undeveloped resources still remain in nature ready to spring into life at the magic touch of human skill and energy. There is land for the farmer, great forests of timber for the lumberman, mineral wealth for the miner, grazing lands for the stock-raiser, business opportunities for the capitalist and a genial, healthful climate for all. Oregon is destinied in the near future to be the most interesting, progressive and prosperous portion of the United States. And now look at our own county, Douglas, the fairest, most picturesque section of the state. What are we doing to induce immigration and settlement amongst us? The business men and press of the county should take immediate steps to direct attention hitherward, by giving widespread circulation as to the extent and resources of the county.

GOLD AND SILVER.

Our free silver advocates contends that our forefathers made the silver dollar of 371¼ grains pure silver the standard, and that the gold coins were based on the silver dollar, at that time, 1792, was one of gold to 15 of silver. That is 24¾ grains of pure gold should constitute the gold dollar and 371¼ of pure silver the silver dollar, or by weight, the gold dollar, was one-fifteenth that of the silver dollar. Or in other words one ounce of gold was equal in value to fifteen ounces of silver.

This difference in value was the result of commercial, and not of statute regulations.

The first coinage act of this government adopted the commercial relations of the two metals.

Observe, each were made money with this disparity of values, which no legal enactment had made, just as the value of any commodity is determined under the laws of demand and supply.

DIED IN OFFICE.

Since the foundation of the government 10 members of the cabinet died in office: four, Hugh S. Legare of South Carolina, Abel P. Upshere of Virginia, Daniel of Massachusetts, and Walter Q. Gresham of Illinois, holding at the time of their death the portfolio of state. The others were Wm. Bradford of Pennsylvania attorney general under Washington; Thomas Gilmer, secretary of the navy under Taylor; John A. Rawlins of Illinois, secretary of war under Grant; Timothy O. Howe of Wisconsin, postmaster general and Charles J. Folger of New York, secretary of the treasury under Harrison.

COOS BAY R. R.

The time for argument has passed. The PLAINDEALER has heretofore shown by argument backed up with figures that beyond dispute the railroad from this city to the coast would be of incalculable benefit. The time has now come for action. It will take money to build a railroad. Talk won't do it, but coin will, or can. It is now the opportunity of a life time—a tide, which, if launched upon now, will lead to fortune and to fame. What will Roseburg do? is the momentious question.

The Eugene Guard says: The Review says that some one says there is a general feeling of disappointment because Colonel Alley refuses to become a candidate for congress from the second congressional district. If the Guard was aware how little attention the republicans of this district pay to the inane babblings of that political assassin, the Guard would not mention its unreliable assertions. That paper is disponted in not being able to down Mr. Hermann by villanious stabs in the back. But, poor thing, it is as is the lot of mankind, doomed to disappointment.

It would not be a laughing matter to the Hawaiian government if the deposed queen should marry a Japanese prince who could train the mikado's eye on the islands.

Money spent in a foreign market may come back, but money spent in a home market never goes away.

RACES ON THE FOURTH.

A Basket Dinner and Picnic at the Fair Grounds.

There will be a picnic and basket dinner in connection with the races at the fair ground on the Fourth. Every body is invited to come and have a good time. Following is the

SPEED PROGRAMME:

Trotting—Three minute class, purse $50, two in three.

Running—600 yards, and repeat, purse $50.

Special running race, $50.

Entries 10 per cent of purse. The winning horse to have 70 per cent. The second 20 per cent, the third 10 per cent of the purse. No money given for a walk over. In all races 4 horses will be required to enter and three to start.

In the event of the net gate receipts falling short of the amount advertised in purses, the association reserves the right to reduce purses to a sum not less than 60 per cent of the gross gate receipts.

Wool Received at Pendleton.

The Pendleton wool scouring mill has received to date: By rail. 1,842,229 pounds; by team, 343,915 pounds; total, 2,187,144 pounds. A quarter of a million pounds will come from Burns. A part arrived on Friday. This wool is hauled to Baker City by team and sent there by rail. Snake river will send to Pendleton at least 1,000,000 pounds, and from all along up to the Spokane country the wools are coming that way. During the week six cars of 80 bales each of scoured wool went out, making 480 bales, and 192,000 pounds. This represents about 775,000 pounds of grease wool. It is 30 per cent scoured wool, as it has been for three or four weeks, without change.

Money to Loan

In sums of $1000 to $5000 on well improved farms. D. S. K. BUICK.

A sensation has been created by the revelations regarding the barbarous treatment of the lunatic inmates of the monastery of Mariabod, during the trial of a suit for slander brought against Hermann Mellage, an inkeeper of Scharre, and Warnatzch, a newspaper man. who published an exposure of the methods of the monks, whose methods became known on the escape of the Scotch priest, Father Forbes, whose escape was facilitated by Herr Mellage. The evidence shows that the monks are illiterate men, totally unfitted to be attendants in any asylum. They inflict cruel personal punishment, sometimes immersing the patient head foremost in ice-cold water. The chains and other instruments of torture applied to the patients were produced in court. After a week's hearing of the case, the accused were acquitted, as the public prosecutor admitted that the allegations were justified.

John Sweeney was knocked down and robbed by two hobos near the depot last Monday evening about 9:30 p. m. The hobos went to the Senate saloon, took a drink, and on going out were met by Sweeney who grabbed one of them and held him for the night watch, who took him to jail. The other escaped and has not been heard of at this time of writing. The captured robber, James Kerans, waived examination, and in default of $500 bail, was held to await the action of the grand jury.

In Eastern Washington and Oregon the cattlemen have resorted to the torch to drive sheep men with their flock off the public domain. It is claimed that several ranches has been destroyed by the torch of the incendiary cattle men. Such a course is despicable. It is a species of warefare that can find no reasonable excuse, and it is hoped the officers of the law will bring the guilty to justice.

Jno. Foster, formerly secretary of state but lately counsel for China in negotiating with Japan, has cabled to Washington that he has completed his labors and will return to Washington soon. His advice to China was fully complied with in negotiating a loan in Paris and has given him a fee of $100,000 for his services.
