T. L. Thompson, of Coles valley came over from that valley today and reports all serene in that valley.

Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Strange left this morning for a two week's outing at Bandon and other points in the Coquille country.

A great many buildings are being burned in this vicinity lately. You should see Wayne Jones and arrange your insurance.

F. Martin of the Oregon Fruit Union will ship on Wednesday, a carload of Bartlett pears from the orchards of Dean & Sons, Winston, Dillard, and Godfrey.

The overland, southbound, was delayed at Pudding river bridge three hours this morning on account of necessary repairs to the bridge before crossing.

The freight train going north today had in tow engine No. 1779 that was disabled near Glendale Saturday morning by breaking the axle to the main drive wheels.

Miss Katie Buick, who went to Albany to take charge of the telegraph office there during the operator's absence, has returned to her old post of duty in the Western Union.

There will be a dance at Frank Long's hall in Coles Valley, on Friday the 23rd inst. Tickets to dance 50 cents. Supper 50c per couple. Everybody invited and a good time guaranteed.

The large run of salmon at Rogue river has materially slackened off, but good catches were made last week with the seine, at the mouth of the river. The season closes there on the 15th.

T. P. Lees, of Dillard, has a fine lot of watermelons on his 80-acre patch, which are about ready for shipment. He also has about 5000 boxes of the finest and smoothest tomatoes ever seen.

There are a half dozen men at work on the telephone line between Coquille City and Marshfield setting posts and putting up new wire to take the place of the old wire on the line. The change will be completed in a few days.—Bandon Record.

The State Insurance Co. has some solicitors in the country that the farmers say are great talkers, and they generally succeed in roping them into their game. You farmers should take warning and patronize some agent you know that lives in your own county.

The wagon road is completed from Myrtle Point to Eckley, giving the worthy citizens of Eckley a chance to haul their produce out and their supplies in. The people of that section have made strenuous efforts for an outlet and deserve success.—Bandon Record.

The minister who preaches against the extravagance of the rich is on the wrong track. It is impossible for the rich to be too extravagant. The money they spend to gratify their whims is of much greater benefit to the world than it would be if hoarded. The miserly rich are the ones who ought to be preached at.

Clas. Clevenger, an employee of the Electric Light Company, on crossing the Umpqua bridge on his return from the Soldiers' Home this afternoon, ran into the guard, put across the bridge to prevent teams crossing while the bridge is under repairs, and was thrown from his wheel and severely injured about the head and breast.

Thos. Stubbfield's shoe shop was burglarized last Thursday night and a pair of shoes taken in exchange for old ones. The burglar probably thought "an even exchange is no robbery." Mr. Stubbfield thought upon discovering that the new shoes were missing, that the man for whom they were made, had come in and finding him absent, had taken the shoes and left his old ones for repair; and until the owner called for his shoes was not aware but that the owner had them.

Rev. N. S. Buckner returned from his month's "outing" Saturday evening, and occupied the pulpit in the M. E. church Sunday. He took for the subject of his discourse this passage from Revelation: "He that once cometh shall inherit all things." He delivered a good practical sermon exemplifying in touching phrase, the toil, the care, and the struggles man had to undergo, and the efforts he must make to overcome the enures that beset his path in this life, in order to inherit eternal life. It was a constant struggle from the cradle to the grave, but man, looking to God for help, and putting all his dependence in Him, would come off conqueror, and enjoy happiness in the future world.

Wanted.
A team of horses. Must be good drivers, well broke, not over 8 years old, of medium weight. Also a second hand two seated buggy. Apply at this office or of Dr. S. Pope, Brookway.

THE FIRST TO HANG.

Justice in Oregon in Good Old Pioneer Days.

The first white man executed for murder in Oregon, to the best of our recollection, was Adam Wemple, who was tried, convicted, sentenced and hung for the murder of his wife in 1851. Wemple crossed the plains in 1845, went to the gold mines in California in the spring of 1849, and returned to Oregon in the fall of the same year, bringing with him a pretty good sum of gold. Shortly after his return to Oregon he married and settled in what is now called "Cooper Hollow" in Polk county. After a few months of married life he manifested symptoms of jealousy, and from that or some other unknown cause he murdered his wife, fastened the body securely in the house, set fire to it, and mounting what he thought to be the best mare in Oregon at the time, he attempted to make his escape. It was thought he would never be overtaken, but in two or three days his mare came back, and a party started in the direction from whence the mare came.

The party had not ridden far into the mountains before they found Wemple coming in to give himself up. An accusing conscience and want of food had brought him to the conclusion to surrender himself to the legal authorities. He was tried, condemned, and executed, but had the insanity plea been entered in his behalf—as it is in these latter days—the result might have been different. We had known him intimately from the time of his starting to Oregon until the sentence of death was pronounced against him. He was peculiarly eccentric in his character, and in conversation with friends, we frequently alluded to him as that "crazy Wemple." We could give many instances of his eccentricities which would lead most any man to believe that Wemple was "soft in the upper story." We knew him at one time to walk 70 miles to Oregon City to buy a tin cup and 50 cents worth of sugar, when he was offered a good horse to ride, he declining the offer for the reason that the horse would be too much trouble to him. We knew him sometimes to go without food for 36 hours, eating fir balsam rather than walk one mile to our house to get his meals.

The Eddy Case.

SALEM, Aug. 10.—Attorney Drake has been in Salem today in consultation with his client, Secretary Kincaid, relative to the decision of the supreme court on the question of hold over commissioners, and it may be that a rehearing will yet be asked before drawing warrants for the railroad commissioners. Mr. Drake is tenacious on the point he has raised, that the election of all state officers is a prerogative belonging to the people, and he would like an opinion independent of concurrent legislative exposition of the constitution. The secretary relies more on the fact that the commissioners failed to file an oath of office or renew their bonds. The advisability of asking for a rehearing has been left with Mr. Drake.

His Peculiar Death.

MEMPHIS, Or., Aug. 10.—E. Simpson was pushed from a sidewalk here this afternoon and his neck broken. He had been having some trouble during the afternoon with W. M. Gainey, but nothing serious resulted from the altercation. After Gainey had gone home, Simpson mistook William Crane for Gainey and came at him with a board. Crane, in his own defense, pushed Simpson backwards and the latter fell from the walk to the street, a distance of about two feet, resulting as above stated.

Simpson had been a resident of this county since 1852, and was about 60 years old. No blame is attached to Crane.

Silver Dollars go Begging.

It is stated that there are 50,000,000 standard silver dollars stored in the mint at Philadelphia. They are piled up there because the people do not want them, preferring bills. Every one of them is worth 100 cents, because the government is pledged to maintain their parity with gold, which it would not be with a free-coinage 16-to-1 act in force. If the people will not take silver dollars known to be good for their face value, what reason is there for thinking they are hungry and thirsting for 50-cent coins.

Ship Your Pears Now.

Bartlett pears are now ripe enough to ship and should be got rid of at once, as pears now bring a good price in the East. F. Martin, of the Oregon Fruit Union, has plenty of boxes and wrappers and will give instructions how to pack the fruit. Boxes at Hunter & Humes' warehouse. There ought to be several car loads shipped from Roseburg within a week or ten days.

An Effectual Threat.

An Irish glazier was putting a pane of glass into a window when a groom, who was standing by, began joking him, telling him to mind and put in plenty of putty. The Irishman bore the banter for some time, but at last silenced his tormentor by, "Arrah now, be off wid ye, or else I'll put a pain in yer head without any putty!"

The case of Oregon vs. Samuel Brown appealed to the supreme court still hangs fire. No decision yet.
