Roseburg Heroines.

This morning about 8:30 a fire was discovered in the bath room of Mr. Veatch's residence in West Roseburg. Mrs. Veatch raised the alarm, but as Mr. Veatch being absent, and the other men near by had also gone to their various places of business, no one responded but Mrs. R. B. Houston, who flew to the rescue. The hose in the house could not be made to work, so Mrs. Houston ran back to her house near by seized fifty feet of hose and jumped the fence with it, ran in and attached it to the hydrant and turned on the water and in a few minutes had the fire under control before any men appeared on the ground.

Some good screaming was done on the start, but that, these brave woman found was not equal to a Batecock or even a Roseburg extinguisher; so they proceeded to get a genuine move on themselves and went to work with a cool calculation that muscles and brains were needed, and as it is always the case in an emergency with a woman, she is equal to the occasion; and in this case their bravery and presence of mind averted what might have been a calamity.

Fruit Evaporation.

At no time of the year is the value of the fruit evaporator better appreciated than during hot weather. The early fruit keeps poorly, and unless marketed somewhat green can not be disposed of before it decays. But with an evaporator on the farm the fruit can be evaporated when it is at its best, and it will then be worth more than can be got for it by sending to sell on commission in the city. The cost of an evaporator can easily be saved by the saving of fruit in a single season that would be wasted if it were not used.

The Crescent in the Lead.

LAST WEEK'S SALES. Mrs. N. G. W. Perkins, Myrtle Point. J. E. Hunt, Oakland. Anton Lau, Oakland. Adam Castor, Rice Hill. L. A. Martin, Wilbur. W. E. Spoon, Brockway.

Born, August 31st, to the wife of F. J. Connolly a daughter, and all is well. Four hundred and twenty registered at the Roseburg hotels the past week.

Spectacles and eye glasses in gold, nickel and steel bows at J. T. Bryan's. Fresh oysters, the first of the season, at the Kandy Kitchen, Taylor & Wilson building.

Tomorrow night the Readick troupe will produce "Complications" for the band benefit. Do you read. If so, try the Daily Oregonian, only 15 cents a week. Sunday included, 20 cents.

Corvallis proper has only 1708 population, so says the Times. Roseburg can beat that nearly two times.

F. C. Desendorf, attorney, and wife, have returned from the country and will occupy H. S. French's cottage on Main street.

New fall stock of goods is now arriving at the new store of J. Brooks. Ladies will take due notice. See add in today's paper.

Remember the comedy tonight is "Jerry the Outcast," with which will be introduced a number of songs and specialties.

Last Saturday Roseburg presented a lively appearance. In taking a stroll we counted 67 teams and vehicles from the country in town.

"Complications," that most laughable of comedies, will be produced by the Readick-Carlton company at band benefit Tuesday night.

Bishop Wilson of the Columbia Conference of M. E. Church South, will preach at Rev. Crutchfield's church this evening, at usual hour.

Lucky No. 33 gets the watch this time, held by Miss Lucy Buell of Looking Glass, daughter of O. H. Buell.

The woman new may dare and do, And wield the pen and gavel; But the old man still must foot the bill And keep on scratching gravel.

At the K. of P. band benefit Tuesday night, at the Roseburg Theater, the band will play the selections played in the contest at Grants Pass, and other choice music.

Talking with a man Saturday, recently from Kansas, he expressed himself as highly pleased with Oregon, and says he, "I wish I had come here ten years ago, I might have been worth something."

Lewis Matney, a resident of Independence who spent last week in Roseburg, left Saturday on his wheel for Medford. He is looking around with an eye to business, and may possibly locate here.

Douglas county peaches are a great luxury to the dwellers in the Willamette valley, and well they may be, for no county in the state can compare with Douglas in size and lusciousness of her peaches.

A. W. Miller, the accredited agent for the Oregon Industrial Exposition, is in the city today looking after the mineral department and soliciting samples of minerals, for exhibition next October at the exposition.

Again today the youth of Roseburg take up their line of march to the temple of knowledge. Prof. F. B. Hamlin and his corps of assistants begin today their labors educational. District No. 4 is fortunate in the engagement of an able faculty of teachers, who enter upon their work with renewed energy after several weeks' vacation. We congratulate the patrons of the district upon the good prospects for the coming school year.

Harry Gilvin, brakeman on the north-bound freight, met with a serious accident at Glendale yesterday. The breakage of the air brake caused a sudden stoppage of his car. He threw his hand over the drawhead to steady himself while he leaned forward to look ahead, when the recoil of the car forward struck the ends of his fingers over the drawhead and crushed them. He came on to the city and Dr. Bradley amputated the fractured bones and Mr. Gilvin is alright, save the tips of two fingers.

Rev. N. S. Buckner being indisposed, Reverend Ames occupied the M. E. Church pulpit Sunday, and delivered a most eloquent and impressive sermon from John, 6th chapter, 28th and 29th verses. "What shall I do to work the works of God," was the main and highly important question. And the answer, "Believe in Him whom He hath sent," gave rise to an impressive lesson of what constituted belief. It was not merely an ascent of the mind, but also a determination to go forward influenced by a spirit to do the will of God, and making it manifest by faithful works, thereby attaining the end—everlasting life. The discourse was listened to by all present with marked and serious attention.

The Finishing Touch.

In putting the finishing touch to your toilet do you always see that your shoes are in keeping with the rest of your makeup? The shoes may be better than the other garments and still be appropriate, but if they are not up to the raiment in style and quality the effect is unpleasant. Mrs. Grace Osburn's fine line of Shoes stand on their merits, is infinite in variety, excellent in quality, and moderate in price.
