TELEGRAPH NEWS

Poorly reported the storm still raging and serious damage is feared. At Fairbury, Ill., the sleet has caused considerable damage.

On Lake Michigan the gale was severe and the sea is running very high. Comparatively few vessels are out and it is not expected there will be much loss of life. No vessel left the harbor last night.

The storm blew down telephone and trolley wires in many places in Chicago, and serious accidents were narrowly averted. As it was three hours were killed by coming in contact with trolley wires. Several fires occurred during the night, which made great trouble for the department, as delays were occasioned in the transmission of alarms. Chief Sweeney, of the fire department, said: "The only thing we did not have to contend with was freezing water. It has been one of the worst nights, except in this feature, I have ever seen in which to fight a fire."

This dispatch was sent by the Postal Telegraph & Cable Company, the only wire working out of the city at this time.

Damage Done by the Storm. CHICAGO, Nov. 27.—For a time yesterday news from New York traveled 7000 miles to reach Chicago. It went from New York to Montreal and along the Canadian Pacific through Winnipeg and Vancouver to San Francisco. Then it was telegraphed down to the West by the southern California and east to Alhambra, Kansas City, St. Louis and Chicago. Railroad, telegraphic and traveling men say it was the most complete isolation the city has experienced since the New York blizzard in March, 1888.

It would seem from talks with managers of telegraph companies that the storm centered about Chicago and was serious as far east as Toledo. South and east of Toledo and Cleveland the snow and sleet were apparently heavy enough to snap the wires. New connections were secured all day and messages from all over the country showed where the storm extended. The worst seemed to be from Denver to Buffalo, north of St. Louis.

City Electrician Barrow says that as much damage was done to the city electrical plant by trolley wires as by the storm; that if the trolley is to remain, the city wires must be put underground. This, he estimates, will cost the city $500,000. Monday's damage will foot up $10,000, and the telephone companies sustained a loss from the same cause of more than $50,000.

Returns from outside show that the storm did a vast amount of damage in other parts of the country as well as in Chicago's vicinity. Houses were blown down or unroofed by the gale at Cleveland, O., Covington, Ky., and many points in Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Michigan.

The storm was felt over nearly half the country. A thousand derricks were blown down in the Findlay district, causing a loss of $70,000, and farmhouses, outbuildings and fences in the surrounding country were damaged to the amount of $80,000. In Hartford City, Ind., 500 derricks were laid low, the loss reaching $100,000. At Elmwood, Ind., several buildings of the Pittsburg glass works were demolished, and two men were injured. The loss is $15,000.

The Standard Oil Company loses $150,000 by the destruction of a thousand derricks and other property at Bowling Green, and several business houses at Fort Wayne, Ind., were unroofed.

Three More Arrested. SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 26.—Three more arrests were made last night in the Latin quarter for outrage committed on little girls. They were Joseph Garcia Manuel Gomez, barbers, and G. U. Rizzo, the proprietor of a toy shop. Rizzo got out on bail and went to his room back of the shop about midnight. This morning a policeman broke in the door and found Rizzo dead with a bullet through his head. He committed suicide to avoid disgrace and punishment. He left a written confession of his guilt.

Killed His Parents, Too. ALABAMA, Nov. 26.—Late last evening Lloyd Montgomery, unable longer to endure the terrible strain upon him, made a full confession, admitting that he had killed his father and mother, as well as Daniel McKecher, a week ago today, near Brownsville.

He had shown great distress of mind all day yesterday, and when visited in the evening answered several questions, although stating that he had been advised to say nothing of the murder. After time, however, he broke down and told the whole story of the crime, adding that he did not know why he did it.

He said that he had been reproved by his father for going away from home and neglecting his work, and that McKecher had sided against him in the quarrel that ensued. His father finally slapped him in the face, which so enraged him that he hardly knew what he was doing. He went into the house, picked up a rifle, and going to the door, shot his father, who was standing by the fence talking to McKecher. He next shot his mother, who was near by, and then fired at McKecher, who had started to run.

His mother, who had not been fatally injured by the first shot, was running from him through the house, and he fired again, killing her. He used his father's rifle, and fired five shots.

His first impulse was to get away, and he ran out into the field, but when he saw the children returning from school he went back to the house.

In answer to a question as to how his father had abused him he said he had not been fogged, but had had to work hard all his life.

General Campos' Special. NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—A special from Cienfuegos to World says: Five hundred troops have arrived here. The new commander at Cienfuegos, Colonel Arizon, who succeeds C. I. Jule, of unsavory memory, is an accomplished soldier and a high minded gentleman.

Including the troops are many volunteers, most of them being infantry. There are three battalions of infantry, three regiments of cavalry, two battalions of artillery, one battalion of engineers, one battalion of sappers, one disciplinary brigade, one sanitary brigade, one brigade of administration and 24 pieces of mounted artillery. There will be in service besides 4000 civil guards, gendarmes who are the best soldiers, and numerous local forces of volunteer infantry and cavalry. Then there is the naval force. Altogether General Campos will have under his command more than 140,000 men of all grades.

Shot Himself. EUGENE, Or., Nov. 26.—Edward Brabham, son of T. J. Brabham, who resides near Springfield, met with a fatal accident this morning, the body being found about 3 p. m. The young man left his father's house this morning for a hunt, carrying a shotgun. As he did not return when expected, search was instituted, and his body was found near a fence, with a great hole in the left breast, where a load of shot had entered. It is thought he was climbing through the fence, and that his gun was accidentally discharged. He was about 23 years of age.

THANKSGIVING. The Thanksgiving exercises at the court house last night by the Roseburg public school were very entertaining. The whole programme was well carried out.

Recitation by Bertha Seibredre was good. Recitation by Edith Wilson was received by the audience with applause.

The exercises of the evening closed with the dramatic play, "Thanksgiving, Past and Present," by 6th, 7th, and 8th grades. This play was both highly entertaining and edifying, as it exhibited the historic evolution of man's thankfulness to deity from ancient times to the present, for his blessings temporal in a bountiful yield of the products of the earth for both food and raiment.

This play, largely pantomime, exhibited the several phases of rites, ceremonies and customs of all people from the most ancient times to the present, demonstrating the all pervading idea among the more intelligent people of past ages, that deity is the source from which all temporal blessing flow. As a historic exercise it was very instructive as well as pleasing and was highly enjoyed by the audience, which was large and enthusiastic.
