The circuit court is now in session. His honor Judge Fullerton on the bench and Geo. M. Brown district attorney, managing state cases and a score or less of attorneys looking after their clients interests.

Geo. W. Jones, the carpenter, who went to his old home in Western Ohio, has returned after a protracted visit. He reports great changes since he left there 20 years ago, but still prefers Oregon to Ohio.

D. C. Pitzer exhibited in the PLAINDEALER office today a small piece of very rich quartz float, which evidently had not floated very far from head quarters. If D. C. can only find the main ledge (and he thinks he can) his fortune is made, for a few pack animals loaded with such rock would place the owner among the bonanza kings.

The PLAINDEALER has never said any thing disrespectfully of the many opposing candidates for Congress. We have uniformly spoken of them with due respect as to native abilities. All we have complained of was that they or their friends were continually belittling Mr. Hermann, speaking disparagingly of him and his work.

Incendiary.

Last Sunday morning at three o'clock a fire was discovered on the roof of a China wash house. The Chinamen rushed out when the alarm was given and succeeded in extinguishing it before any material damage was done. Upon examination it was found that the fire had been set by some one, so far unknown, with evil intent. The roof was found saturated with coal oil. Had the fire become general the whole block would doubtless be burned, and probably a general conflagration would have resulted. It is hoped the detectives may be able to find the incendiary and bring him to justice. Such fiends should be summarily dealt with, if caught.

Is There Any Truth in Spiritualism?

Do the dead return? Is there a soul world? Does death end all? Dr. Heuric Deauseant and Mile Beauseant will give one of their famous open light sances at the Opera House, Wednesday night, March 15th, where every opportunity will be given to test the truth or falsity of spiritualism. All manifestations in bright light under strict test conditions. Do not confound these mediums with alleged spirit mediums, who roam the country like a set of vampires, seeking whom they may devour. Attend this sance and be convinced. A small admission charged.

Notice.

The tax roll of Douglas county for 1895 is now in my hands for collection and is now due and payable at my office. C. F. CATHART, Sheriff.

The Astoria & Goble Railroad Company put 12 men to work grading through the marshes below Bureau's mill, near Clatskanie, recently. This is an experiment which the company is trying, in order to know if the road can be put across the flat at that place.

The 3-year-old daughter of A. H. Frum, of Lebanon, was kicked in the forehead by a horse last week. The skull was broken and indented, but the doctors hope the wound will not prove fatal.

The World's Fair Tests showed no baking powder so pure or so great in leavening power as the Royal.

Edna Applegate was taken to the insane asylum from this place Saturday by Deputy Cathart.

Smith Bailey of Roseburg was in town Sunday.

Mrs. J. A. Black fell from a porch Thursday and was seriously hurt. At present writing she is resting quite easy.

Judge Longhary was in town Saturday on legal business before the justice's court.

Walter Kent, our popular hardware merchant, went to Roseburg on Sunday's local. Walter is a nice young fellow but is not away from home much. No doubt friends will look after him and see that he does not get in any bad company.

T. B. Conway, father of Warren Conway, has been negotiating a compromise with Superintendent Gardner, and from present indications, the placid waters of Elk creek will give up their dead and there will be a wedding instead of a prosecution.

The sad news was telegraphed here Saturday evening that Dan Applegate was found dead near his mine in Jackson county. He was buried near the Jesse Applegate homestead. The community has lost one of its most honored citizens. He leaves a wife and five children to mourn his death. REPORTER

That A. P. A. Obligation.

After giving what purports to be the chief obligation of the A. P. A., our Roman contemporary concludes as follows: "Now, if Mr. Palmer, or the Roseburg A. P. A. Council, will print the affidavit of responsible members of the community, denying that these are the salient parts of the A. P. A. obligation, we will agree to produce proof on the other side of the proposition that will convince the people that the oath (with some immaterial portions cut out) is as given above." After glancing over the above, a person of moderate intelligence will naturally ask: By what right, or for what purpose does the Review add "immaterial portions" to the quasi obligation? It must be to deceive its readers, to prejudice them, "to stir up strife."

If we substitute "protestant" for "Roman Catholic" in this obligation, we have a fac simile of one of the silliest oaths of several armed Roman Catholic societies, having priests as chaplains—the Clan na Gael, Ancient Order of Hibernians, Catholic Knights of America, and several others. We hear no criticism of those secret orders wherein brutal murders have been plotted and consummated. Why?

Resolutions.

ROSEBURG, Ore., March 13, 1896. To the president and friends of Council 22, American Protective Association, Roseburg, Or.

WHEREAS, This council and its members have been basely, and we believe maliciously misrepresented by the Roseburg Review, and by different individuals in this city, and

WHEREAS, We believe that the lectures delivered during the past week by Rev. Ray Palmer have been of great benefit to the American Protective Association, and the principles maintained by it, and that this council and its members have been especially benefitted, therefore be it

Resolved, That the thanks of this council be tendered to Reverend Ray Palmer for the pleasant, forcible and able manner in which he delivered his lectures in defense of the American Protective Association during the past week in this city.

Resolved, That the secretary be instructed to transmit a copy of these resolutions to friend Palmer, also printed in the PLAINDEALER and spread upon the minutes of Council No. 22.

The Comet.

The citizens of Roseburg were on the alert all day Saturday watching for the comet, that it was predicted, would strike and probably knock the earth into mitochonderees, and send the inhabitants swooting into kingdom come or lap its tail around them and whiz them through space at the rate of a million miles a minute clear off past the moon, sun and fixed stars. But the day passed and the comet failed to connect, and now the people breathe easier, except a few who had expected a free ride to the moon by catching to the comet's tail, having chalked their hands so they could hold on. Our Chicago tailor held his shears in hand determined to clip off a portion of the comet's tail for coat collars if it comes near enough. Saturday a strong east wind prevailed all day, such an one as rarely occurs from that quarter. It was particularly claimed by some of a waggish turn that it was caused by the comet which had clasped mother earth in its embrace and was flying east with her at such a rate as to create a breeze.
