Mr. Merchant is a retired merchant of Marshfield and is now a cultivator of the soil. There was considerable activity upon our streets today. We noticed quite a number of teams coming in from the country with wood and wheat. Born, to the wife of Arthur Arrant, of Cleveland, September 3, 1896, a boy. Dr. Du Gas says the boy will be in Roseburg ere long to get a No. 8 hat. One extra large box stove for sale at H. M. Wead's Hardware Store. Suitable for dry house or large store room. Price $15. Takes three foot wood. H. W. Clark and D. Applegate of Portland, Rev. Robt. Booth of Grants Pass, R. F. Jones of Salem and J. A. Sterling of Drain were at the Van Houten Monday. George Ross and Paul Zigler left today morning to do a little prospecting in the North Umpqua country, where much gold and other precious metals are supposed to exist. The M. E. Church, South, is having a new picket fence placed in front of the parsonage. Mr. Byers of Mill street has the contract. It will improve its appearance very much. Something new is the novelty of a couple of male singers on the street to day, giving a sample of their vocal powers prior to passing the hat to those who may appreciate their songs. Go to M. F. Rice's Second Hand store, Hendricks' block, for late improved Singer Sewing machines, needles, oil, etc. W. C. MONROE, Agent.

Say! If you want a stove somebody else has not used the life out of and that isn't made by convicts in the Salem Penitentiary, you want to call at Wead's Hardware. No convict trash there. Republicans of Coles Valley precinct are requested to meet at the Cleveland school house Saturday, Sept. 5th, at 7:30 p. m., for the purpose of organizing a McKinley club. E. T. WOODRUFF. Roseburg will have at least two candidates for city marshal at the coming city election, J. B. Cannon, the present incumbent, and John McCurdy. See their announcements elsewhere in today's paper. Rev. W. H. Manning now of Salem, but long a resident of Canyonville and once a member of the legislature from Douglas county, made a friendly call at this office Wednesday, with whom we had a very pleasant interview, chatting over old times, social and political, and speculating over the future of Oregon and the country in general. Mr. Manning is sanguine in his hopes for the future prosperity of Oregon when the silver craze dies out. If you have hay, grain, bacon, beef cattle or a good buggy wish to trade for lumber, or if you wish to buy a bill of first class iron or cedar lumber, you will save money to call on OTTO A. ANSLAY Comstock, Oregon. The Douglas County Board of Equalization is now in session during the week. Now is the opportunity of any who may feel aggrieved of an unjust assessment to appear and have it properly adjusted or hereafter hold their peace. Mr. L. H. McMahan of Salem called upon us Tuesday on his way home from the mountains, where he has been rusticated for a few weeks to regain his exhausted energies to again enter the field for Bryan and free silver. From all accounts Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is a Godsend to the afflicted. There is no advertisement about this; we feel just like saying it.—THE DEMOCRAT, Carrollton, Ky. For sale by A. C. Marsters & Co. Rev. E. C. Wyatt, P. E. of Umpqua District of U. B. Church, will conduct quarterly meeting service at the U. B. chapel in West Roseburg, on next Saturday, the 5th, at 2 p. m. Official members are requested to attend. Services to last over Sunday. W. H. McCLAIN, Pastor. Several years ago I was taken with a severe attack of flux. I was sick in bed about ten days and could get nothing to relieve me until I used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which cured me and has been a household remedy with us ever since. J. C. MARLOW, Decaturville, Mo. For sale by A. C. Marsters & Co. Dried prunes, apples and apricots, green fruits of all kinds. Oregon hams and shoulders, also Eastern hams. Everything guaranteed. Groceries of all kinds, and best qualities. Flour and feed. Flour 75 cents per sack. 10 pounds of lard 75 cents. Coos Bay cheese, full cream, large or small, in any quantity. H. Easton defies all competition. Congressmen Hermann, who has been at his old home at Myrtle Point, Coos county, visiting his aged mother and other relatives, returned Tuesday evening hale, hearty and vivacious as in his wont. Mr. Hermann is being urged to enter the campaign for McKinley. This he will doubtless do soon, and battle for the great measures of the party that has saved the Union from disruption and preserved its integrity, and, by its wise and politic measures has made the nation the grandest autonomy on the face of this earth. About B. F. Ramp's Speech. FRIEND LEMMER.—In as much as I did not see you the other night as a listener to friend Ramp's free silver talk, I feel like conversing with you this way—asking your advice on some matters not quite clear to me. I confess you may think me dull, but I am seeking light. Our friend said money was scarce, and getting now harder for a poor man to get any of it, which you and I know to be only too true, and to help the poor man out and give him an equal showing, he should have the same right as the rich gold bug has now to take his silver bullion to the government mint and get coined into good American dollars, so he could pay it out on his debts or buy shoes for his children and a dress for his wife. To be able to do this we must all vote with—I was going to say—the democrats and elect Bryan. But today I see the democrats claim to be in session at Indianapolis as the "only original" party, and have not as yet named a candidate. So it looks as if our people cannot count on the real democrats helping us out. But for all that, Bryan promises us free silver, and as you and I have none of it he will be sure to see that we get the bullion so we can coin it. This Mr. Ramp says will be done. We will either get the bullion to coin or the coin after it is made, and the beauty of it is that we get it free! We ought certainly vote with any one who promises so sure a thing as this. There is only one thing now that troubles me, and this is between you and I; that is, if you and I can get silver free, how will we fix it so the other fellow won't get as much as he needs, too? Then he will refuse to take it in for peaches and potatoes, or even on a debt. So I fear I shall have to go to work to get something to eat. I may be needlessly uneasy over this, but as I said, you may think me dull. Besides, as Mr. Ramp said, silver would take the place of gold, and just where I come in in the deal I am not clear. Perhaps you can give me some light. Yours for this new deal and Bryan unless the democrats offer something better. X. For McKinley. McKinley Club will meet at the court house, Friday, September 4th, 1896, at 7:30 p. m. Brief addresses by the following named gentlemen will be made: Hon. C. A. Sellbrode, Judge Fullerton, J. H. Shupe, Simon Caro, Judge Loughry, F. W. Benson, C. L. Hadley, Fred Page-Tustin, L. A. Sanctuary, Judge Stearns, Judge Willis, A. M. Crawford, Geo. Estes, Jas. Hansbrough, Hon. Bin. Hermann, W. A. Frater, E. D. Stratford and others. Music by the Glee Club and K. of P. band. All are invited.

Boys MAY BE HAD (and sometimes girls) for—(1) ordinary service at wages; (2) upon indenture, to work, attend school, and be brought up somewhat at your own; and—(3) children may be had for legal adoption. Address, W. T. GARDNER, Supt. Oregon Boys' and Girls' A. S. Society, Portland, Or. Subscribe for the PLAINEALER.

B. F. RAMP'S SPEECH.

B. F. Ramp of Albany made a speech at the court house Tuesday evening on the free silver question. Mr. Ramp is quite a ready talker and from his standpoint makes a plausible showing. He claims that the free coinage and unlimited coinage of silver will be the panacea for all our financial troubles. He said we want more money and to get more we must set the mints running on free coinage of silver. That will fix it. That will cure the sick government—set the life blood of trade circulating, and soon the business of the county will revive and the 4,000,000 tramps will disappear. Now, he said, the money is in the hands of the rich few, who loan it out to the poor many, at ten per cent, which he says beats any legitimate business. In trying to elucidate this proposition he said the rich man loans money to a poor farmer who can pay, when the note becomes due, only the principal. So he takes the principal and a mortgage on his farm for the interest and soon he has the farm. Such a case may occasionally occur, but to give such argument any force, it must be general, which is not the case. But, suppose it is general, the farms would all soon be in the hands of the rich few, which is not the case; but if they did, they could not work them and of course those farms would be dead property on their hands. With the taxes to be paid and no income from the farms, how are the rich men benefited by coming into possession of them, is a question he did not clear up to the satisfaction of his hearers. He got all the poor men in debt but could see no way to get them out of debt but by free coinage of silver. Free and unlimited coinage of silver is Mr. Ramp's remedy for the poor man's woe. At the close of his speech, Judge Riddle reminded him that he required an iron-clad note of the Fair Association when it purchased of him the fair grounds and demanded payment in gold coin, and would not take a note payable in "United States money," fearing, doubtless, and sensibly too, that he might be compelled to take depreciated silver or greenbacks. After Mr. Ramp's speech W. F. Benjamin was called out and made a reply to some of Mr. Ramp's strictures against the old parties. He showed that the present depressed condition of finances is due to striking down the protection policy of the republican party, under which the highest prosperity of the nation had been maintained. As to the silver question, he pointed to the fact that the government had coined fifty-four times more silver since 1878 than for the 85 years prior to that date; and that now every dollar of silver in its debt-paying and purchasing power is equal to the gold dollar—a condition that no other party could improve upon. And that to restore the protection system would set those 4,000,000 tramps of his at work at fair wages.

It is one of the delightful things in a townsman's life to take an occasional drive into the country and see rural life in all its picturesque loveliness; to behold the landscape, see the fields of waving corn, the vineyards, the orchards, the meadows and the melon patches. The air is bracing, the change of scenery is enlivening and calls up a new line of thought. To one who was reared on a farm, a drive into the country awakens memories of his youth and sets his mind roaming o'er the scenes of his childhood. In fancy he hears again the lowing herds, the bleating lambs, the sweet carol of the birds. He inhales again the fresh air of heaven, his mind goes dancing back to the days of his youth when the aroma of bursting buds opening flowers of spring or the odor of lew mown hay delighted him. To the berry patch, the melon patch, the brown nuts of autumn, the fishing pool in the brook "and a' that." All these things come rushing up from the tablets of memory and dance before his imagination like fairy sprites, till he is transported with the innocent joys of youth. Such were our thoughts last Sunday, as ye reporter and companion went buzzing over the road into the country and to the farm of C. W. Smith about four miles south of Roseburg. Here we had a pleasant visit with these good people. Mr. Smith is an old pioneer of Douglas county and like a sensible man, selected at an early day a fine tract of land, settled down to business and improved the land, built up a beautiful home and now in the serene and yellow leaf of age, is enjoying the fruits of his labor.

CARES OF PRESENT CONDITIONS. Before the law all men are equal. The same opportunities do not come to all men. Some succeed, many fail. But no barrier to success or position is created by law. Industrial conditions may be affected by unwise laws, and when this is demonstrated we attempt to change them through the opportunity which every man has to register his vote at the polls. But though some men succeed and many fail, this is the lot of life, and no candidate for the presidency has ever dared before to use this fact to arouse men against men to kindle the fires of social discontent and disorder. Bad as the times are, stagnant as industry is, distressed as many homes are for lack of employment, the common sense of the American people will not be deceived by appeals to passion but will perceive clearly what is truth, namely, that present conditions are largely caused, not by the influence against which Mr. Bryan in lurid words declares, but by fear of the very remedies which he suggests. When this great shadow which he and his associates have created passes off the surface of the financial and industrial world, then confidence will be restored, money will seek investment, factories will be reopened and employment be secured. Cross Eyes Cured in 5 Minutes. Dr. Darrin's visit in Roseburg at the McClallen House has been marked with good results. Not only has he been crowded with patients, but has marvelous results achieved in the new treatment by electricity and medicines is almost beyond belief. Some of his cures former are coming to light and cards are pouring in for publication. We publish the following. Mrs. Bickford, being well and laborably known to all. The art of curing disease by electricity can be classed with the other discoveries of the day, and who knows but what all diseases and ills of the flesh will be conquered by this subtle force. It is a theme for study and reflection. Dr. Darrin remains until September 6th at the McClallen House, and goes to Grants Pass from here.

To the Public. I feel it my duty to let the afflicted know the wonderful cures Dr. Darrin performed on my son in 1891. He had been cross eyed since birth and was cured by Dr. Darrin in five minutes so his eyes were made perfectly straight. My mother, Mrs. C. W. Smith, my sister and myself were all successfully treated years ago by the doctor. Refer to me. Mrs. B. BICKFORD.

FLOWER ROASTS BRYAN.

The following extracts are from the opening speech of ex-Governor Flower of New York, temporary chairman of the national democratic convention now in session at Indianapolis. Concerning the demagogic-candidate for the presidency he said: "Mr. Bryan reiterates, in about every second speech, that he stands squarely on the Chicago platform and supports every one of its planks. He has not as yet announced his acceptance of all the planks of the populist platform, but inasmuch as these are only different in degree, and he has been identified with populism quite as much as with democracy, it is but fair to assume that he stands on both platforms. Not quite so radical in his views, perhaps, as Alt-gold or Tillman, not quite so frank as Tom Watson, he is nevertheless a fit representative of the revolutionary forces behind him—ambitious, unsteady and unsafe. There is nothing in his career or in his present utterances to encourage the hope that if elected he will rise above his surroundings or stay his hand which threatens to destroy and pervert. An untried man, a demagogue, a word-juggler, he will perhaps represent the restless mob from which he rose, and with characteristic recklessness does not hesitate to appeal to base human passions, in order to attract votes. That in this incendiary role, standing, as he professes to stand, on principles as undemocratic as those of Herr Most, he should deserve, by any conception of party regularity, the support of true democrats, is past comprehension and explainable only by ignorance of the man and his platform of disloyalty to genuine party faith. No sound conception of party regularity can justify encouragement to social disorder. Not even the honest believer in a silver standard or the most enthusiastic bimetalist can, if he be a patriotic citizen, conscientiously support the forces of political anarchy. Even the advocacy of free silver coinage by Bryan and many of his adherents is only a cloak for the spirit of revolution behind. Every true bimetalist must blush to have his cause dependent for success upon those who would reorganize the supreme court when its decisions do not please a party convention, who would repudiate the national debt if free silver coinage did not accomplish bimetalism, who would attempt to destroy the sanctity of private contracts, who would have the government take and operate the country's railways and telegraphs, who would restrain the strong arm of the law in suppression of disorder.

WHAT SUPPORT OF BRYAN MEANS. Let not this fact escape democratic attention. Every appeal in the name of party regularity to support the Bryan ticket is an appeal to support the governmental ownership of railroads and telegraphs to attack the independence of the federal judiciary, to abolish the credit system as a test of fitness for public office to refuse to uphold the national credit by the issue of bonds when necessary to scale down the public debt by repudiation, to invite not only the evils which would follow a silver standard, but those which would follow irredeemable paper money, for even purely fiat money seems to be recommended in the Chicago platform. The men who represent such a conglomeration of political principles and radical notions are not democrats. They have no claim on democrats, and all over the land today democrats are rising to overthrow their party fetters which mean slavery, and to stand between the people and the certain injury which the party's rash leaders would inflict upon the nation. The revolutionary spirit which forced Bryan's nomination is manifest in his speeches now being delivered throughout the country. His conspicuous failure at Madison-square garden to advance the cause of silver by close argument has induced him to abandon the weapons of the logician and statesman and to employ the arts of the orator. From the rear end of cars he has been flinging out social and political firebrands among the people. He appeals to the base instincts of the ignorant or to the misery of the distressed. He strives to array class against class, to incite employe against employer, to stir up debtor against creditor, to make this a contest of the poor against the rich. May God prevent this incendiary work! In this broad land it has been our proud boast that the avenues of success have been open to all. The rich today were the poor of yesterday. No families of inherited wealth dominate our politics or our society.

Before the law all men are equal. The same opportunities do not come to all men. Some succeed, many fail. But no barrier to success or position is created by law. Industrial conditions may be affected by unwise laws, and when this is demonstrated we attempt to change them through the opportunity which every man has to register his vote at the polls. Here we had a pleasant visit with these good people. Mr. Smith is an old pioneer of Douglas county and like a sensible man, selected at an early day a fine tract of land, settled down to business and improved the land, built up a beautiful home and now in the serene and yellow leaf of age, is enjoying the fruits of his labor.

Cross Eyes Cured in 5 Minutes. Dr. Darrin's visit in Roseburg at the McClallen House has been marked with good results. Not only has he been crowded with patients, but has marvelous results achieved in the new treatment by electricity and medicines is almost beyond belief. Some of his cures former are coming to light and cards are pouring in for publication. We publish the following. Mrs. Bickford, being well and laborably known to all. The art of curing disease by electricity can be classed with the other discoveries of the day, and who knows but what all diseases and ills of the flesh will be conquered by this subtle force. It is a theme for study and reflection. Dr. Darrin remains until September 6th at the McClallen House, and goes to Grants Pass from here.

To the Public. I feel it my duty to let the afflicted know the wonderful cures Dr. Darrin performed on my son in 1891. He had been cross eyed since birth and was cured by Dr. Darrin in five minutes so his eyes were made perfectly straight. My mother, Mrs. C. W. Smith, my sister and myself were all successfully treated years ago by the doctor. Refer to me. Mrs. B. BICKFORD.
