LABOR DEMANDS IT.

FOREIGN IMPORTATION SHOULD BE RESTRICTED.

The Workman Should Have the Same Protection That is Given The Manufacturer.

For some time prior to the last election and since I spent considerable time in interviewing, not only the leaders of both the republican, democrat and populist parties, but I have been in the lawyers' offices, bankers' private rooms, merchants' stores, barber shops, saloons, machine shops, foundries, railroad shops, the homes of the farmers and every place where I could get the true sentiment of the masses of the people.
I find one prevailing sentiment. It is that the day has now come when we must prohibit the importation of any more foreign labor to our United States.
There is enough here now. Protect the people that are already here; educate the children, and in a few years we will be the most prosperous nation on this earth. The days have been in the past when we could throw our doors open to every civilized nation, but now that time has passed. They say to me, What is the use of protecting the manufacturers of this country? As soon as manufacturers of Europe are restricted by a protective tariff law, the mills of Europe will close down, and steamship companies will hold out inducements for the operatives to come over here. Very soon we will see Castle Garden thronged with immigrants. When they get here they will have very little money to live upon. They will have to obtain work at any price they can get. They must have a place to live and ration to eat. Therefore, they must work at any price to obtain the necessities of life. Some tell me that if we had only made this move 20 years ago, today we would not be in the condition we are. This great labor problem that the Americans are trying to solve would not be upon us.

I can remember back in the '40s when it was looked upon as almost a crime in some parts of the Northern states to advocate the abolition of negro slaves, and any man who would advocate that subject south of the Mason and Dixon line was shot or forced to leave the country as a dangerous man to have in the community. But the spirit of freedom and justice to all mankind prevailed over our United States. When the South threw down the gauntlet the question was soon solved. It cost much blood and treasure, but the question was forever settled.
Now the great labor question is upon us.
In our late campaign we were told that we must start the factories, mines, mills and every avenue of manufacture, so as to give our unemployed people a chance to work and earn money, not only to save their property from the hands of the mortgagee, but to get clothing and food to keep their families from starvation.
But what is the use? If we leave the floodgates of Castle Garden open, and let the countless millions of Europe and Asia in upon us, what better off will we be 10 years from now? I say to every man now in our land, be he native of our United States or a native of Europe, let us protect the people that are now here, educate the children, but close the gates of Castle Garden for the next 10 or 20 years to any more foreign labor.

Others tell me that the men that we send to Washington to represent our interests should have their hearts in this work; that they should know and understand the wants of the people without waiting to be told that they should go ahead and introduce measures to protect the people without their rising en masse and making these demands.
They are sent to congress to represent and make laws to protect the people of their district, but they do not do it.
The steamboat and railroad companies make so much money by transporting the countless thousands of these people to our shores that they blind the eyes of our representatives with the brilliancy of their gold. Not only that, but the large manufacturing firms add their voice and influence in keeping the gates of Castle Garden open, so that they can have the operatives of Europe and Asia to draw from.

The children that are born under our flag and form of government are so imbued with that spirit of liberty that they will not be slay, nor mental bruvants to any man. The very seeds to breathe in that spirit of liberty that pervades every one. Consequence of our large corporations prefer to employ men and women who were born an educated under kings and tyrants, as they are more submissive and bow at a scrape to royalty and money, where the true patriot and American will scorn with contempt that enslaving submissive spirit shown by many people who are born and educated in a land where a American freedom is not known.

We have as good schools and colleges in the United States as there are in the world. We send our young men and women to those colleges to learn all that can be taught. Their brains are as capable of taking in and learning as any child born in Europe. When placed side by side in explanation with children of foreign birth, they prove that they are in every way equal to children born in foreign countries. But when I go into the offices of civil engineers, and of many of our public works, I find that if not a majority, of the skilled laborers employed are men who can hardly speak the language of the United States. There is a strong foreign accent upon their tongues. When I ask if they wish to prohibit any more foreigners from coming over here, they answer that they can hardly vote to do that, as they have been privileged to come here, and it would be selfish on their part to now vote to cut off others that would like to come. Others say that as soon as they can send money to their brothers and sisters to come here we may shut the gates quick as we please. But 95 per cent of the ordinary foreign-born people say over their signatures, "Shut the gates, there is enough here now."

Others tell me that during the last campaign in the United States, especially here in Oregon, that the public speakers did not dare to touch upon this most vital point at issue, for the reason that they did not know how the foreign vote would take it. If we will stop a moment and think, we are all of foreign parentage, that our ancestors all came from across the Atlantic, we will realize that we have nothing to fear from agitating this subject.

In the past we have had a place for every good working man and woman from Europe. But the time has now come when our country has got its full quota. There is a point where all the civilized powers of the earth must come to a balance. Our United States have resources to even up our standing with the other nations of the earth. But we have now our full quota of people.
Every man and woman we now import or allow to come here is so much too many; our children demand every place in the offices, work shops, factories and farms that there is to fill. Let us send men to Washington that have the nerve and backbone to stand for the mass of the people. Let us protect those already here, educate the children to love and protect our flag, and instill into their minds that spirit of freedom that they will not bow their heads to royalty, but honor true manhood and true womanhood where-ever found.

It is often asked why the volunteers of the war did so much better fighting than regular troops. My answer is, that the line and regimental officers of volunteers were, in most cases, young men who entered the service as private soldiers. They went in through true patriotism, not for the pay of $19 per month. As they rose in rank through their meritorious actions and service, they knew the wants and needs of the men placed under their command.
The men who remained in the ranks all loved them as comrades, and would follow wherever they would lead. They did not have to be asked if they would follow, they knew that their leaders were tried and true, and they would risk their lives and honor under their management. So it is with the mass of the American people today. They have chosen a man as a leader that entered the service of our country as a private soldier, carrying a Springfield rifle and 40 rounds of cartridges, with his canteen of water and haversack filled with hard tack and bacon, and his poncho and blanket rolled over his shoulders. He slept in the mud and on the hard frozen ground, with nothing to protect him from the storm and cold, more than any other private soldier. Through his meritorious conduct he was promoted to the command of his comrades.

When our army was disbanded the people were looking for men that had proved themselves worthy in the time of trial to represent them in congress, and he was chosen. Protection for American people was his motto. It resulted the framing of the McKinley bill, which gave us a season of peace and prosperity.
Now, after four years of adversity, the people of the United States have thought best to place him at the head of our nation to act as the presiding officer. Now let us go ahead and protect all of our American industries, protect every manufacturer of goods from the large manufacturers of Europe. At the same time, do not let us forget the men and women that are to do the work in the factories.
Do not let the people who are doing the work in Europe come flocking in here by the thousands as soon as we put a tariff on the goods they are sending in here by the shipload. Let us protect the men and women that are now here, and give them every chance to once more earn a little money, so they can raise the mortgage that hangs over the home that they have bought and partly paid for.

We have men in the halls of congress who have the courage to demand that the American workman must be respected. The only way to solve the labor problem is to give the workman the same protection we give the manufacturer, put a heavy duty on all goods manufactured in foreign countries. Then put a heavy duty on every workman that comes over here equal to the revenue that would come from the product of his labor for 10 years.

The legislature of Oregon should send a man to the senate this winter that will work as hard to protect the man that does the work as he does to protect the manufacturer.—C. NEWELL in Oregonian.

ROSEBURG'S OPPORTUNITY

To Secure the Encyclopedic Dictionary.

The Pacific Coast Newspaper Syndicate extends to the people of Roseburg and vicinity an opportunity to secure a limited number of sets of the great En-cyclopedic Dictionary, upon the same easy terms as were recently offered in Portland and at the low introductory prices.

This offer will hold good, at most, for a few days only, as the purpose of the Syndicate at the present is confined to distributing a limited number of sets at various points in the state for the purpose of comparison with other works of reference. This distribution is rapidly approaching its end, after which it will be impossible to obtain the work except at the advanced prices.

As far as Roseburg and vicinity is concerned this is the final opportunity.
The payment of $1 secures the delivery of the entire set, four massive volumes, (5375 pages, 250,000 words, of which 50,- 000 are treated encyclopedically) to your home or office. The balance due to be paid in twelve monthly payments of $1.25 each.

You will never again have such a chance. Send your name and address at once to The Plaindealer and you will be supplied with sample sheets for examination, free of charge. See advertisement in another column.

How to Prevent Croup.

Some reading that will prove interesting to young mothers. How to guard against the disease.

Croup is a terror to young mothers and to post them concerning the cause, first symptoms and treatment is the object of this item. The origin of croup is a common cold. Children who are subject to it take cold very easily and croup is almost sure to follow. The first symptom is hoarseness; this is soon followed by a peculiar rough cough, which is easily recognized and will never be forgotten by one who has heard it. The time to act is when the child first becomes hoarse. If Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is freely given all tendency to croup will soon disappear. Even after the croupy cough has developed it will prevent the attack. There is no danger in giving this remedy for it contains nothing injurious. For sale by A. C.
