The pioneers are dropping off rapidly, and in the natural order of things those who were grown to manhood and womanhood when the journey across the plains was made in the forties, must soon be gathered to their fathers. Aaron Blachley, of Lane precinct, Lane county, died Thursday last, aged 77 years.

The editor of the PLAINEALER went to Portland Sunday evening and delivered a lecture at the Congregational Church in that city under the auspices of the Portland Historical society, the subject being "Horace Greeley." This was the last for the season of a series of character lectures that have been delivered through the winter. He returned yesterday morning.

Eighteen carloads of cattle passed through on Tuesday en route from Montague, California to Tacoma, Wash. We shall observe more of this in the future. The butchers of the country will have to look less and less to the great cattle ranges for beef and depend more and more on the farms and cattle ranches for their supply. The difference to the consumer in the price at the retail block will not for some time be perceptible, but an advance of one-half a cent means much to the man who raises the beef.

The shooting of E. B. Coats by his wife at Oakland turns out, fortunately to be a not very serious affair. While the intent might have been ever so good, or rather bad, the gun was lightly loaded and the shot did not penetrate to any extent the clothing of Coats.

We have heard of folks being mean enough to steal a sheep, but that has been outdone. Some one the other evening stole a grindstone from the yard of Deputy Assessor Chapman. The loser says if the force will only sharpen up his toos and bring it back he won't say a word.

Frank Love, who has been in the employ of G. W. Rapp for some time, left for the East Tuesday night. It is said that he goes to take possession of his share of a fortune left by an aunt.

There is a rumor to the effect that the estate left is large, something like $30,000,000. If that is true Frank is lucky.

The Guard officer tells about a very curious theatre custom in Mexico. Admission is sold by acts in the theatres. If the show is satisfactory, and the Mexican has more money, he will buy another piece. If it is had he can quit at any time. The show is thus sold comparatively speaking, by the yard, the same as if a customer should go to a store and buy a certain amount of calico or cloth. That wouldn't do in the U. S.

The possibilities of mining in Southern Oregon is illustrated by an incident that occurred this week. Wess Riggs, fireman on the Southern Pacific, secured a two days' lay-off, and, with Tom Flaum, the pocket-hunter, put in the time in the Dry Diggins district, hunting for gold.

On the first day an $18 pocket was found, and on the next day a second pocket with $36 was discovered. Such luck has naturally stimulated others, and it is said that at this writing there are at least 25 men on the hill back of the Corliss mine, searching for the precious metal.—Mining Journal.

The funeral of Karl Kimmel, who died at his home in Canyonville on Monday, took place on Tuesday. Rev. Mr. Gillette conducted the exercises. The funeral was under the auspices of the Masons, Workmen and Odd Fellows' and was largely attended, quite a number of persons were present from Myrtle Creek and Riddle. It is but a few days since the deceased was in the city in robust health, but an attack of pneumonia carried him off. For a long time he has been a resident and leading citizen of Canyonville, beloved and respected by all who knew him. A wife and three children are left to mourn the loss of a husband and father, but are comfortably provided for.

The reporter is informed that Johnny Grills and another youngster named Mathews were examining a pistol in their possession a few days ago. The pistol was in the hands of young Mathews, and of course, unloaded and consequently harmless, but by some unaccountable reason it was discharged and a bullet issued therefrom that might have produced a subject for a funeral in the Grill family but for the fortunate fact that the ball struck a suspender buckle and was rendered harmless. Persons have been admonished not to handle guns, but if they must handle them be sure always that the muzzle is not pointed toward anyone. It is a well known fact that fatal results are often produced from supposedly unloaded guns.

Robertson and T. R. Sheridan, the president being ex-officio member of both committees. W. S. Byars was re-elected commandant and Dr. K. L. Miller physician. There will be no change in the personnel of the subordinate except that the commandant was ordered by the board to employ a trained nurse for matron of the hospital. The said nurse shall be recommended by some hospital and by a reputable physician, and shall have complete control of the hospital, subject only to the commandant and the attending physician. The board will conclude its labors today. Arrangements were made with the First National bank here to cash bills for supplies.

Who has danced herself into the hearts of all Europe is coming. At the opera house next Saturday night, March 27th. An event of unusual interest to theatre-going people, will be the appearance of the Imperial Operatic Comedy Company. This organization is one of the latest and most popular operatic comedy successes, "La Cigale," a humorous and highly entertaining comedy introducing clean, clever and refined specialties and interspersed with operatic numbers and selections. This play has been a pronounced success everywhere, and has met with public approval wherever presented. The cast comprises a list of comedians and operatic stars of recognized ability and reputation, among whom may be mentioned the charming and talented soprano and prima donna soprano, Rosalia Southern, ably supported by Miss Hortense Neilson, the comedienne contralto, who has just closed an engagement with Madam Modjeska, and who is sister of Miss Alice Neilson leading soprano of the famous Bostonians. The supporting company is one of unusual excellence, as well as the largest in point of numbers that has visited Roseburg in a long time, and it may be predicted that our theatergoers are ready to patronize and encourage meritorious entertainments will greet this excellent company with a crowded house. The prices for the first time by this company have been placed 35 and 50 cents for the lower floor and 25 cents for the gallery. Sale of seats opens Friday morning at the Roseleaf.

Mrs. Abraham.

Hon. Sol Abraham is very much discouraged over the news he has received from Mrs. Abraham at Baltimore. Her condition is critical, and Mr. Abraham received word that a cure could only be effected by an operation, and then it was altogether possible that the patient might die under the operation. The opinion of Mr. Abraham was sought as to the advisability of adopting extreme measures, and the information was also given that the attending physician would not undertake the task for a less fee than $5000. Mr. Abraham telegraphed his reply that he would leave the matter entirely to the judgment of Dr. Kelly and the wish of Mrs. Abraham. Mrs. Abraham's niece, it is said, is opposed to it, because she knows, she says, her aunt cannot survive, but the patient herself announces she would rather die under the operation than to return and be eaten up by inches by the cancerous affliction. The many friends of the family will be grieved to learn of the serious turn of affairs and hope the case will not turn out as badly as appears at present.

LATER.—It was concluded that the operation should be performed today but up to the hour of going to press, word had not been received concerning the result.

District School Notes.

Reference was made recently in these columns to a little misunderstanding in French Settlement with regard to the employment of a teacher for the district school. One director, Frazier Ward, resigned because of the trouble and Henry Conn was elected to fill the vacancy. There were 15 votes cast at the meeting and Conn received 12. Immediately after the election a meeting of the school board was held for the purpose of electing a teacher and Mrs. Clara Mansfield was chosen.

For the school in district No. 31, Yoncalla, it seems that two teachers were chosen but one was required. Manley M. Straw and Miss Ada Cellera, both appeared to think they were properly employed. There was a disposition to shirk the responsibility for the mistake from one director to another, and finally the whole case was referred to the county superintendent for adjudication. The official called for the records bearing upon the question and was informed by the district clerk that there were none.

The law requires that all actions of boards of school directors in order to be binding must be performed at a regular or special meeting of the board and a record kept of the proceedings, that a majority of the board must be present to transact business, and that teachers shall be elected at such meetings and a record made of the election, subsequently a contract in writing must be entered into. As it appeared from the evidence that neither of the claimants were properly elected, it will be necessary for the board to hold a meeting and elect a teacher, and they were also required to see that the proper record of the proceedings were kept.

Superintendent Waite on Monday visited the school at Riddle and found 45 pupils in charge of Miss Addie Stewart, doing very nicely.

Circuit Court.

The March term of the circuit court for the county of Douglas, is practically ended, though it will likely remain nominally in session for several days. The jury was discharged on Tuesday last, after the last of the prisoners in the county jail awaiting trial withdrew his plea of not guilty and entered a plea of guilty. The jail is now clear with the exception of those awaiting transportation to the penitentiary. Hollis sentenced for eight years, Nelson for four years, and Burgess for two years. These were sentenced this morning. Hollis had been convicted of the crime of forgery and the court in passing sentence, said that Hollis was a man of mature years, a true and honest citizen, and a good employer, had betrayed that trust, and deserved a severe punishment. The prisoner took it cool enough in the court room but when returned to the cell acted like a caged lion. Nelson had pleaded guilty to forgery, said he was 20 years of age, had been in the court room, and thought the statement was not the exact truth. Burgess who had been indicted jointly with Satterly, whom he exonerated and pleaded guilty, was quite a boyish looking chap with a face that was far from bad. The court was disposed to be lenient with him.

Following are the proceedings in detail: 71. State vs. Chas. Wright, tried before a jury, indicted, arraigned, held, not guilty. Trial by jury. 72. State vs. Chas. Wright, tried before a jury, indicted, arraigned, held, not guilty. Trial by jury. 73. State vs. Chas. Wright, tried before a jury, indicted, arraigned, held, not guilty. Trial by jury. 74. Elkton.

The weather seems to have moderated, and there appears a prospect of spring. "So now it be?" Mr. J. S. Lewis, who has been seriously ill for some time past, is reported as slowly improving. The Cooper Bros. have been sawing out a fine lot of lumber this winter at their mill on Brush creek. Prof. Wright is improving his time during vacation at wood cutting, which demonstrates the fact that he is not afraid of work. The boys have been having a lively time chasing coyotes during the stormy weather, but they have failed thus far to bag any game. The fishermen at this place have been having a poor catch during the last few weeks. They think the run is about over for this season.

Mr. H. Weatherly of Scottsburg is expected to be appointed executor of the estate of the late Mrs. Harriet Weatherly. Also guardian of the minor heirs.

The Beckley Bros. are soon expecting a large invoice of boots and shoes, to supply the wants of their many customers during the spring and summer trade.

The Elkton literary society has become quite interesting, and it is not impossible that some of the members may in the near future, grace the halls of congress.

Almost every necessary branch of business is represented in our little village except a flouring mill, which is badly needed and a better situation for such an enterprise could hardly be found in any other locality in the state. We have in this precinct about 100 families to be supplied with flour and mill stuff, besides the Scottsburg and Gardiner trade which could be supplied much cheaper from here than from San Francisco; thus saving the transportation of the wheat below and flour back again. There is an ample acreage here to raise all the wheat that a mill could grind.

Scottsburg.

Mr. ark Mrs. Alph Walker were in town recently. Mrs. Maxfield and children returned to Gardiner the first of the week. B. Butler, W. G. Grubbe and M. D. Thompson went to Gardiner on Saturday's boat.

Gard Sabager is seriously ill with fever at the residence of his brother across the river from town. Mrs. Sarah Butler has returned from California, where she has been spending the winter with her daughter, Mrs. Scott.

Miss Dora McAfee was united in marriage with Mr. Zimont of Gardiner, last week. Miss Dora has our best wishes for her future happiness and welfare. If the patron saint of Ireland is cognizant of the celebration of his day on this ball, he must not have been flattered with the weather or the dance that was at this place on the 17th.

J. Hedden, Asa Henderson, Eli Copeland and F. Weatherly were initiated in the A. O. U. W. on last Saturday's meeting at Gardiner, the first meeting in the new Odd Fellows' hall recently completed at that place.
