Deafness Cannot be Cured

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out of the tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness caused by catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. It is hoped by his many friends here that the cure will be perfect and that Tom will soon be himself again.

The Railroad Commissioners.

The board of railroad commissioners of the state of Oregon passed through this morning on their way northward making an inspection of the road-bed, bed, trestles, depot facilities and other matters pertaining to the conduct of the business of the road, with especial reference to the comfort, safety and convenience of the public. The law creating the commission and prescribing its duties provides that at least twice a year such inspections shall be made, and if a trestle or bridge is found to be unsafe the board may order its renewal or repair, and if the order is not complied with stop the running of trains over such condemned structure. At different times since the creation of the board have orders been issued to the companies to repair or renew bridges, but it never has been necessary to stop the running of trains, as the companies have complied with the requirement. Applications have been made for depot facilities, either outright or improved, in many places. In some instances these have been ordered after being considered but in others the business in sight would not justify the order, for a reversal in the courts would surely follow if it was undertaken. The board has taken up the matter of a new depot at Roseburg with the managers of the road, but the volume of business is such at present that the outlay would not be justified. As soon as times improve sufficiently the promise is given that a new depot will be built on the company's standard plan. The physical condition of the Southern Pacific is better than for some time past, and the policy of filling up trestles wherever practicable, and renewing others with creosoted timbers that will prolong their life about fourfold, will eventually reduce the cost of maintenance of way so that there will be funds for other and needed purposes.

Killed in Cow Creek.

When the first train this morning passed through Cow Creek canyon, the engineer on his cab window, at a point in the road between tunnel 6 and tunnel 7, observed by the side of the track the body of a man. He had been run over in the night either by the south bound freight or the northbound passenger, both of which passed that point after dark. Both legs and one hand had been cut off and there was a wound in the side of the head. He had evidently been dead several hours. From the appearance he had been run over but not instantly killed, and succeeded in dragging himself from by the side of the rail to where the body lay and life's crimson tide speedily ebbed. He was supplied with a sack of beans and a cooking utensil, and did not have the appearance of a brakeman tourist. From letters and papers found on the body his name was observed to be Henry Hagenbecker, and appeared to be about 45 or 50 years of age. He had at some time been in the employ of the Ager-Linkville Stage Company. Coroner Miller was notified and will make provision for the disposition of the remains.

Beet Seed.

Interest in Oregon in sugar beet culture is proved by the extraordinary demand at the experiment station for seed for experimental purpose, says Corvallis dispatch. Since the announcement that the station had on hand a supply of seed for distribution to farmers, the requests for small stocks of the seed have been so numerous that the supply was long since exhausted. The requests have come from farmers all over the state; two letters were received the other day, each asking for seeds for 25 experimenters. The number of seeds furnished make it certain that at least 1000 samples will be sent in for test at the chemical laboratory this fall. The station has asked for a new supply of sugar beet seed, and hopes to meet the unexpected and unparalleled demand in a short time.

A New Time Card.

Not later than the first of May next, the Southern Pacific Company contemplates putting into effect a new time card for its trains on the main line. The overland passenger, that now leaves Portland at 8:50 p. m., and passes Roseburg at 5:20 a. m., will leave Portland at 6 p. m. and pass here at 2:50 a. m. The northbound will pass here at 12:45 in the night instead of 11:45 as at present, and reach Portland at 9:30 a. m. These trains will do the work between Salem and Portland now done by the Salem local and that train will be taken off. There will be no change in the Roseburg local. The freight train that leaves Portland at 6:30 p. m. will leave at 9 p. m. and reach here three hours later than at present.

Silverton Hop Contracts.

M. and Bergi Christenson of Silverton, have entered into hop contracts with T. A. Livesley and the Pacific Hop Company of Salem, the same to cover the crops to be harvested by them during 1897, 1898, 1899, 1900 and 1901. Mr. Livesley is to receive 5500 pounds for the first two years and 11,000 pounds each year thereafter, during the period of the contract, and the company will purchase 17,000 pounds annually. In each instance, the price are to be as follows: 1897, 9 cents; 8 cents for 1898 and 1899; and 9 cents for 1900 and 1901.

Mining Activity.

There is greater activity among the placer miners of Southern Douglas and Northern Josephine counties than for years past. All the streams of that section are running red with the wash from the placers, and numerous prospectors are in the hills. Down on Grave creek, at the Lewis mine, which is in plain view from the railroad track, a giant hydraulic is at work tearing down a mountain of dirt that contains gold in every shovelful, and it is a sight worth seeing to watch the mighty stream tearing its way into the bank. To the uninitiated it seems like simply washing a bank of dirt and gravel into the river to finally find its way to the sea. But this is a part of the bed of that ancient river that in prehistoric times traversed this country from north to south before some mighty upheaval of nature made mountains where there were vales and vales where there were mountains, and changed the whole face of the country. Wherever this old bed can be located, there pay gravel is found, nearly all in paying quantities and often very rich. The great drawback often being a scarcity of water. The placer in question is supplied with water from a long ditch reaching around to Wolf creek, but the volume is such that the mine can be kept running all the year round. This property is not for sale, and it is said that a million dollars would not buy it.

The Victory property at Glendale, or rather just below there on Cow creek, is only being lightly operated just now because of litigation. This is a valuable property, however, and will not be permitted to remain long without operation to its fullest capacity. Here also the whole mountain seems to contain gold in paying quantities and is a continuation of the bed of the ancient river above referred to. While in this neighborhood there has been no finds equal to those of the palmy days of California, still many of these placers pay handsomely. Some attention is also being given to quartz mining, and with the improved methods of reducing gold ore so that quartz of a low grade can be profitably worked the numerous ledges of Douglas, should find profitable investment for capital and give employment to labor.
