THE SECRETARY AND THE AT-TORNEY GENERAL.

The editor of the Corvallis Gazette state, H. R. Kincaid, for not trusting all the interests of the state in the hands of the attorney general. The Corvallis editor no doubt means well, but perhaps does not know as much about the attorney general applies a the first of the state in the bands of "fiat" do not hold together; some evidence of their better sense will crop out the attorney general applies as the state in the hands of the advocates of "fiat" do not hold together; some evidence of their better sense will crop out the state in the most severe cases, and is in fact the only preparation that can always be depended upon. When reduced with water it is pleasant to take. For sale by A, C. Marsters & Co. ney general's ability as the secretary of state does. Perhaps the Corvallis editor does not know about that land deal upon the Columbia river wherein there was something like $11,000 realized by the clients of the attorney general out of land represented by him to the land board to be barren and worthless, and which be recommended should be sold for $1.25. The state only lost $10,000 or $12,000 by taking the attorney general's advice in that case. It may be that this case made the secretary of state think
