Last Monday afternoon at 2:30 a large audience collected at the Methodist church to witness the program as carried out by the old soldiers of Jim Pike Post of the G. A. R., of that place.

Prof. Louis Barzee then made the address of the day, after which the large concourse of people followed the old soldiers to the graves of departed comrades.

This is a great nation; not only in the minds of Americans, but in the international transactions of the civilized world.

"The greatest thing in the world," said Drummond, "is love." There can be no doubt that he was wholly correct.

There is no genuine Oregonian who does not love his own "Sweet Oregon." Yes, we love our state.

There was a time when we could boast of neither international recognition or universal liberty; when the future nation of broad minded liberty loving, liberty enjoying people, was but a handful of colonial refugees, tracked by the wolves, harassed by the savages and restricted by the mother country.

"There is no depth without digging," there is no gain without labor, and no glory without sacrifice.

When our rude little fleet dared meet the "Mistress of the seas" for two years against English oppression, this was another payment on the cost of the price of liberty.

member the principles which actuated you in leaving your homes and dear ones to take up arms in an unknown land, to battle for the maintenance of the Union.

A few more years and you will all have been mustered out of service, and your last furlough will have been given.

And now you have come to strew flowers over the remains of your departed comrades. You could do no less; neither could you do more.

special facilities for testing the sentiment of the agricultural classes of the country. The sentence in question says: "There is one thing certain; the western farmer will not have any cause to complain that the bill was constructed in the interests of eastern manufacturers and capitalists as opposed to their own; it is the most favored tariff bill to farmers ever framed."

Dr. Dollinger, who has long been an intimate friend of Gladstone's, relates a story that illustrates the grand old man's wonderful industry. On one occasion Gladstone called on his friend, and the two became so engrossed in conversation that it was after midnight before they took note of time.

A family row, a church row and a school row were focused together a few days ago at Viola, Clackamas county. The pastor of the Protestant Episcopal church of the district were also involved on opposite sides.

The old room where the postoffice at Salem was, is being fixed up for a school. This reminds the Journal that the old postoffice block used to be Salem's business center.

In Sacramento, and other second-class cities in California, a fight is being made against department stores. It is claimed that such a combination of business affairs materially decrease the rent roll of store buildings.

The Pendleton East Oregonian says: Representative John S. Gardano, of Ridge, has developed into a humorist, and now that the process of evolution has gone on to completion, he is the following at the Golden Rule hotel to a group of ranchers who were discussing various methods of farming and caring for livestock.

When a dog barks at night in Japan the owner is arrested and sentenced to work a year for the neighbors that were disturbed.

South Australia has not realized enough wheat from her late crop to supply bread for her population, and has had to import over 300,000 bushels.

A colored woman in Missouri is to be hanged for the murder of another woman. When the verdict was rendered the woman shrieked like a mad person and had to be carried to the jail.

The plague of beri-beri continues to ravage the province of Santiago de Cuba. There are municipal doctors who inhale the air and allow hundreds of people to die without offering them the slightest assistance.

It is stated authoritatively that relief will be needed in the famine-stricken district of India until September, which is the earliest that the new harvest can be expected. The Government is now feeding 3,500,000 persons.

"So you have got twins at your house?" said Mrs. Beesumbe to little Ned Samson. "Yes, ma'am, two of 'em." "What are you going to call them?" "Thunder and Lightning I guess." "Why, these are strange names to call children?" "Well, that's what pa called them as soon as he heard they were in the world."

Mr. A. B. Hammond is expected to arrive this morning with a party of Eastern capitalists. It is also stated by one close to Mr. Hammond that matters have been arranged to start some wheels to moving on the West side. It is anticipated that the Hotel Land Co. will put its entire property on the market in the next few days.—Astorian.
