AROUSE YE.

The people of Douglas county can make up their minds to one thing, that manufacturing enterprises will not be established here unless some encouragement is given them. The initial steps were taken toward securing the location of a beet sugar factory somewhere along the line of the railroad in this county, and those who proposed to do it wanted to know how much ground could be secured for the cultivation of beets. It is quite natural that before the necessary capital is put into a factory the projectors should want an assurance that they would have the material to work on, otherwise their plant might be idle. There is a creamery at Corvallis, erected only a few months ago at considerable cost, but it is possible it may have to close down, not because there is no profit in the business, but simply because the farmers are too lazy to supply it with milk. They would rather, many of them, sit on the top rail of the fence and tell their neighbors there is no money in the country. Do they expect to pick it up in the road? Money must be worked for. If you produce things the people want there is always money to pay for it. They want butter and they want sugar. Our largest article of import is sugar and there is no reason why it should be so. The prosperous farmer is he who buys nothing that he can raise on the place, and the same rule will apply to states.

A few individuals may work their fingers off in the endeavor to get an enterprise started and someone may throw cold water on it and stop the whole proceeding. Why? Because they are afraid that someone else may make a dollar or two more than they, and rather than permit that they will forego their own chance of making anything.

At the meeting called for Saturday there were less than a score of persons present. It was not called to order. About 200 acres were promised. But reports were received that many would plant beets if the factory was built. Is it not just as reasonable for the manufacturer to say, "you plant so many beets and I'll build the factory?" While it is proposed that the farmer obligate himself to plant so many acres, the manufacturer also obligates himself to pay so much per ton.

There's money in it for both farmer and manufacturer and prosperity for Douglas county. Get a move on. Don't be a clam.

A well known populist of this county, who last year contended with all the force of a good pair of lungs that the depression in the price of agricultural products was the result of pernicious republican legislation, now says the improved condition is the result of the operation of the law of supply and demand. That is true. Legislation helps but cannot always work wonders. But our populist friend, in order to be consistent, should give the credit for the change to the change of administration. Consistency, however, is a thing we need not look for among professional populists.

The democrats made a sad mess of their attempt to make the country believe that the Dingley bill was advantageous to the sugar trust. They recognized the fact that the Wilson law had given the trust great advantages and were anxious to put a like odium upon the Dingley bill, but the analysis of the effect of the new tariff law shows that their assertions were absolutely false, and that the measure is an extremely unsatisfactory one to the trust.

"The weakness of the silver market," says a dispatch from New York, "is having very disturbing effect upon exchange operations with countries that are on a silver basis. In Mexico gold has advanced to an exceedingly high premium." If Bryanism had not been beaten last fall what a pretty pickle we would be in today.—Telegram.

The sugar trust is not wholly happy. The Dingley law deprives it of the special advantages which it had enjoyed under the Wilson law, and now the farmers of the United States are preparing to raise beets for the sugar of the country and refine it in the factories where the sugar is made.

Recent reports from Mexico show that the fall in the value of silver is creating great business disturbances there, and may lead to the adoption of the gold standard.

Bankruptcy threatens the republic of Mexico because of the slump in the silver market. This is a condition the United States would be contending with if we had elected Bryan and adopted the silver standard last year. Of course this will be said to be a scheme of the money sharks, but ordinarily a creditor is best pleased when his debtor is able to pay his debts, not when he becomes a bankrupt.

Senor Canovas, premier of Spain, was shot and killed Sunday at the baths of Santa Agueda by an Italian anarchist named Michelo Augeline Golli. When arrested Golli confessed that he killed Canovas to avenge the Barcelona anarchists, and the insurgent leader Don Jose Rizal, who was executed at Manilla December 30, last, as instirator of the Phillipine rebellion.

It is very probable the republicans in state convention next year will not ask Hofer of the Salem Journal, or any other populist, whom they shall or shall not place upon their ticket. If Hofer really wants any particular person nominated, the best thing he can do to bring it about is to oppose him. Hofer supports no man unless there is "something in it."

There is some democratic criticism of the supreme court for its decision in the tax cases, but none have said the decision was not in accordance with the law. It is the province of the court to interpret the law, not make it. The making is a legislative function. This seems to be overlooked by some people whose criticisms are made for political purposes.

Governor Lord is done for. He has offended the Salem Journal by appointing Judge Northup a member of the Soldiers' Home Board. The Journal man seems to have no better success in running things in Oregon than he had in Iowa.

For the first time in the history of Kansas her bank deposits exceed her loans. That prosperity wave appears to have taken a westerly course.

Herr John Most is still a McKinley man.—Salem Journal.

Herr E. Hofer is not, so it's a stand off.

Notes By the Way.

SCOTTSBURG, Aug. 10, 1897.

The editor of the PLAINDEALER lit out on his wheel on Monday morning en route for Coos Bay, going to Wilbur by the local and thence "biking" it across country by way of Stephens, Dodge Canyon, Little Canyon and the Umpqua to to the Dimmick ferry, over the hill to the Smith ferry, thence to Elkton, hanging out there for the night and coming on here this morning. This was our first cross country trip, and the first visit to this section of the country in the summer season. Douglas county may be a little rough as compared with the prairie counties of the Willamette valley, but there are more "beauty spots" in it than in any other county in the state. The country this way, like that along the railroad, is a series of little fertile valleys, divided by ranges of hills covered with oak and fir. These little valleys are occupied by farms, for the most part of thrifty appearance, with nice dwellings, good out buildings and orchards now laden with fruit, the branches hanging almost to the ground with their burdens. This led me to conclude that the less thrifty looking places were owned by men who themselves were shiftless and put in their time discussing "ratios" and "per capita" instead of being at work. Of course some times sickness or misfortune will overtake the most industrious and spoil his plans and destroy his hopes.

The crops along the way looked splendid, save down this way the grain is all cut and in the shock or the mow, and occasionally a field had been threshed, and the pile of well filled sacks was good to behold. Between here and Elkton many fields of late grain are just turning, and in others the reapers were at work. The yield will be excellent. Even the populist admit that this is to be a good season, and they seem surprised to find that times are improving, when their idols had told them there could be no improvement under the gold standard. This is a little distance from civilization, and apart from the highways of commerce, so that the products of the farm must be hauled some several miles. Nevertheless a happy and relatively contented people occupy the fertile spots along the lower Umpqua.

Even the sheep, that used to be met in this section in much larger numbers than now, seem to look at you with an important air and say, "there is a tariff on wool." The farmers will increase their flocks to the capacity of the ranges. The wool interests will revive, and the income of the flockmaster correspondingly increase.

We are just now waiting for the boat for Gardiner and Prof. Waite and several school marms and "misters" are en route to the examinations and institute to be held there. J. B. E.

Steamer Mexico Sunk.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 10.—A special from Victoria to the Chronicle says:

The steamer Topeka, which arrived here this evening, reports that the steamer Mexico, on her return trip on August 5, while going into Dixon entrance from Sitka during a heavy fog at full speed, struck West Devil's rock. After two hours the steamer sank in 500 feet of water, stern first.

The passengers and crew were saved, with their hand baggage, in small boats. After rowing till midnight, they arrived at Metlakahtla.

Indianapolis News: Silver down to the lowest point it has ever reached; wheat going up higher day by day. But, then, it's all being done by the bloated monopolists on purpose to spoil Bryan's arguments.

There is no perceptible improvement in the strike situation. The families of many of the strikers are starving, while the strikers themselves are busy marching and parading and using their influence to keep other men from working.

Three Los Angeles men grub staked a friend with the provision that they should keep his wife and children while he was gone. They let the wife shift for herself and it was with the greatest difficulty that she lived. He recently returned with $100,000 which he expected to divide, but of course refused to do so when he learned the state of affairs.

Five lives were lost in an explosion last Thursday during a fire in the Northwestern grain elevator at Chicago. Four of the dead are firemen; the body of another fireman is thought to be buried in the ruins. From the force with which the explosion swept the spot on which they were standing, they must have been instantly killed. Either the bursting of a boiler or the explosion of mill dirt caused the havoc.

This is the way the Roseburg Review, Bryan free silver, replies to the Yreka Journal's remark that wheat is 20 cents per bushel higher than it was one year ago. "Why fabricate in little matters of this kind." Wheat sold in Roseburg last fall for 70 cents a bushel and upward, now it is about 60 cents. If farmers should get last year's prices again they will be as fortunate as the farmers of foreign countries, where the crop is a failure, are unfortunate." Such pettifogging brings on extreme lassitude.—Hillsboro Independent.

CLONDYKE.

All Claims Within 150 Miles of Dawson Taken.

Speaking of the Clondyke output of gold, the chief clerk of the San Francisco mint the other day said:

"All the gold brought to this city from the Alaskan mines will not exceed $800,000, and all that has been taken out this year and sent to the other mints of the country will not exceed $2,000,000. The gold from that part of the country is generally from 700 to 800 fine and some of it rates 900, the average being worth from $15 55 to $17 an ounce."

J. C. Butler, of the Pullman Car Company, is in receipt of a letter from R. P. Taylor, a financial broker of Seattle. A few days ago Taylor received word from some men whom he sent to the Clondyke region last spring, in which they inform him that every claim within 150 miles of Dawson City has been taken up, and that men are rushing all over the country looking for locations. He says that starvation and hardship stares many of them in the face.

Captain Nidbaum, of the Alaska Commercial Company, who has made a careful study of the situation, fears there will be a great deal of suffering in the mining regions this spring. He thinks the people going are far in excess of the supplies that have been forwarded.

A letter from Hart Humber, a prospector, dated Dawson City, June 18, just received, shows that the gold seeker needs plenty of capital. After reaching Dawson and paying the heavy duty on his outfit, besides 50 cents a pound for getting it over Chilkoot pass, he will have to pay 25 cents a pound to get his stuff from Dawson to the diggings.

The State Must Pay.

SALEM, Or., Aug. 9.—The supreme court today rendered decisions in the three mandamus suits brought to compel the secretary of state to audit claims and draw warrants in payment thereof.

In each case, representing three classes of claims, the lower court is reversed and the secretary of state is required by mandate to audit the claims and draw warrants in payment thereof.

The Capital Journal wonders if a revival of the old fashioned whipping post and a eunuch factory would not be a good thing. We think it would and especially would the latter be a good thing in Marion county if it keeps up its reputation.—Cottage Grove Messenger.

SUMMONS.

IN THE CIRCUIT COURT OF THE STATE of Oregon for Douglas County.

J. Frank Watson, Plaintiff, vs.
The Noonday Mining Company, a private corporation; John A. Boehm's Sons' Co., a private corporation, Al Parker, Daniel M. Tracy and Charles F. Morse, trustees, Defendants. } suit in equity to foreclose mechanic's lien

To Charles F. Morse, one of the above named defendants:

In the name of the State of Oregon, You are hereby required to appear and answer the complaint filed against you in the above entitled suit on or before the first day of the next regular term of this court, to wit:

Monday, December 6th, 1897, and if you fail so to appear and answer for want thereof, the plaintiff will apply to the court for the relief demanded in the complaint, a succinct statement of which is as follows, to wit: For judgment against the defendant, The Noonday Mining Company, for the sum of $302.68 and interest thereon from the 17th day of May, 1897, at the rate of eight per cent. per annum, and the further sum of $50 as attorney fees and costs of this suit, and that the said sum be declared a lien upon the property described in the complaint, to wit: Quartz mill, tramways and concentrators, and the land upon which the same are situate, and that the whole of the mill site be adjudged necessary for the convenient use and occupancy of the mill, all situate in Scottsville Mining District, County of Douglas, State of Oregon. For the usual decree foreclosing plaintiff's liens and decreeing the sale of the property described in the complaint and the application of the proceeds to the payment of the costs and disbursements of this suit, attorneys fees and the amount due plaintiff, and the balance, if any, pay to such person as the court shall decree entitled thereto.

This summons is published by order of the circuit court of the State of Oregon for Douglas County, duly made and entered on the 30th day of June, 1897.
