MRS. N. BOYD

GROCEER.

A Bullet-Proof Cloth.

In the presence of physicians, army men and representatives of foreign governments, Brother Casimir Zeglen, of Chicago, received a bullet from a 44 caliber revolver, aimed directly at his heart, in New York on the first of this month, and proved beyond doubt that his "bulletproof" cloth is bullet proof.

The test, which was the first to be made by Brother Zeglen in New York, took place on the stage of Koster & Bial's music hall. A yellow muslin, 2 1/2 inches thick and about the height of a man, was placed in position at the rear of the stage. Through this was cut a hole about a foot square, and over this a piece of bullet-proof cloth was nailed.

Dr. Moore announced that the cloth, ing at Brother Zeglen, the marksman would first fire at the cloth, to show its powers of resistance.

The material was less than an inch in thickness and was pliable. The only visible material was the silk and wool, very closely woven, but a mysterious substance is said to be embodied in the cloth, and it is this that stops the course of the deadly bullet.

The first bullet fired was from an ordinary 32-caliber revolver. A cross was marked in the center of the cloth.
"Crack!" went the pistol. All eyes were turned upon the target, where a slight depression showed that the bullet had struck. It rebounded a distance of 50 feet and landed in the lap of a spectator.

The second shot was equally remarkable. The bullet struck the cloth, recoiled and hit one of the electric light globes protecting the footlights, thus showing to completely shatter it.

After that there was no need in the auditorium came upon the stage.

Then came the real test of the day.
Brother Zeglen stood behind the pine plank as a possible protection from a possible lead shot, and the cloth was fired over his head and the bullet was seen to strike the cloth and rebounded back over his head and landed in the lap of a spectator.

Again Brother Zeglen submitted to the ordeal, with a like result. Whether practical or not for wearing purposes, the cloth certainly stopped bullets fired at right angles.

For the Discontented Girl.

This is intended for the eyes of the woman or girl who fancies she is oppressed and abused and deprived of her glorious rights, says the Chicago News.
After she has read and reflected she will, if she possesses good common sense, thank the father that is on earth at the present day instead of some of the predecessors. A few centuries ago strength and weakness was looked upon with contempt. Women were weak physically, and their status was thereby determined. In Sparta, although girls were taught the same things as boys, at a certain age they returned to their homes, where they had to obey the orders of father, brother or husband.

The Athenian girls were taught only to spin wool, be submissive and answer questions. Xenophon assigns to husbands the duty of training their wives not to eat in public, not to speak in a loud tone or commit "other such crimes."

Hypatia was not a myth; she possessed one of the best developed intellects of her time, but men could not bear that woman should be superior and teach them, so they killed her, tearing her limb from limb, instead of honoring and encouraging her studies.

In the Middle Ages, women were taught to "pray and obey." In Russia, where one of the proverbs is that "a hen is not a bird and woman is not a human being," the woman of the Middle Ages was instructed in all things by her husband, who is recommended in a book of the time to impress his orders upon her with the aid of a whip. A big religious congress gravely discussed the question whether or not women had souls. Four hundred years ago, when woman's position had somewhat improved, she was convent-bred and taught the catechism, embroidery and lace-making, and usually could read. But even in the eighteenth century men as cultivated as Rousseau denied the necessity of education for women, while Napoleon shared the same idea. Even today Tolstol thinks if a woman understands the Bible she has sufficient education, but, happily, Tolstol is not an absolute dictator.

A Sorry Fact.

The decided preference shown by young girls for men who have the reputation of being dissipated is a matter as old as the hills, but ever strikingly new, because of the daily instances which accruate the disgusting fact, says the Philadelphia "Inquirer."

Speaking about this a few evenings ago a college man said: "It isn't much of an incentive for a fellow to keep his morality up to the standard when he sees the most disreputable men of his set simply lionized by girls and their mothers."

"I don't know why it is. Women have a mania for cultivating men whose characters are anything but good. The shadier they are the more they appeal to women. Can't understand it."

"Maybe it is because we so love to pose as reformers," ventured his hostess.
"You know a woman enjoys nothing better than the fancy that she has it in her power to mold character—masculine character, that is."

"All the same I shouldn't think she would care to make her parlor training quarters for society toughs. There were two men in my class last year, the wildest, fastest fellows I knew, but they were made me fust over by the mothers and daughters of their acquaintance than any of their well-behaved friends. These same mothers and daughters knew any number of bright, moral young men, but they ignored them every time in favor of the ne'er-do-wells—were flattered to death to receive the slightest attention from the wild pair. Their mothers may have appeared a satisfactory substitute for morals—but what a state of affairs!"

NOTE AND COMMENT.

Prosperity and business activity began the moment a republican President and a protective congress were elected.
Was it mere "luck?"

The king of Korea has changed his title to that of emperor, but he and his kingdom, or empire, are small potatoes, and cut no ice among nations.

The four adjacent states of Missouri, Iowa, Kansas and Nebraska have raised over 100,000,000 bushels of corn this year. That looks like good times, and it is only one of the items.

A street just opened in New York shows the pipes and mains laid not more than 2 inches below the paving stones.
It serves as an object lesson on the Tammany methods of robbing a city.

The authorities of New South Wales have followed those of India in ordering a large quantity of steel rails from this country. One thing is beginning to ship their product to the opposite sides of the earth.

The national law against the swindle known as filed cheese is driving the vile mixture of dirty grease and chemicals out of the markets. There is at the same time a corresponding revival of confidence in American cheese.

Nine years ago the world's production of cane sugar was larger than that of best sugar, but for 1897 the estimate is 473,000 tons of beet sugar and 2,432,000 tons of cane sugar. It will pay the people of the United States to secure their share of this great industry.

There is something of a contrast between conditions under the McKinley administration and those under the Cleveland administration. It is not a long time since President Cleveland was selling bonds to bring gold into the treasury, while now the McKinley administration is actually rejecting offers of gold which come to it from various parts of the country.

The iron and steel industry is universally recognized as a faithful barometer of trade, and the activity in that line is telling the story of present business conditions. Rolling mills, steel plants, and furnaces generally are actually rushed with orders, and what is of great significance is the fact that the enormous demand is perfectly legitimate and without the slightest taint of speculation.

Railroads, manufacturers, and builders are all busy, and when they are busy there is a demand for iron and steel.

From faraway Lake county, Or., comes evidence that the wicked populist is even as other wicked men are, or worse.

"When the populists of Pine creek want a grub stake," says the Lakeview Examiner, "they have a man arrested and brought to Lakeview, and with the aid of a populist deputy district attorney and other populist officials they get their grub stakes without any difficulty, but it costs the county about $75 just the same. Then they howl about other people running the county in debt."—Oregonian.

Unless Chairman Jones and Senator Gorman can make it appear that the mails of the United States should not be open to defeated presidential candidates, they will be unsuccessful in their efforts to suppress Mr. Bryan. They have suggested he should be arrested and brought to Maryland and Ohio, but he is now firing at those targets at long range by United States mail and by some mysterious process managing to get the letters in print and his name before the public despite the efforts of the leaders of his party to cage him.

The mad rush of the leaders of the late popocracy for a new issue to take the place of the exploded silver theory has resulted in the nomination of Henry George for Mayor of Greater New York by a large element of the democratic party of that city. Mr. George, as is well known, is the chief exponent of the single-tax idea, and his nomination by a large element of the party in that city strengthens the belief which has been growing for months that the leaders of that party would adopt the single-tax theory to take the place of the discarded free silver proposition of last year.

This is a new use for electricity.
A Pennsylvania man owns a horse which he says is worth $1000 to him.
He had offered $300 to any one who could cure him of the habit of balking, and all to no purpose. He then procured a three volt storage battery, with which he connected each side of the bit and crupper by means of three wires.
The horse when first hitched to a load cart braced his four feet and at first refused to move, but at the first push of the button he jumped and snorted and moved off. Each day for a week he was given the same lesson, and is now the owner's pride, as he never balks, bites or kicks.

The way of the laborer is hard in Mexico at this time. It appears that it now takes nearly two and a half Mexican dollars to purchase what one American dollar will command. The following list of wages paid in various crafts in Mexico compared with their brethren in this country is taken from the report of a commission sent to Mexico last fall by the Trade and Labor Assembly of Chicago, and shows clearly what must be the condition of workmen who are paid in a depreciated currency and one which is continually further depreciating.

Street car drivers, according to the report, receive in Mexico 75 cents per day in Mexican silver, while those in Chicago receive $2.25 in gold money. Teamsters get $1 a day in Mexico, while in Mexico they get $1.75 in American dollars, worth nearly two and a half times as much as Mexican dollars. Printers in Mexico get $1.25 per day, but in Chicago $3 per day of money worth two and a half times as much. Bricklayers in Mexico receive $1.25 per day and in Chicago $4 per day. Contrast the difference here.
The Chicago man gets nearly eight times as much as his Mexican friend. Laborers in Mexico are reported as receiving 37 1/2 cents a day and in Chicago $1.25.
Does a study of the above showing recommend the adoption of the silver standard, which several states are making their sole issue in this fall's campaigns?

To the Public.

On and after this date, I wish it understood that my terms for all undertaker's goods are cash in advance. I find it impossible to do business on a credit basis, and believe that I can do better by my patrons and myself by selling strictly for cash. P. BENEDICK, Undertaker.
Roseburg, Ore., April 12, 1895.

Resolutions Adopted.

The following resolutions were adopted at the W. C. T. U. convention held at Gardiner, Sept. 22, 23, 1897.

We, your committee on resolutions, unanimously acknowledge as a source of an uplifting power, such has been with us for the last year and a half, leading us on to greater efforts.

Knowing there is still great work to be accomplished we give voice to our following principles:

Resolved, That as the use of narcotics in any form is in many ways akin to intemperance, we strongly deprecate their use and will discourage the same.

Resolved, That we tender our thanks to state superintendent of public instruction, Geo. M. Lewis, for his decisions on the right of woman to vote at school elections.

Resolved, That we urge all teachers to teach physiology and hygiene according to the laws of God.

Resolved, That as man and woman were created equal in the beginning and were given dominion over all, that we demand the chance of exercising our God given right at the ballot box.

Resolved, That believing in justice to all as well as equality, we therefore desire that equal pay for equal work should be demanded in behalf of our wage earning sisters.

Resolved, That we push the work of labor department, believing by so doing we will help forward the day when the brotherhood of mankind will then become a reality rather than as now a theory.

Resolved, That the sympathy and love of this convention is given to our lost corresponding secretary, Mrs. Ida Masters, in her sickness, and hope for her speedy recovery.

Resolved, That we do appreciate the kindness of all who have in any way contributed to the success of this convention, and we hereby take this opportunity to express to them our deepest gratitude.

Klondike Gold at the Mint.

Although some Klondike gold is still being received at the United States mint in Philadelphia, says the Bulletin, of that city, it comes already melted, and therefore not distinguishable from any other gold bars. Visitors to the mint, however, all ask to see some of the Klondike gold, and all are gratified, in a way. They are shown an ounce of the yellow dust brought here by A. P. Cat-lan, a Russian. This and one other ounce purchased by an outsider are all that remain unmelted of the 137 ounces of gold dust brought here, or rather sent to Catlan, who received $2000 cash for it.
This was really more than the gold was worth, and $101.43 more than he would have been paid for it by the mint had he sold it in the usual way. He estimated its value at $17 an ounce, but when melted and refined it proved to be worth only $16, being 77.4 fine. There was found to be a mixture of magnetic iron in the dust, as well as some silver and copper.

Cotlan received his $2000 by selling the dust to a dry goods firm which desired to exhibit it as a drawing card.
When it had served this purpose it was deposited at the mint by the firm, in the usual way. They had 135 ounces, two ounces having been sold to others, and when it had been melted and refined, were paid $1804.57. Of this they received $1792.09 in gold and $12.48 in silver. As they paid Cotlan $1900, they lost $101.43 on the transaction.
