Competition never worries us, because we "buy right" hence "sell right." The facts are these; every move in our business is only made after the most careful consideration, nothing left to chance. Shoes have advanced in price but not with us. We sell you a good oil grain shoe for $1.25 and upwards, fine shoes in proportion. If you doubt us, come and see us, convince yourself that we have what we advertise. We don't care to do all the business in town, but want to get a share of it. We firmly believe that a concern that gives its customers exceptionally good values in every instance is bound to go ahead year by year. This idea prevails throughout our entire business. Every dollars worth of goods must give the wearer satisfaction, even the all wool absolutely fast color $8.00 suits.

An Ancient River.

The following panegyric is from an address of Col. J. G. Day, delivered before the Commercial Club at Portland last Saturday:

"Long before Adam trod the tall, waving grass of his Edenic home, or felt the paroxysms of love as he pressed for the first time his lips upon the brow of Mother Eve, or the morning stars warbled sweet melody upon the ear of Nature, there coursed from pole to pole, spirally around this globe, a pre-Adamite river. Its seething waters rushed over its jagged bed in the very infancy of disintegration, carrying with it all the rocks and gravel that chanced to be within its course. Its course through Southern Oregon spreads its broad surface to the noonday sun, ready to yield up its treasure to the industrious miner.

"A careful examination of the gravel therein deposited shows it to be of a most composite character. We have granite from the hills of Vermont, slate from the beds of Wales, diamonds from the shores of Africa, pebbles from India's coral stand, and petrified whiskers from the shores of Atlantis. Anyone doubting the truth of this assertion is at liberty to go and dig through the burning sands, and view for himself the petrified foundation of the Oregon pine which underlies those noble structures, which shall endure as long as time rolls on. Along its banks Noah built his ark in which to house his flocks and protect his people from the rigors of an Oregon rain. Along its banks the whale disported in which Jonah embarked, and the footprints of his landing may be seen today imprinted in the 'sands of time.' It was here, beneath the sylvan shade, that Abraham offered up Isaac; embers of the altar are still aglow, while the bones of the scapegoat have been stripped by the buzzard of time. It was here, meandering along the slough, that Moses was discovered by Pharoah's daughter, who in after years inscribed upon the slate beds of Olalla river the imperishable decalogue. It was here where Potiphar's wife, sitting on the opposite bank, 'winked her other eye' to the unsophisticated Joseph. It was here Benjamin Harrison thought out his own great thoughts, and outlined the course that led to future increased progeny. It is here that nature with lavish hand has sifted the yellow treasure throughout the entire deposite of its ancient river bed, which today is sitting, like a well-reared maiden, to be wooed and won, willing to yield up the richness of her love Whether I will be a winner is a matter that time alone can tell. Certainly, I have been lured by the charms of her form, and, like other old men, may awake to realize that I have poured my coin in wrong place. But, if I fail in my enterprise, and end my career in poverty, think not of me, I beseech you, when the tall grass waves o'er my grave, and the katydid's shrill requiem fails on the night air, as of the 'fool and his money soon parted,' but think of me as one who in the light of the best information obtainable, with the best appliances of modern machinery, and with the expenditure of labor well directed, did his best to develop the mines of Southern Oregon."

Thirty Years the Limit of a Deer's Life

Romance has played a prominent part with regard to the longevity of deer. What says the Highland adage?
Thrice the age of a dog is that of a horse,
Thrice the age of a horse is that of a man,
Thrice the age of a man is that of a deer,
Thrice the age of a deer is that of an eagle,
Thrice the age of an eagle is that of an oak tree.

This is to assign the deer a period of more than 200 years; and the estimate is supported by many highly circumstantial stories. Thus, Captain McDonald, Tulloch, who died in 1776, aged 86 years, is said to have known the white hind of Loch Treig for 50 years, his father for a like period before him, and his grandfather for 60 years before him. So, in 1826, Macdonald, of Glengarry, is reported to have killed a stag which bore a mark on the left ear identical with that made on all the calves he could catch by Ewen-Maclan-Og, who had been dead 150 years. Analogous stories it may be noted, are told in countries on the Continent of Europe, where deer are to be found in any number. But, alas! the general opinion among experts would seem to be that 30 years or thereabouts is the limit of a deer's life.

Foe to the Codlin Moth.

In an article taken from the Payette Independent, Mr. N. A. Jacobsen, a prominent fruit grower of Payette, Idaho, tells of a bird which in Germany keeps down the codlin moth. Progressive horticulturists all along the Pacific Coast are attaching increased importance to the introduction of the natural foes of insect pests as the most satisfactory method of keeping them in subjection. If the bird which Mr. Jacobsen describes will thrive here and reduce to a minimum the ravages of the codlin moth its value can hardly be estimated, especially if it feeds exclusively on insects during the summer season and is therefore not of itself a pest. The great success which attended the introduction of German song birds in Oregon suggests the probability of equal success in introducing the one which preys upon the larvae of the codlin moth.—Oregon Agriculturist.

An Underground City.

In Galicia, in Austrian Poland, there is a remarkable underground city, which has a population of over 1000 men, women and children, scores of whom have never seen the light of day, says the Roxbury Gazette. It is known as the City of the Salt Mines, and is situated several hundred feet below the earth's surface. It has its town hall, theater and assembly room, as well as a beautiful church, decorated with statues, all being fashioned from the pure, crystalized rock salt. It has well graded streets and spacious squares, lighted with electricity. There are numerous instances in this underground city where not a single individual in three or four successive generations has ever seen the sun or has any idea of how people live in the light of day.

United States Consul Heenan, at Odessa, Russia, has given detailed information to the state department at Washington on the Russian grain crop. He says the crops over an extensive area have failed. The beginning of the trouble was the dry winter, causing the failure of half the wheat sown. With a favorable spring, and resowing, the prospects were good, however, almost up to cutting time. Then came the wettest season known in years, and hail destroyed both ripe and unripe grain. In large areas no effort was made to harvest. Samples of the new wheat are inferior in quality and weight. The yield is from four to six bushels per acre for winter and spring. Barley is discolored and underweight. Rye is much damaged and will be under the average crop.

Hops.

In a letter from London, Thomas & Short, factors of American hops, say of the hop market and outlook generally:

"The English crop is now harvested, and while the quantity is only about two-thirds of last year's yield, the quality generally is very good, in fact, better than for some years past.

This result in quality shows what can be done by washing in time and thoroughly, for the vines were attacked early in the season by an extremely severe and persistent visitation of lice. The smallness of the yield is due to slackness of vine through severe draught. Brewers are well stocked.

If any of your growers want to know the component parts of the wash used by English growers, we shall be happy to answer inquiries from them.

Business is only just beginning in English hops, and prices not consolidated, but the growers are trying for a considerable advance on last year's prices. They may not get all they seek.

For Pacific hops no prices have yet been established and samples of them are only just arriving. There can be no doubt that with our short supply, there will be a good market here at good prices for choice hops from your section, and consignments of that quality would do well, especially if sent on early. Anything below choice would not be wanted."

Within 13 years England has seized 2,000,000 square miles of Africa, France 2,726,000, Germany 920,000 and Belgium 1,030,000. Adding former holdings, France now claims 3,100,000 square miles and England 3,300,000, not including the Boer states. Italy had an ambition to exercise sovereignty over 540,000 square miles, but since the Abyssinian disaster is disposed to retire entirely from Africa. Portugal still retains some rich possessions on the east and west coasts, and Belgium's Free Congo state has a population of 15,000,000, but thus far has not been profitable property.

The New Jersey mosquite has made a bad record this season. Among the charges against it are stinging a baby to death, killing a cow, causing two girls to lose a leg each and poisoning a woman's arm so that amputation may be necessary.
