VIEWS OF PROMINET REPUBLICANS

Judge Williams is favorable to the scheme of harmony that is presented by the united republican county committee. I believe in harmony," said he last night, at his residence, "and will do all in my power to bring it about. The matter was explained to me today, by a few gentlemen, and I agree with the proposition as described by them. There of course may be more details which require alteration, but the general proposition is very fair, and I hope that the other side may see fit to sceept it.

"I belong to no faction; I am identified with neither, but I hope to see the republican party succeed in the coming election. The factions must get together if they expect to win.

"The use of my name as arbiter i wholly unauthorized. No one has consulted the upon the subject. I cannot say whether or not I would accept the responsibility till I have fully examined the mutter. I desire to understand the terms of the arbitration."

Joseph Simon, who is the leader of the opposing faction, was not ready to express an opinion upon the subject. "I have heard of the paper," said he, "but I have not had time to examine it, and I am therefore not in a position to discuss it."

A copy was offered Mr. Simon for permal, but he said that he was too busy with legal matters to study it. "The proposition will doubtless receive consideration from the county committee," said he, "and it will take whatever action it may see fit. A meeting will probably be called to consider the subject. Just now I am see fit. A meeting will probably be called to consider the subject. Just now I am very busy preparing a case for tomorrow, and I shall not have time to investigate the subject."

purpose the unification of the republican purpose the unification of the republican party and its representative organization in Multnomah county," said he.

"The proposition has my unqualified approval, and as one member of the republican party I have labored assiduously during the past month to bring it about. In my judgment it presents a means absolutely fair whereby the party can be united, without any sacrifice of principle or humiliation upon the part of anyone, and it is, therefore, one which should receive the cordial endorsement of every true republican.

"I cannot but have implicit falth that a proposition so eminently fair in every iespect will meet with acceptance from Mr. McKay and every member of his com-

Hon. Sol Hirsch, chairman of the conmittee which made the proposition, did not care to discuss it. "The paper speaks for itself," said he. "But you may say that I hope that it will be accepted. That the republican party, to be sure of victory, should be uited nad all factional differcharles H. Carey, chairman of the republican congressional committee for the second district, had this to say when asked concerning the proposition:

"So far as I am personally concerned it is a matter of entire indifference to me whether the proposition is accepted or rejected. I am always and at all times in favor of the settlement of party differences within the party ranks, and I believe that the committee has done a very proper thing in trying to arrange for but one set of republican primaries.

"At the same time it seems to me that "At the same time it seems to me that the overtures for peace should rather have come from those who have been at fault. We are all partisans, and it is hard to be a good party man and vet be perfectly fair, but it must be manifest that the cause of all the trouble has been in the refusal of some prominent members of the party to stand by the principle of rule by majority. The majority of the county convention in the last campaign put up convention in the last campaign put the ticket, but the minority put up another and compelled the majority to re-sort to the indirect method of us-ing the Mitchell-Republican assembly scheme to get their ticket printed on the ballot,-Portland Tribune.
