A Good Order.

On July 2nd, 1894, a Jaffer Haydon joined Protection Tent, No. 15, K. O. T. M., located at Roseburg. He was awarded for 1000. In case of total disability dues and assessments cease and the insured receives from the Supreme Tent one tenth of the amount of his policy annually.

In July, 1895, Haydon received an injury by the falling of a beam upon him that caused total disability. Since then he receives $100 each year as a disability claim. An Order that protects his members when they become disabled for life must be a good one. No other Order gives such protection that we know of.

Week of Prayer and Self Denial.

Commencing next Sunday the Salvation Army will enter upon a week of self denial and prayer in order to raise finances to carry on its social and spiritual work throughout the city.

The self denial week is observed in every country on the globe in which the Army is located. Australia which just closed their self denial week, raised $126,000 toward the work, and it is hoped that the United States will get in the lead in their efforts.

Junction City Times: The Yonca Co. came to grief in this city and the organization fell to pieces. Some of the goods were attached and a lawsuit followed. Both factions got the worst of it while a couple of lawyers scored the usual rake-off.

Here is another warning: A Kansas woman became engaged to an Eastern man through correspondence, and when she met him found that he had only one leg and was of no account generally. She kicked him out of the house and has been used for damages.

What an improvement it would be if a road was graded around the big north of town to Edenburg. It would materially shorten the distance to the Masonic cemetery, and be a slight piece of road. Besides it wouldn't cost much to make it.

The combined weight of two dressed pigs brought by Taylor's butcher shop Tuesday from the college farm, was 1940 pounds. One, a pure-bred Berkshire, weighed 750. The other was a cross-bred Berkshire and Poland-China, weighing 100.—Corvallis Times.

Dr. J. W. Strange has been so fortunate as to secure a lease on the room formerly occupied as a bicycle repair shop, opposite the postoffice. He will remove his dental office from the Taylor & Wilson block to this place next week, thus securing to Roseburg what has long been wanted, a dental office on the ground floor.

A farmer named Armstrong reading west of Harrisburg came near losing his life last week as the result of an accident. In attempting to shoot a hawk the firing pin of the gun blew off striking him in the right eye, penetrating to the base of the brain. Dr. Mackey removed the pin and dressed the wound and at last accounts the patient was resting easily.

Attorney E. D. Stratford has commenced an action in the circuit court for G. Goble, an ex-landlord of the Soldiers' Home, against W. H. Byars, the commanding officer for $6000 damages. The cause for action are three, for malicious discharge from the home, for a dishonorable discharge, which would permit plaintiff from securing admission to any other home, and straight libel.

It is not often that the innocent sheep will turn upon his persecutor, the coyote. When the temper of an old buck became aroused, however, over the slaughter of his offspring by these cunning brutes, which are now very plentiful, it is well for the safety of the coyotes to keep out of a corner, say the East Oregonian. At the Adams & Wells' sheep ranch on McKay creek a night or two ago, a lone coyote was actually killed by a man and some bucks before he could escape from a sheep shed into which his warping instincts led him.

Fell From a Bridge.

John Cardwell and G. Karg, late Monday night were crossing a long bridge over Gravel creek, about 10 miles south of Glendale. When they were about half way a cross southbound freight train came along. Karg retained his seat and struck the top of the bridge, the train passing safely over him, but Cardwell became frightened and jumped off the bridge, which is about 70 feet high, and was instantly killed. In falling he struck some of the joints and was crushed in. Coroner Myers, of Josephine county, went to the scene early the next morning. He immediately impaneled a jury, which returned a verdict assessing the railroad company for any blame.

Cardwell was an old timer in that section and was an uncle to the Pool boys, who, a year ago, were under arrest for holding up a Southern Pacific train in Cow creek canyon.

K. of P. Smoker.

Alpha Lodge, No. 47, K. of P., installed its officers last evening for the current year, as follows: Geo. Carpy, C. C. H., Jr., right; J. B. Riddle, Jr., cap; Chubbill, pres.; James Testin, M. of W. L. A. Sanctuary, K. of R. & S.; Joe McKill, M. of F.; B. W. Strong, M. of E.; Douglas Waite, M. at A.; C. H. Fisher, L. G.; L. B. Riddle, O. G. After the installation the doors of the Castle Hall were thrown open and a number of invited guests of the Knights filed in to enjoy an entertainment and smoker. Meals were furnished by the Roseburg central war room, several choice selections during the evening. Sir Knight Fred Page-Testin delivered an address on the history of the order and remarks were made by members and visitors. Fred Zigler and James Stevenson were the additional speakers. The quartette, Dan Langsborg amused the assemblage with a phonograph contraption and a "lap lunch" was served. The only objection to the banquet was that it was so good, but a very pleasant evening was spent nevertheless.
