Tongue's Speech.

Congressman Tongue at the conclusion of a speech in the house of representatives in opposition to the Teller resolution said:

"In my judgment, Mr. Speaker, if this congress, by any act, law, or declaration, could establish a monetary standard of the United States that would remain a certainty for the coming century, so that men engaged in business enterprises, making contracts, borrowing money, or lending money, purchasing or selling property, would know beyond question that upon the day of settlement there would be the same standard of value as on the day of contract, the United States would enter upon an era of the greatest prosperity that it has ever known."

"The work now before the republican party, which I must seek above all others to accomplish, is to establish this certainty. It must rid the business of the country of this disturbing threat that now pervades it. Whether we are to maintain inviolate our present standard, maintain stability in our business affairs, stimulate business enterprises, and bring about business prosperity, or whether we are to go to a silver standard, disorganize every business enterprise, disturb every business relation, bankrupt every business enterprise, and involve the whole people of the United States in financial ruin, is now the issue before the people of the United States."

"Until that issue is settled there should be no wavering, no equivocation, no relaxation of vigilance. No effort should be spared, no patriotic citizen of the United States should leave his post or neglect his political duties until this question is settled rightly and settled for all time. Divested of its subtle phraseology and catching words, this resolution defines the political issues for the coming campaign. The contest is not between an individual honor, business welfare and prosperity depend upon the issue, and the victory for their defense and preservation must be won."

EIK Head Items.

Rainy weather at present. The cinabar mines are running night and day.

Salter Moore, Jim and Willie Latham are on the sick list. We hope they will recover soon.

Some of the people in this valley are putting on a good deal of style lately.

Miss Beetta Stanton is staying with Mrs. Moore at present. We see B. B. made a trip down there a few days ago.

Miss Laveria Lammons is staying with Mrs. Gilkison.

John Johnson has had to stop working at the mines on account of it being too hard work.

Miss Mary Richardson is working at Mrs. Latham's. There seems to be quite a demand for girls here these days.

A fisher went to Mouth to attend his father's funeral.

Miss Alice Finney is staying with Mrs. Witt.

John Clark returned from Oakland yesterday where he had been on a visit to his wife and children.

Miss Ella Brown is with Mrs. Moore. Lewis (Moose) and Frank Finney are tending the dryer at the mines.

Mr. Lendon has come down from his mountain home on account of his wife's health.

But Leveaux is working at the Black Butte mines.

Luke Sutherland has returned to this valley again. He could not stand it to stay away any longer.

There are a few women and girls in valley who are talking of going to Klondike in the spring. Some to find men and others to find gold.

Some of the night crew at the mines are getting scared, thinking there is a wildcat over there. But it proves to be a tame cat. Don't get scared boys.

Walter Mosier will start for Washington soon. We wish him good luck. C. B. S.

Spraying.

The January bulletin from the Oregon Agricultural experiment station deals with the subject of spraying, and a copy can be had by anyone in the state who will send to the college and request it. A letter to the faculty from Hon. H. B. Miller of Grants Pass in answer to an inquiry, is in part as follows:

"In the district where we packed nearly forty carloads of apples the pack did not average over fifty per cent of the fruit packed. This was in Jackson and Johnson counties. The entire crop of several orchards, with a thousand bushels each of otherwise fine apples, was worthless because of scale. It is quite safe to say that in the Rogue River country alone the loss of fruit from scale and scale-eating fifty thousand dollars, and the work of the codling moth and the apple scab throughout the Willamette valley is so bad that not one-tenth of the apples are marketable. I believe it a very moderate estimate of the loss in this state this year from scale, moth and scab to place it at one hundred and fifty thousand dollars."

"The limited amount of spraying was a great surprise to me. I am firmly convinced that two-thirds of the orchards now bearing good fruit will be worthless within five years because of failure to spray."

Secretary Wilson of the department of agriculture maintains that no real objection exists to the annexation of Hawaii from the standpoint of the beet-sugar grower. Even at the present time, with the few importations of sugar from Hawaii, beet-sugar growers find a fair profit in their crop, but as the Hawaiian sugar planter is a one-crop man, it is only a question of a short time when he will exhaust the fertility of his soil for this crop and then, having to buy fertilizers, he will be unable to compete with the American beet-sugar farmer. The secretary believes, however, that the sugar crop of Hawaii will be gradually displaced by the growth of tropical fruits, coffee, etc., for the culture of which Hawaii offers splendid opportunities, and in the production of which the states of the Union cannot compete.

NOTE AND COMMENT.

The prohibition campaign has been opened in Eugene, Rev. N. A. Baker of Portland spoke on, "The issues" last week.

Several papers have already declared war against Spain. The pen is a great weapon when in the hands of a newspaper.—Albany Democrat.

It is a waste of time and space on the part of The Tribune to say unkind things about Judge Northrup. He is too thoroughly a gentleman to be affected by mere words.—Pacific Empire.

The theory that gold is appreciating has just received a very black eye by the discovery that the value of the gold mined in the world in 1897 exceeded the total value of both gold and silver mined in the world in 1887.

Salem Statesman: It may take five or six years to finish Yaquina harbor improvements, according to the plans. But it is good to know the work will go forward and continue to be prosecuted without interruption.

The way to harmonize is to harmonize. Ignore all factions, stand for true republicanism and don't allow anyone to define it for you. Get squarely on the St. Louis platform with both feet and let the enemy do all the howling and kicking.—Heppner Gazette.

Now, honor bright, is Dingley responsible for the snow storm?—Poria Herald. We must admit he put ice on the free list, and there snow us denying that the Dingley tariff reigns, and every patriotic protectionist in the land has property's return.—Burlington Hawk-eye.

The fact that the forces of democracy, populists and silver are to be combined in the approaching congressional campaign makes it necessary that all friends of sound money and honesty in national affairs shall work together in the nomination and election of members of congress.

Misfortune seems to follow us in sunshine or in rain. We must not guard against it. Our efforts are in vain. Not if Uncle Sam finds out. There'll be a hot time in Madrid that night!

There was never a purer exponent of republican principles than McKinley. Since his elevation to the presidency he has been the same plain gentleman he was before, for he is a man whose prosperity cannot be spoiled. He is a typical American and a genuine republican.—Tribune.

In 1853 a craze arose for naming valleys towns after Indian tribes. The result was that Albany was called Tekenab, Salem was changed to Chemeketa and Maryville to Corvallis. The former two displayed good judgment in returning to their former names, but the heart of the valley up the river never did so.—Democrat.

T. O. Selridge, Sr. and T. O. Selridge, Jr., father and son, are both now on the retired list of the navy, with the rank of rear admiral. A son of the younger man is a lieutenant commander in the service of the United States.

Eugene Register: Nothing pleases the average popocrat more than to read of a reduction of wages, which he can attribute to the Dingley law. The tariff has no more to blame upon the case than their would have upon the unprofitable enterprise of a chittim-bark speculation, but it makes a chance for a calamity howl, and that is the stock in trade.

A Kansas editor, writing of a cyclone, said it turned a well in side out, a celler upside down, moved a township line, blew a picnic to the winds, scattered a hotel and left nothing but the bunglehole, changed the day of the week, blew the hair of a baldheaded man, blew mortgagorages off farms, blew the cracks out of a fence and took all the wind out of a politician.

The arrival of hobos in the city is almost a daily incident. That their attempts to ply their vocation here are soon intercepted. The latest batch were promptly shipped after their arrest and conviction a few days ago. When the railroad is completed their access to the city will be more convenient and their exit from the city will also be swifter if not more lasting.—Astorian.

A Toronto woman, over 60, recently gave birth to a baby girl. An Oklahoman woman, 65, has made the same record. Juba, king of Mauritania, died at the age of 91, leaving a posthumous child. An official, a well-known gentleman, married at 82, and was the father of seven children, the last of whom was posthumous, the father dying at the age of 104. The old folks are bound to keep up their record for being the biggest fools.

The Lakeview Rustler in a five-inch article, long primer type, double-column, publishes "a few items of Hingley prosperity"—strikes, reduction of wages, etc. Why not publish a comparison, Populist Oliver, of factory and labor condition under the Wilson-Gorman law and the Dingley law? If you have not type enough in your office to publish the consequences of the Wilson tariff curse, we will loan you some.—Klamath Republican.

Two years ago the wool growers of Oregon were seriously contemplating giving up the business, but now they will soon hold a convention to consult upon methods for increasing it. If Bryan has been elected there would have been no wool convention and possibly in a few years no wool. Those who supported Bryan two years ago are preparing for another assault upon the republican party and the wool standard, but will receive little aid from woolgrowers.—Telegram.

A gentleman of the skeptical turn of mind who was making a lecturing tour through the country arrived one evening at a school house where he was to speak, being asked by an old farmer who was present what subject he was going to lecture on, replied, "Resolve men will not believe anything which I do not understand." "Oh!" says the farmer; "Well, my horse eats grass and it grows out hair all over him, my sheep eat the same kind of grass and it grows out wool all over them, my geese eat just the same kind of grass and it grows out feathers all over them, do you understand that, hey?" The skeptic's answer is not on record.

Treasury figures are assuming a brighter and more satisfactory condition.

Receipts the month of February averaged over a million dollars a day and prospects are that this month will be even better. As the total expenditures of the government average but a million dollars a day, it will be seen that the new law has already practically reached the silver promise by its framers—an income equal to the expenditures.

Mr. Ben Monet, who left Albany several weeks ago for the gold fields of the North, returned last night and is at the Ross House. He went only as far as Juneau. He learned the situation sufficiently to satisfy him that the sooner he returned home the better for him. Hundreds of men at Juneau and Skagway are absolutely without money enough to get a place to sleep, and spend the nights in public places often with a stick of wood for a pillow.—Democrat.

How do Senator Teller and his free-silver associates who have been demanding that the bonds of the United States shall be declared payable in silver justify their course in the light of the fact that the Mexican government, whose financial methods they profess to so much admire, is just arranging for a new issue of bonds payable in gold and silver only? But a trifling inconsistency of this kind cuts no figure with men who are merely advocating a cause for what they can get out of it in the matter of official preference or otherwise.—Ex.

We have competition enough in this country without inviting that of the world at large. We can reasonably hope to raise the standard of southern wages to a point of equality with that of the north and thus in the end restore the possibility of good wages in the cotton industry throughout the country, but we cannot expect to accomplish so much for all the cheap labor countries of the earth. High wages and prosperity are the children of protection, and we must maintain the modifier if we would have the offspring.—San Francisco Call.

Governor Lord has appointed J. E. Haseltine of Portland; C. C. Beekman of Jacksonville; Henry E. Doebch of Portland; J. F. Batchelder of Portland; R. D. Inman of Portland; J. A. Wright of Astoria; J. Henry Longmaid of Bourne; J. W. Day of Roseburg; Philip Metchen, of Salem; Claud Gatch, of Salem; E. P. McCormack, of Salem; H. B. Miller, of Grants Pass; Col. B. F. Alley, of Baker City; J. O. Hanthorn, of Astoria, to make preparation for the proper representation of the state at the industries of Oregon at the Omaha exposition.

The following table giving the amount of money in circulation at the beginning of last month compared with that in circulation at the beginning of the month in which Mr. Bryan was nominated is extremely interesting, and will be useful for reference during the coming campaign, in which the free-silverites will again insist that their proposition is the only one which can increase the currency of the country.

Money in circulation in the United States February 1, 1898.....$1,720,991,225 July 1, 1896.....1,606,434,966 Gain in 19 months.....$223,556,262

Hon. T. T. Gear has not been heard from lately, but a number of newspapers in different parts of the state are urging him as a candidate for governor. The Roseburg Plaindealer says: "Hon. T. T. Gear will be a candidate for the nomination for governor. If so, he will have quite a number of friends in this neck of the woods, and will make a good run if nominated." There is no name more popular in Yamhill at this time, and they seem to regard him in about the same light over in Tillamook. We quote the Herald: "The logic of political events in Oregon seems to point to the nomination and election of Hon. T. T. Gear, of Marion county, for governor. Mr. Gear would be an ideal man for the position. A clean man, qualified for the position, unidentified with any political faction, and one who has the welfare of the common people of Oregon at heart, being himself a member of the farming community, he would be a true representative of the daring race of men who have built up Oregon."—McMinnville Reporter.

Oakland Notes. (From the Gazette.) The '98 hop crop is being contracted at 8 cents.

The mountains to the east have worn caps of snow during the week.

Oakland was visited by a high wind Sunday night, doing a slight damage to signs and chimneys.

Mrs. L. B. Stearns and daughter Ethel, of Portland, arrived Saturday and are visiting friends.

W. S. U'Ren was in Oakland Monday, but disappeared as mysteriously as he came. There were no trains out and no horses from the livery. How did he go?

An elk four years old, which has been in captivity since it was a calf, fed by Bud Martin, was slaughtered Tuesday by Ness Brothers. It dressed 450 pounds, and the meat is said to surpass in flavor that of the wild elk.

A Literary Gem. Among the gems of English literature entitled to rank with the Gettysburg address of Abraham Lincoln and Shakespeare's choicest poetry, is the following lullaby of Superintendent Snyder of the Belcher mine:

Man is a vapor full of woe Starts a mite and up he goes; Finds a pick he cannot wield Enters then the discouraged fold. Man is a vapor full of woe Behind a cayuse about he goes. He tackles a trail for timber land Searching for a paying mine He finds a lead with millions in it. Happy he then for a minute! He finds at last it will not pay Not a trace will it assay. A season or two he rants about Digs a hole and peters out.
