A Texas Steer.

"A Texas Steer" will doubtless be greeted with a full house when it comes to the Opera House Wednesday, April 27. It would be singular if the theme hit upon by Hoyt did not furnish rousing entertainment. Maverick Brandier is a rugged, honest Texas ranchman. During a brief absence from his ranch he is elected to Congress. The ranchman confronted with this fact on his return, indignantly refuses to fill the office. "If you think you're too good to represent us in Congress, you just say so," greets Brandier's refusal. Backed by hundreds of barrels of six-shooters the plainman throws up his hands and lies to Washington with his honest wife and daughter. The misadventures that ensue are always absorbing. Now wildly hilarious, quietly satirical, again touchingly pathetic.

The play will be given a magnificent production and will be presented by a company of players remarkably adapted to the interpretation of variously diverse and taking roles.

TO GUARD THE RIVER.

Two Carloads of Torpedoes Soon to be Planted in the Columbia.

Just in the nick of time and simultaneously with the beginning of the war with Spain, two carloads of torpedoes for the protection of the mouth of the Columbia, arrived here from the East yesterday, and will be at once forwarded to their destination by Captain Fisk, United States engineers, who, in connection with his charge of one fortification of the Columbia, will have to superintend the "planting" of them, and see that they are placed where they will do the most good by doing the most harm to the enemy.

It is generally understood that these torpedoes, which, when placed in the river channel will form a "submarine mine," probably much the same as that which destroyed the Maine, are nothing like the torpedoes fired from torpedo-boats or other war vessels. During the civil war, submarine mines were made by loading from tanks, of any kind, as boys, or even steam boilers, with the highest explosive obtainable, and after connecting electric wires with them, sinking them in the channel.

The torpedoes which arrived yesterday are hollow spheres of steel, about three feet in diameter, each provided with a sort of "bale," which hangs beneath, to which the cable for anchoring them is attached. The reason for the torpedoes being spherical in form is that it has been shown that a sphere offers less resistance to the current than any other form, and has less tendency to turn around, and so twist and perhaps break the cable by which it is anchored. These spheres will be loaded with gun-cotton or some other high explosive, and will be buoyant enough to float. They will be anchored on the field selected for the mine, each being furnished with a cable adapted to the depth of water in which it is placed, so that they will all float at the same distance from the surface. They will be laid in rows, the torpedoes in one row being opposite the open spaces in the next, so that it will be practically impossible for a vessel passing over the mine to avoid touching one or more of them. Of course, they will all be connected with an electric cable, extending to a casemate on the shore, and can be so arranged as to be exploded automatically when touched, or so that on a vessel touching one of them the fact will be announced electrically in the torpedo casemate. Any one of them exploding under a ship would effectually dispose of her. When these torpedoes are planted in the Columbia they will effectually prevent any hostile craft from coming to Portland or even Astoria.—Oregonian.

MIDDLE OF THE ROAD

Campaign Opened at Baker City, April 16th.

BAKER CITY, April 17.—The fight between the genuine and fusion populists is on and the former evidently do not propose to be swallowed up by the democrats. John C. Luze, of Grant county, middle-of-the-road candidate for governor, was given a reception last night at Ruet's opera house, on the occasion of the first campaign speech this year. The speaker gave a full history of the Penneyer-democrat-populist fusion deal for spoils, showing that populist principles and voting strength were ignored by 32,000 populists versus receiving only one political office; while 15,000 democratic voters and the silver-republican vote took the remainder. He claimed that the Chicago promise to withdraw Sewall and endorse Watson was not kept, and that he intended to "destroy the people's party in 1896" were also employed at the recent Portland convention by Penneyer and his push. Mention of the name of H. E. Courtney for congress from the second district, nominated here yesterday by the regular people's party, elicited enthusiastic applause. This being the home of the fusion candidate for governor, the fact of an enthusiastic reception to Luze is noteworthy. Luze returned home today, to be present at the Grant county populist convention, April 23d.

DRAIN, April 23, 1898.

To My Friends:

I thank you very much for your devotion, as expressed in your requests both verbally and in writing, that I become an independent candidate for county assessor. I thought that I had settled that once and for ever, in last Republican convention. No, I owe the Republican Party, more gratitude than to do such a thing. I am a republican in principle, not for mere gain, I am in favor of a higher tariff, to protect our manufacturers and laborers. I favor a high local tax against the pauper element of Europe, Asia and Africa. Our country will fill up fast enough by natural causes. Let the hoards of Asia, return to Japan, China or any other country from which they came. We don't want slavery in any form in our beloved land. Give us a dollar, always, as now, that has a value of 100 cents. No I say again no independent candidate in mine, but stand by the old party that saved the county from ruin. The party that is the poor man's friend.

J. S. A. STERLING.

Yankee Fitz Lee.

"They say that I'm a Yankee; I have heard it many times, I have seen it in their papers, It is in their songs and rhymes, I'm the Yankee who's come down To steal the brightest jewel From the old Castilian crown.

"They say that I'm a Yankee; If I'd heard it in my youth, I might perhaps have questioned Its everlasting truth; But now, I glory in it, It's the land mark of my birth, And I'd rather be a Yankee Than anything on earth.

"They say that I'm a Yankee, And I'm glad to say I am; A Yankee of the Yankees, And the man ain't worth a well Who wouldn't be a Yankee When the Banner is unfurled That has made the Yankee Nation The greatest of the world?

"They say that I'm a Yankee; Virginians, can it be That history will mention The Yankee, Fitzhugh Lee? I hope so, and, Virginians, That now dear old Virginia Is loaded full of Yanks." —W. J. Lampton, in New York Sun.
