THE PENSION QUESTION AT THE SOLDIERS' HOME.

The policy which has been pursued by Gov. Lord in regard to the management of the pension question at the Oregon Soldiers' Home, has done more to render his administration unpopular than any other one thing. It may be said that he is not responsible for the acts of the board of trustees, but they are supposed to carry out a policy prescribed by him, and if they pursue a policy which is not approved by him he can remove them and appoint others who will conform to his ideas. Not only that, but all rules adopted by the board of trustees, must be approved by the governor before they become operative, and the rules which have been so generally condemned by the people of the state as unjust and inequitable, have the signature of the governor approving them. In order to properly understand this question it must be remembered that three classes of persons are admitted to the Oregon Soldiers' Home.

First, persons who have served in the army or navy of the United States during the late civil war.

Second, those who served in the army or navy of the United States during the war with Mexico.

Third, those persons who served in Indian wars of Oregon, Washington and Idaho.

Of the first two classes, a very large per cent draw a pension from the United States government, while none of the third class are pensioners, at least not unless they are included in one of the two first classes. On March 24, 1897, the board of trustees, then consisting of S. B. Ormsby, Sol. Abraham, B. F. Alley, T. R. Sheridan and J. P. Robertson, adopted rules 13 and 14, which have called forth from the members of the Grand Army of the Republic and their friends such violent criticism.

These rules are as follows: Rule 11. Any person admitted to the home shall surrender all his pension to the commandant, and, as provided in article 12, in these regulations, and, if the person so surrendering his pension has dependent relations, the money so surrendered shall be paid to such dependent relations by the commandant, excepting the sum of four dollars per month, and in case such person has no dependent relations, the excess of his pension over and above the sum of four dollars per month, shall be credited by the commandant to a fund for the support of the home, and shall be used for that purpose only.

Rule 13. In all cases where improper use is made of such allowance of pension money as provided for in rule 13, of the by-laws, leading to misconduct, or infractions of the home, the allowance so granted shall be withheld by the commandant.

These rules were approved by Governor Lord March 30, 1897. It will be seen that rule 14 makes the commandant the sole and absolute judge as to whether or not the conduct of the inmate is such as to justify his being deprived of the $4 per month allowed him under rule 13, but does not provide what disposition shall be made of it when it is withheld. Now let us take for an illustration the case of an inmate of the home who has no dependent relatives, and who draws a pension of $12 per month from the general government. These rules provide that the check for the quarters pension, amounting to the sum of $36, shall be delivered to the commandant and that if the inmate conducts himself in such a manner as to meet the approval of the commandant, he may draw the sum of $1 per month for his own use and that the remainder, amounting to the sum of $21 shall go to the support of the home. The United States government allows and pays to the trustees of the Home the sum of $100 per year for every pensioner who is cared for in the state Home. Thus the Home receives from the inmate on account of his pension $96 and from the government $100 or a total of $196. Now the report of the authorities of the Home for the year ending June 30, 1897 shows that the total cost of maintaining each inmate for the year amounted to the sum of $93.47, leaving a net balance in favor of the state of $102.57. The care of this man has not cost the state of Oregon one cent and he has in addition to paying his own way by his pension and the amount allowed the state for his support by the general government, been an investment for the state which has netted her the sum of $102.57. Now the question may be properly asked, What becomes of this money? The answer must be, either that it is used to pay salaries of officers or it is used to maintain the other inmates, who receive nothing from the general government, either in the way of pensions or for their support at the home.

In other words, the great state of Oregon is speculating on the blood and suffering of the men, who in the dark days of the great civil war, offered themselves as a sacrifice that their country might live. When the purport of these rules became known the indignation of the old soldiers and their friends was intense. The matter was taken up by Grand Army posts throughout the state, and an earnest effort was made to have the rules abrogated, but the trustees, evidently acting under instructions from Governor Lord refused to take any action in the matter. The state encampment of the G. A. R. took it up and passed the most extreme resolutions, condemning the rules and the enforcement of them, and S. B. Ormsby, appeared before the encampment, so we have been informed, and pledged himself to see that the obnoxious rules were abrogated, but he failed to keep his word in any respect. In the mean time Ormsby resigned and his place was taken by H. H. Northup.

The board as now constituted, consists of H. H. Northup, J. P. Robertson, Sol. Abraham, T. R. Sheridan and B. F. Alley. Of these men Alley and Abraham are republicans, Sheridan, a democrat and Robertson a populist. We are not informed as to the political tenets of Mr. Northup. Two years ago he was engaged in a conspiracy to defeat Mr. Ellis, the regular republican nominee for congress in the second district. We are informed, however, that he now claims to be a republican.

We have not referred to the legal effect of these rules for the reason that on the 28th day of April 1898, at the request of Governor Lord, Attorney-General Idleman gave his written opinion in regard to the legal phase of the question, which opinion was published in full on the first page of Monday's issue of this paper. On last Friday, May 6th, at the regular session of the board, Mr. Abraham, who states that he was induced to vote for the adoption of these rules under a misapprehension, offered the following resolution and moved its adoption, Mr. Sheridan seconding the motion:

Resolved, That the rules and regulations of the Oregon Soldiers' Home be corrected, and they are hereby amended as follows:

Rules, eleven, twelve, thirteen, fourteen, fifteen, and fifteen No. 2, as printed on pages 10, 11 and 12 of the by-laws and as amended March 30, 1897, to be expunged from said rules, to be replaced by the remaining rules be changed, in regular order, to take the places of those stricken out, and be it further

Resolved, That all monies heretofore collected under said rules be returned to the parties from whom taken, as far as practicable.

On the roll being called on the question of the adoption of these resolutions, Mr. Abraham and Mr. Sheridan voted aye and Mr. Northup and Mr. Robertson voted no. Mr. Alley being absent the resolutions did not pass and the rules which permit and require that old, crippled, blind and decrepit veterans of the civil war, who are lingering yet for a few days on this side of the river, in the dim twilight of the evening of life, shall have taken from them the little pittance, which the richest and most prosperous nation on the globe does out to them, to assist in rendering comfortable for them the few remaining days of their lives. Shame on a governor who permits such a policy to be carried out. Shame on those members of the board of trustees who voted on last Friday to perpetuate such a policy, and all honor to trustees Abraham and Sheridan, who had the courage to vote to wipe the disgrace from the good name of the state.

In justice to Mr. Sheridan we wish to say that we understand that he has always opposed the rules. Personally we do not know what the attitude of Commandant Byars has been in regard to this question. It has been charged that he advised the adoption of these rules, and that he has used his personal influence to prevent their repeal. If this is true, he should receive the just condemnation of every loyal citizen of the state. If it is not true he should, as has Mr. Abraham and Mr. Sheridan, put himself on record as opposed to the rules. The editor of this paper has taken an active part in the fight for the repeal of these rules, but has refrained from referring to the matter in the paper for the reason that we understood that a majority of the board were pledged to vote to repeal the rules at the meeting of the board just closed. From this on we propose to make the fight as hot as we know how, being influenced by neither fear or favor, until it is determined whether the inmate of the Oregon soldiers' home is a hero or a mendicant.

WAS KING AN A. P. A.?

Certain republican gold standard advocates are charging Will R. King, union candidate for governor, with being an A. P. A. This is a lie pure and simple as Mr. King is not and never has been a member of the A. P. A. This information comes to the Review direct from Baker City, where the candidate for governor resides, and is vouched for by the strongest opponents of the A. P. A. in that city.—Roseburg Review.

The Evening Republican, in answer to some questions asked by the valley papers, stated that Mr. King was a member of the A. P. A. lodge in Baker City, and was an active member of the order. We can also state that Mr. King held an important office in the A. P. A. council here, was a member of the Advisory committee, which steers the voting, and in making up his list of candidates to be voted for, his directions were that the members in Baker county should vote for the entire populist ticket. He refused when the matter came up in the council, to allow any member the privilege of voting for a republican or democratic candidate on the ticket. Mr. King was one of the founders of the council of Baker City, and it is safe to say that he visited nearly every council in Baker county and advocated just what he advocated here.

The Evening Republican is in no way interested in this matter, does not care whether Mr. King is an A. P. A. or a Catholic, because we accord to every man the right to his political and religious beliefs, but we do not propose to allow Mr. King or his friends to do any double dealing for an office. To deny that he is an A. P. A. where he thinks it will injure his election in the Willamette valley, and work with the council where he thinks it will benefit his political aspirations, is something we will not allow Mr. King or his friends to get away with without exposure.

The Roseburg Review always has been the most bitter opponent of the A. P. A. order. Its editorial columns have been replete with scathing articles against the institution, and it made a straight fight against the order in Douglas county, and all the candidates running on the A. P. A. tickets, and now to make its previous record regarding the A. P. A. consistent, it denies that King is an A. P. A., and states its "information" comes direct from Baker City where the candidate for governor resides.

We challenge the Review to print any name or names of people residing here who gave that information. Notwithstanding our respect for the Review we believe the statement they made a fabrication pure and simple.

Since this question has come up by Mr. King and his friends, we demand of Mr. King to stand up on his legs like a man and deny or affirm this report if he is or has been an A. P. A.

The Republican has no objections to Mr. King being an A. P. A., but it enters a protest to his going before the people of this state betraying them into the belief that he is not an A. P. A. where it will further his political ends. He shall not turn traitor to the people at large as he did in his political party, his friends and the A. P. A. councils of Baker county. He is supported by an editor of a paper in this city who is a Catholic. King has written political articles for that paper, and is now leaving the lead of his support to that journal. He may fuse politically if he wants to, but he shall not betray the A. P. A.'s into the belief that he is for them when he is not.

The Republican announces fearlessly and boldly that King joined the A. P. A. council in Baker City; that he was appointed a member of the advisory committee to direct the voting of members, and he reported in favor of supporting the entire populist ticket, notwithstanding there were members of the A. P. A. order running as democrats and republicans. We challenge him to deny this if he dares, and if he does, we will prove it beyond a question of doubt, and we have the evidence at hand to substantiate it.

POPULIST BIG GUNS.

W. R. King, of Baker county, fusion nominee for governor, and J. R. Sovereign, of Arkansas, high-cock-a-lorum of the Ancient Order of Mohawks, and agitator general of the United States, were here yesterday, and spoke twice at the court house. The writer attended the evening meeting expecting to here something new on the money question. Mr. King spoke briefly. He is not a great speaker and knew it. Mr. Sovereign spoke at some length. He is a good talker, but in his last night's address he did not offer a single argument in favor of the free and unlimited coinage of silver, not one. His speech was smooth and entertaining, but what did he say? Gold was cruel, merciless; he was in favor of silver because some other people was opposed to it. Because the Pennsylvania sheriff who fired upon the Hunnamer miners was a gold standard man, Sovereign was for silver. Because the judge who issued injunctions to protect life and property were gold standard advocates Mr. Sovereign was for silver. He was on the side of the yellow dog, he said, and probably told the truth. For a man of national reputation Mr. Sovereign was a disappointment and enthusiasm was conspicuous by its absence.

One of the most disgraceful and unscrupulous fights that was ever made on an honorable and upright citizen, was that made on D. B. Shambrook, two years ago by the Review gang of slanderers and blackmailers. Every device that devilish ingenuity could devise was practiced, in order to defeat him for sheriff. He was cartooned in the Review as cowering behind a log, in subject fear, which Sam Brown lamped by, with the shadow of a foundation for such an imputation. He was lied upon, slandered and vilified in a manner which, in the light of subsequent events, makes honest men shudder. Now what do we see when the call was made for volunteers, to defend the nation, D. B. Shambrook, was one of the first to respond. The call found him in the grocery business, in this city, with a paying business and the confidence of everyone. And yet he gave up his business, left his family, and enlisting in the ranks, and is today on his way to the far off Philippines. Where are his traducers? How many of them have enlisted? Not one. They are not built that way, not by a jug full. They are at the same old stand, ready to open their batteries on other good citizens who do not bow the knee at their dictation.

FISHER HAS A SPELL.

Fisher, of the Review, has another spell of the "gripes." He is subject to such attacks. They are periodical with him. He has them every fall and change of the moon. This one was caused by the fact that there has been hung out in front of the republican headquarters in this city a banner bearing a portrait of Wm. McKinley. Now if there is anything that will give one of the average fusion pie-hunters a pain in the stomach, it is a portrait of Wm. McKinley. Another thing which makes him squirm, is the fact that Mr. M. McCoy, an old veteran of the civil war, is in charge of the republican headquarters. This almost throws "Fusion Charley" into fits. Of course he does not dare allude to Mr. McCoy in a disrespectful manner, so, notwithstanding the fact that everybody who has taken the trouble to inquire knows just who is in charge of the rooms, he tries, by misrepresentation, to create a different impression on the minds of the people. We might have referred to the fact that the fusion headquarters are provided over by Mr. R. M. Conkling, a well-known A. P. A. worker of this city, and Dr. Murphy, a well-known member of the Catholic church, one a populist and the other a democrat, but we did not for the reason that both of these men are well-known citizens, each of whom is highly esteemed by his friends. Besides it was none of our business. It was a wise move on the part of the fusion managers, whose intention, no doubt, was to "catch 'em both going and a-coming." So far as the little fling at the editor of this paper is concerned, we care nothing for it. We have so far refrained from any personal retaliation for the slurs which have frequently been found in that paper directed against us. We have three reasons for this. In the first place we are by nature desirous to live in peace and comity with all men. Second, it has been proven long ago that "it is a waste of labor to shave an ass." The third is the fact, well-known to his friends, that the editor of the Review has never fully recovered from the effects of a severe chastisement which was inflicted on him about a year ago by an irate citizen, in regard to whom he had published a scurrilous article. We want to say, however, that unless these personal flings at us shall stop within a reasonable time, patience will cease to be a virtue long enough for us to get back in a way that will be, at least, suggestive of our opinion of the editor of that paper. Why can't he be decent?

OFF TO THE PHILIPPINES.

Oregon probably furnished the first battalion of volunteers who have left their state going directly to the seat of actual war. Companies A, B, C and D, constituting the first battalion of the Second Regiment of Oregon Volunteers, under the command of Major C. U. Gantebeau of Portland, passed through this city on the first section of the overland at 3:45 this morning, the train being more than an hour late.

These companies are composed of the volunteers from Portland, La Grande, McMinnville, Eugene, Roseburg and Astoria, and the Roseburg boys being members of Company B. Notwithstanding the unfavorable hour, hundreds of our citizens congregated at the depot to say "good bye" to "our boys." The good women of the city under the leadership of the Women's Relief Corps, God bless them, were out in force with refreshments by the wagon load. The band boys were out to furnish music and the veterans from the Soldier's home were present with a battery of artillery. As the train pulled into the yards, the stillness of the gray dawn was broken by the boom of cannons, the strains of martial music and the cheers of the assembled citizens. When the train pulled up to the platform, the Roseburg boys hurried out to greet their friends.

A short time was given for hand shakes, and good bye. The occasion was far more impressive and affecting than the one a few days ago when the boys started to Portland. Then they were members of the National Guard of the State. Now they were soldiers in the army of the United States, leaving their native land to uphold the honor of the flag against a foreign foe.

It meant the separation of husband and wife, father and children, brothers and sisters, and of young people in whose hearts there was a feeling akin to no other sentiment which can be felt by the sons and daughters of men—that of young lovers, whose feelings and emotions had begun to blend into the state which makes two hearts beat as one.

But the last goodbye was said. His injunction to remember father, mother, sister, lover, was delivered. A silent petition went up to the God of battles to care for the loved ones, and amid the booming of cannon and the music of the band, Roseburg's spot of the "Army of Invasion" was off for the Philippines, loaded with flowers and decked with garlands.

A LITTLE SUFFERER

Face, Hands and Arms Covered With Scrofulous Humors—How a Cure Was Effectuated.

"When five years old my little boy had scrofula on his face, hands and arms. It was worst on his chin, although the sores on his cheeks and hands were very bad. It appeared in the form of red pimples which would fester, break open and run and then scab over. After disappearing they would break out again. They caused intense itching and the little sufferer had to be watched continually to keep him from scratching the sores. We became greatly alarmed at his condition. My wife's mother had had scrofula and the only medicine which had helped her was Hood's Sarsaparilla. We decided to give it to our boy and we noted an improvement in his case very soon. After giving him four bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla the humor had all been driven out of his blood and it has never since returned." WILLIAM BARTZ, 416 South Williams St., South Bend, Indiana.
