T. T. GEER AT DRAIN.
Says the Farmers Are Not to Be Fooled by Fusionists.

Hon. T. T. Geer, republican candidate for governor, in his address at Drain Thursday evening, said in part:
"In your extreme desire to make us appear odious, you call us 'gold-bugs.' All right; so far, so good; but if you link us to be thus easily put down, you are mistaken, for we proceed to make faces along the same line, and get even by retorting, 'silver-bug!' Indeed, we have more than got even, for we have called you a name that is 16 times worse than you have called us, and that by your own admission.

"The present secretary of state, who declares it to be nobody's business how he voted in 1896, and who has just issued a biographical laudation at 15 cents a laundation, says his party favors 'the coinage of silver on an equality with gold,' and then proceeds to declare in favor of a ratio that discriminates against silver 16 times over.

"There never has been any 'equality' between silver and gold, either in price or weight since the ratio of 1 to 1 was departed from; such 'equality' has not existed for thousands of years. There is nothing 'equal' in a law that requires 16 times as much silver to be put into a silver dollar as gold in a gold dollar, unless you admit that, when you accept any ratio at all you must accept one that recognizes relative value of the two metals, ounce for ounce. But you do not do this; from your highest to your lowest oracles you declare that the law gives money all the value it has, and you then declare in favor of gold, as against silver 16 times over. If you believe that money gets its sole value from the law, why don't you ask for one that gives silver an 'equal' chance with gold, sure enough? In other words, don't you know that when you clamor for the ratio of 16 to 1, you recognize some superior force, something above the law?
Now this is a fact, that the law never created the ratio of 16 to 1, nor any other ratio; it simply recognized it as an already existing fact. Here is where all silver men, from the gentlemen from Mexico, Mr. Bryan, down, get the cart before the horse, and become swamped in a hopeless confusion of slaking sand.

"All silver men contend that if our minds were thrown wide open to silver at the ratio of 16 to 1, the price of silver would at once again reach $1.29 an ounce, thus plainly declaring their belief that the price is fixed by the ratio, when, in fact, as everybody should know, the ratio in all ages has been fixed by the price; indeed, the ratio has never been anything but an expression of the relative price of the two metals. Now, since there can be no rational attempt to gainsay this proposition, it is easily understood that no 'fixed' ratio can ever be 'fixed,' for the reason that no fixed price for silver can be fixed. Indeed, there is nothing with the whole subject that is fixed except the notion in some men's heads that the ratio of 16 to 1 came directly from the hand of God, and that the first chapter of Genesis should be revised so as to read: 'In the beginning God created the heavens, then the ratio of 16 to 1, and afterwards the earth.

"But this plank was put into the fusionist platform to catch discontented voters, who are not populists. You talk to a populist about the free coinage plank, and he will say: 'Oh, you forget the plank which declares for money to be issued directly to the people.
They are not only in favor of a 'flexible' currency; but are decidedly partial to a flexible platform; the populist finds his comfort in the flexible plank, and the silver man anchors his restless soul on the declaration for 16 to 1. You catch the silver man on his favorite plank, and he tells you he is Dr. Jekyll himself; but it is no uncommon thing to find him hobnobbing with the 'flexible' plank with a populist, at which time he bears a wonderful resemblance to a veritable monetary Mr. Hyde.

THE FARMERS TO BE FOOLED.
"But these fantastic pranks before high heaven do not serve to fool the farmers any longer. The only reason ever given for clamoring for the reopening of the mints to free coinage of silver and the 'issuing' of 'flexible' money directly to the people was as a remedy for 'falling prices'; but there are no falling prices now; none anywhere. All the staple products of Oregon farmers have risen in price during the past two years from 50 to 200 per cent; so one will deny it. But when we dare to rejoice over the improved condition of the country and point to the increased price of wheat as one of the many evidences of our claims, you always retort by saying the populist position that prices are made by the amount in circulation is still maintained by your claim that the doubled price of wheat is due to the 'famine in India.' But just how the 'famine in India' could nearly double the price of wheat, increase the price of sheep 300 per cent, and more, place the price of cattle absolutely out of sight, and put the price of nearly every other farm product on a paying basis, would puzzle the ingenuity even of a populist.
But we will accept the famine-in-India theory, I know very well that during the period of low prices we republicans tried to make you see the fact that low prices were caused by an oversupply of the articles affected, but you gave us no hearing, scolding the claim altogether, and contended before the people of Oregon everywhere that prices were low because there was such a contraction of the currency that prices had to be low as a consequence. This hilltop and valley resounded with the populist cry that prices are made by the amount of money in circulation, and that prices would continue low until the 'money of the constitution' was restored.

"You know there is nothing provoked a fusionist so much—even a fusionist farmer—as to get a higher price for a farm product this year than he got for the same product last year; so—in his frenzy to explain the rise in wheat wheat unwittingly shouts 'Famine in India!' But the silvering fusionist who takes refuge behind the 'famine-in-India' plea simply says in the very plainest of English words that the supply of wheat makes the price, after all. This has always been the republican position, and every time a populist brother comes at me with a reference to the famine in India, I extend him both my hands, as he steps upon one of the broadest planks of the republican platform. And this has all happened under the gold standard.

"Now, since 'falling prices'—the only reason given even by yourselves for being born as a party—has been removed, why not voluntarily disband, vote the republican ticket and help us maintain the improved condition which is now blessing our beloved country?

BIMETALLISM.
"Your cry for 'bimetallism' no longer fools anybody. The law you are demanding would never give bimetallism and never did. A law that does not insure the concurrent circulation of both gold and silver coins among the common people is not the law I want, because I want in a bimetallism that will mean something. When I look at Mexico and see that, under a free-coinage law, not any gold whatever circulates, then I know that my kind of bimetallism does not prevail there, and the same condition is seen in all free-coinage countries the world over. A bimetallism that stops at the mints and never reaches the common people may suit our fusionist friends, but it is not the kind that will help us sur any other man who belongs to the 'plain people' class of our citizens.

"There is not a gold-standard country anywhere that does not use nearly or quite as much silver as gold. This fact is not denied by anybody, so there is nothing for my friend of practical bimetallism to do but to support the only system which produces it. A thousand theories can be exploded by one stubborn fact, and this fact remains undisputed, that the law you are asking for never produces the system you want, so we are opposed to your law. I would rather have the system we want, without the law, than to have the law you want, without the system. In other words, I would rather be practical than visionary.
Neither does your allegation that our financial system is copied from England any longer serve to frighten people. It would mean nothing, even if it were true, which it is not. Many good things have come to us from England; the very language we use in our denomination of 'goldbug' comes from England, and every fusionist in Oregon ought to be ashamed of himself for not employing in this patriotic pastime our purely American Chinook, and prove his independence of the 'British yoke.' There is no word in any language on earth, and never will be, that is half so expressive as the purely American word 'cutlets,' and just how any silver man can refuse to use it and employ in its stead such a distinctly English word as 'plutocrat' and afterward look the Stars and Stripes in the face, is beyond comprehension.

"If it should ever become necessary to look to a foreign country for a financial system to copy from, I would prefer to go to our mother country, with her intelligence and commercial civilization, than to Mexico, with her half-civilization and 45 per capita money circulation."

There is no message which brings more gladness to a true woman's heart than the sweet assurance that a little one is coming to bless her life and call her "Mother."
But in all her loving preparations for the expected little guest, a mother is liable to forget that her own health and physical condition is the most important provision which can possibly be made for the baby's happiness.
If the prospective mother is weak, nervous and anxious, this condition is bound to react on the baby's constitution. No dangerousness of wardrobe will compensate for the loss of the natural, healthy vigor which a mother should bestow upon her baby.

As early as possible during pregnation, the expectant mother should reinforce her bringing influence of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.
It gives natural, healthy vigor and elastic endurance to the organs specially concerned in motherhood. It makes the coming of baby perfectly safe and almost painless. It gives nerve-strength to the mother and vital hardihood to the child.
It is the only medicine devised by an educated physician specially to overcome all weaknesses and diseases of the feminine organs.

Mrs. Roscoe Vanover, of Robinson Creek, Pike Co., Ky., writes: "I have received from your 'Favorite Prescription.' I have used it at different times for the last five years, and always with the most gratifying results. But the greatest good received from the 'Favorite Prescription' was about four months ago when my last baby was born. I was afflicted with 'chill-bill fever.' Instead of sending after a doctor I used the 'Prescription' and was cured. A lady friend of mine was similarly afflicted and sent after the doctor and took his remedies and died. I am 27 years old, weigh 125 pounds, the mother of five children, and am enjoying the best of health." pation, promptly and permanently.
