I suffered from catarrh of the worst kind cure, but Ely's Cream Balm seems to do even that. Many acquaintances have used it with excellent results.—Oscar Graham,

HON. THOMAS H. TONGUE.
Republican nominee for Congress, First District.

SPEECH OF HON. THOMAS H. TONGUE

Delivered in the House of Representatives, May 19th, 1898, in answer to an anonymous circular which has been circulated in this district, attacking his record as a member of congress.

QUESTIONS OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.
Mr. TONGUE. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. TONGUE. Mr. Speaker, I hold in my hand a circular, without signature, without the imprint of the printer, claiming to be certified from the Congressional Record, circulated extensively in the State of Oregon, intended to affect the election which takes place there two weeks from next Monday. It purports to give a statement of my actions and votes upon various measures before congress, and citing the pages of the Record to substantiate the statement.
There is not in this circular a single truth stated in a truthful way. Three-quarters of it is absolutely untrue and without foundation.

I find the circular has been forwarded under the authority of a committee that is composed wholly of members of the United States Senate and members of this House. It is forwarded under the authority of a committee that calls itself a democratic congressional committee.
That committee is presided over by Senator White as chairman, and its vice-chairman is Mr. Osborne, a member of this House. It has for its executive committee four senators, eight representatives, and one delegate, and the chairman of this executive committee is the distinguished senator from Arkansas, who is also the chairman of the national committee.

This, Mr. Speaker, is the committee that has circulated in my district an anonymous slander upon my persona and official record and falsifying the records of this congress. I desire briefly to call the attention of this House to some of these statements. I want to deny them here, where the records can be produced, and where my statements can be contradicted if they are not true.

The first charge is that during this entire session of congress, covering about nine months, I have been absent or failed to respond to twenty-six roll calls. Now, I have not taken the pains to verify this statement. The charge is that I have failed to do my duty or have dodged my responsibility as a member. I want simply to say that every member of this House knows how these roll calls are sometimes made. I have a minute on one occasion when there were seven divisions and seven roll calls in one afternoon. It was at a time when the gentleman from Texas (Mr. Bailey) was not desiring to do business, and he called for these divisions and roll calls when on four votes there were less than five members voting in the negative.

I have not missed an important session of this House nor a vote upon an important question when it was possible to be present, and believe my attendance will compare favorably with that of any member of the House.

Another charge is this:
True to his English instincts, he voted to allow pelagic sealing in the waters of the Pacific, thereby continuing the destruction of the seals.

So far as that matter is concerned, I want to say what every member of the House knows that under the decision of the Paris Tribunal citizens of every country on earth have the right to fish for seals in the open sea. The bill introduced in congress undertook to preclude American citizens from enjoying the precise privileges enjoyed by the citizens of Canada; and one of the members of this committee in voting against this bill denounced it because of that fact; and most of the committee, I think, voted against excluding an American citizen from privileges enjoyed by all the world.

Another charge is:
He voted on January 11, 1898, to cut off debate and to railroad through a bill under consideration involving $21,962,425-65. (See Record, page 356.)

This is an absolute, unqualified misrepresentation. The bill referred to was a bill providing appropriations for legislative, executive, and judicial expenses.
It was a bill involving very little controversy; yet having been introduced on the 14th of December, it was debated on every legislative day from that time until the 11th of January. At that time I voted at the opening of the session to terminate debate at 5 o'clock that evening.
Yet a bill that was under discussion longer than any other bill that has been under discussion in this House this session I am charged with "railroading through." I am further charged with having Voted to make the producers and miners of gold in Oregon pay the cost of transportation to the mints from the assay offices thereby putting an additional burden on an important industry of his State.

I had work to do, and have had work to do, outside of my duties in connection with the sessions of the House of Representatives. I have been necessarily compelled to go to the various departments of the Government to look after matters there in which my constituents were interested. I may state in passing that I have secured over 100 pensions in my district, something like 40 new postoffices, and increased mail facilities in 20 different localities. I have visited the War Department many times to urge prosecution and completion of needed public improvements. It is important that a member who performs the duties he ought to perform for the benefit of his constituents should attend to those outside matters as well as to his duties in Congress.

It is further alleged that I voted in favor of "paying United States bonds in gold, thus adding to the profits of the bondholders and increasing the burdens of those engaged in agriculture and every other producing interest." This is not true in any sense of the word.
There has never been a measure introduced here to pay United States bonds in gold. They are not paying them in gold to-day. Out of the payments during the last year by the Treasury of the United States, including every dollar paid upon United States bonds, amounting to something like $217,000,000 paid through the Treasury, the subtreasuries, and the clearing house in New York, less than $1,000,000 was paid in gold, and $37,000,000 of interest paid upon bonds was included in the sums thus paid. In these payments more than six dollars was paid in silver and silver certificates to every dollar in gold.

I say, therefore, that that statement is absolutely and unqualifiedly without foundation.

It is further alleged that I "dodged the vote" when the bankruptcy bill was under consideration in the House, a bill "which would give relief to hundreds of debtors in his own State" and throughout the country. That is absolutely untrue also. The very page of the Record to which reference is made here contradicts the story and shows its falsity.
I voted with the gentleman from Arkansas (Mr. Terry) to recommit the bill with instructions, and I also voted on the passage of the bill.

And this bill, if it was supposed to give so much relief, as it is alleged that it would, ought to have met at least the concurrence of the committee. It was passed almost exclusively by republican votes, I believe, the democrats and populists as a rule voting against it. And if the relief to be afforded by the bill is so important, the committee itself was resistant to its duty, because only one member voted for it. The leader of both parties on that side of the house opposed it and voted against it upon its final passage.

I am charged with voting for a measure tending to injure and limit the circulation of country newspapers.

That is absolutely unfounded. I take some interest in the country newspapers, and it would certainly be the farthest from my motives to vote to injure them.
I presume this alludes to the Loud bill.
I voted for it. It was a good bill. I believed it was then; I believe so now. I believe the House made a mistake in not passing it.

So far as injury to the country newspaper is concerned it would have helped them instead of injuring them. These advertising sheets that are now published under the name of newspapers and sent out under the same rate of postage as legitimate newspapers, are destroying the advertising business of country newspapers. The cheap litera-

There is no message which brings more gladness to a true woman's heart than the sweet assurance that a little one is coming to bless her life and call her "Mother."
But in all her loving preparations for the expected little guest, a mother is liable to forget that her own health and physical condition is the most important provision which can possibly be made for the baby's happiness.

If the prospective mother is weak, nervous and anxious, this condition is bound to react on the baby's constitution. No daintiness of wardrobe will compensate for the loss of the natural, healthy vigor which a mother should bestow upon her baby.

As early as possible during gestation, the expectant mother should reinforce her bodily powers with the sustaining, health-bringing influence of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

It gives natural, healthy vigor and elastic endurance to the organs specially concerned in motherhood. It makes the coming of baby perfectly safe and almost painless. It gives nerve-strength to the mother and vital hardiness to the child.
