IT WAS A MIGHTY FEAST.

Hospitality of Honolulu to Three Thousand Boys in Blue.

The luncheon given to the soldier boys yesterday will live long in their memories. It was the most magnificent in the history of the city. Never in the history of this city has such a display of good feeling been shown as the reception tendered the boys in blue.

The ladies who had charge of the feast have everything to be proud of in the way it was conducted, and had it not been for them the dinner would have been a sorry affair indeed. The help they expected did not materialize and the ladies themselves had to clear off the tables and wash the dishes.

The day began when the soldiers arrived at the grounds about 11:30, from when the feast was in progress and kept up till 5:30. During the whole time there was music either by the Government band or the California band. Special mention must be made of the songs by the Kamehameha boys which were eagerly listened to and loudly applauded by the visitors.

The boys by their orderly behavior and gentlemanly bearing have made a name for themselves in the town, and the islands have 3000 missionaries who will work for them with the object of annexation.

All day long the rooms of the House of Representatives and the Senate in the Executive building were crowded with men writing letters home. Those who could not find room at the desks and tables were stretched out on the floor of the main writing.

Many of the men after a ride to Waikiki came back to the grounds to eat again. Nearly everyone of them could be seen carrying either a coconut, a pineapple or some other fruit on their way back to the ships. On their arrival at the boats they were ordered to throw away what they had. They did so but they threw it all on the docks of the vessels, where it was eagerly snatched up by companions and secreted.

So ended the day. The committee of ladies were tired but gratified.—Evening Bulletin, Honolulu.

Honolulu Turned Over to the Boys in Blue.

Last Sunday forenoon the cruiser Charleston came into this port, from San Francisco. There could be no doubt that her welcome was a hearty one, as it was boisterous. The coarse-throated whistle of the Electric Light Works announced the sighting of the warship about the time devout people were on their way to church. Then there was a rush for the waterfront, and as many of the reception committee of one hundred as got there in half an hour, went out on the island steamer W. G. Hall to meet the cruiser. Whistles were blown, flags were flown, and the newspaper editors breaking away from custom and restraint, issued special editions Sunday afternoon, giving the latest war news brought by the Charleston.

Wednesday afternoon, late, the transport steamer Australia, City of Peking and City of Sydney arrived at Honolulu. It seems as though the entire populace was at the docks to welcome the ships and the nearly 3000 troops they carried. In brief, so hearty has been the welcome to the boys in blue, that the entire town was theirs for the time being. Street cars, hacks, bicycles, soda water, fruit, and anything and everything in the way of refreshments has been freely given to the boys without price. Yesterday they were feasted at the palace grounds, by the committee having that of the entertainment in charge. They could ask no warmer reception—the town has been theirs.

A startling report got out yesterday that a half-Spanish volunteer on the Peleing was caught laying a fuse to the ship's magazine, in which is 400 tons of ammunition. In the evening, however, the report was declared by several of the military men to be a hoax. If true the culprit will probably be shot or hanged as soon as the ship gets well to sea.—Evening Bulletin, Honolulu.

DIED.

DAVENPORT.—At his home in Roseburg, Oregon, June 22nd, 1898, Jesse L. Davenport, aged 66 years, 3 months and 4 days.

Three brothers and sisters still survive him. Mr. Davenport, was one of the pioneers of Douglas county, having crossed the plains from Indiana to Oregon in 1852. He served in the Indian wars of 1853-56, in the Rogue River country, as a member of Co. A. 2nd Regt. Or. volunteers.

MARRIED.

HILL-McKEAN.—At the residence of Mr. and Mrs. L. Weatherford, at the corner of Third and Washington streets in Portland, on June 17, 1898, L. R. Hill, of California, and Miss McKean of Roseburg, Rev. G. W. Gue of the Methodist church, officiating.

Born.

To Mr. and C. W. Ballard in this city, June 25, a daughter.

Oakland News.

From The Oakland Gazette.

The Rev. J. E. Blair of Myrtle Point, is now pastor of the Oakland Presbyterian church.

Dr. C. P. DeVore, formerly of Oakland, but now of California, passed through Oakland Monday with his family en route for Yoncalla.

Prof. James Young, long and favorably known to our people, who returned to his native Scotland about one year ago, arrived in Oakland Wednesday morning. The Professor looks natural and is warmly welcomed by the people of Oakland and vicinity.

C. N. Thompson on Monday shipped 30 carloads of cattle to Chicago, the shipment being gathered at Roseburg, Oakland, Eugene, Albany and Junction City.

As a discoverer of bee trees James Sherley carries the banner. He has discovered five thus far this season and is on the trail of several more. Jim will have a sweet time this fall.

On Wednesday morning a little three-year-old daughter of Scott Henry, caught the fourth finger of her right hand in the cogs of a clothes wringer terribly lacerating the flesh. Dr. Page attended the injured child, and hopes to be able to save the finger.

On last Thursday while cutting wood Thomas Heartstock had the misfortune to drive the axe deep into his right foot. Dr. Page attended but Tom will not be able to go to war for some time.

On Wednesday morning as Henry Castor of Rice Hill was about to go to work on the road, and as a shovel was being handed him while upon a horse the animal reared throwing Mr. Castor, and falling upon him broke his thigh. Doctors Page and Gilmore reduced the fracture and left their patient at 12 o'clock Wednesday as comfortably as could be expected under the circumstances.

H. J. Powers, an expert mining man has been viewing the Bohemia mines and is well pleased with them. He intends while here to thoroughly examine the district and his report will carry great weight as he is employed by one of the largest mining syndicates in the world and he is one of the best mining experts in the United States.—Cottage Grove Messenger.

On Wednesday morning while Marcus Leeper, residing near Rice Hill, was near a gate with his team, the animals became unmanageable and started to run, when Mr. Leeper jumped from the wagon, and falling dislocated his right shoulder. Mr. Leeper came to town where his injuries were attended by Dr. Page. The injury is painful and some time will elapse before the injured man will have the full use of his arm.

On election day P. B. Beckley, Fon Smith, Al Dear and J. V. Kibbler, all warm personal friends of Judge Stearns, but his political opponents, agreed, in the event of the Judge's defeat, to move him to Oakland. The Judge went down with the balance of the county ticket and a few days after the election notified the above gentlemen that he was ready to migrate. On last Monday, true to their promise, the teams of P. B. Beckley, Fon Smith and Al Dear proceeded to Roseburg and on Monday evening attended the Judge and his family in their beautiful Oakland home. The team of J. V. Kibbler was not in condition to go on the road Monday, but wishing to fulfill his part of the contract hired a team in Roseburg at personal cost. The Judge will remain in Roseburg until the first, when he will return to Oakland where he has large business interests.

A Tribute to the West.

In a speech delivered in the House of Representatives, on June 15th, 1898, in favor of the resolution for the Annexation of Hawaii, Hon. Thos. H. Tongue paid the following tribute to the West:

There is another subject to which I desire to call attention for a moment. I have said that the development of this nation has scarcely begun, that her enterprise are but in their infancy. The possibilities for enormous expansion lie in the West, and provisions should be made for expanding industries and increasing productions sure to come.

The people of East know little of either the possibilities, the resources, or the people of the West. The fertility of our soil, the wealth of our forests, the extent of our domain, the enterprise and intelligence of our people are not known in the East. Our boundless prairies, our magnificent forests, our vast mineral wealth, the healthfulness and salubrity of our climate escape your notice. Our people are but little better understood.

The pioneer men and women who settled the West were strong and rugged in health as in character, full of energy, courageous in enterprise, thoughtful, and ambitious.

The people of the West are bound but little by ancient prejudices. They look little to the past; rather to the present and the future. They prefer yourself to your ancestry. They care little for what you have been or what you possess, but much for what you are and what you can do. In the West honest work has never ceased to be honorable. With her rugged people the sweat of labor is a singly crown. Wealth and position earned by honest toil and laudable endeavor are esteemed more than those acquired by the toil and effort of others.

As in the coming century the great development of the Old World will be on the eastern shores of Asia, so the greater growth and development of the New World will be on the shores of the Pacific.

It will be in a country of magnificent scenery, where the tourist and the scientist find perpetual delight; where the husbandman never cultivates the soil or tends his flocks in vain; where snow-capped mountains surpass the eagle in its flight; where the wealth of forests is inexhaustible, and the valleys exceed in richness the golden sands of Africa; where neither the strength nor energy of man or beauty of woman is destroyed by winter's chilly blasts or the fierce heat of summer suns; where cyclones and earthquakes alike are unknown; where no lingering fevers wear out the life; where men are brave and strong and maidens fair, and all are instinct with life and health and happiness; where every breeze colors the cheek, nerves the arm, and clears the brain.

It is there, Mr. Speaker, where in future years will be the center of wealth and commerce and power of this Government. As the Old World energies are developing and expanding in Asia, as new avenues of trade and commerce are opened up there, and, as in our own land, "westward the star of empire takes its way," the Pacific Ocean will rival the Atlantic in these ships that plow its waters.

The white wings of commerce to the west of us will equal those to the east.

Great ports, where our immense productive interests find their outlet, great ports of export, will be not only on the Atlantic, but on the Pacific. They will be at San Francisco and at Portland and Tacoma and Seattle. We must have room to expand and develop our energies and a market for our productions.

The Hawaiian Islands must not be in the possession of commercial rivals or powerful enemies. Our opportunities have come now. This is the "tide in the affairs" of our nation which, "if taken at its flood, will lead to fortune" and fame and wealth and commercial power.

We must not let the opportunity slip by us. We must seize it and improve it before it is too late. In every harbor of the Philippine Islands, in every port of Hawaii, upon the battleships of Puerto Rico, and upon vast fleets of commercial ships that traverse the waters of the Pacific, and through a Nicaragua Canal, to be constructed by this Government, must and, as I believe, will float in triumph the flag for which Dewey conquered, for which Hobson faced a Spanish dungeon, and for which Bagley sleeps in a hero's grave.

The O. N. G.

The Oregon National Guard will be reorganized and placed on a war footing at once.

Orders to that effect were issued yesterday by Adjutant-General Tuttle by direction of the commander-in-chief. The orders are as follows:

"The Oregon National Guard, pursuant to G. O. No. 13 c. s., this office, consists of four independent organizations, as follows:

"Battery A, troop C, and separate company A and K.

The reorganization of the Oregon National Guard, as authorized by the military board, contemplates for the infantry organization, to consist of three battalions, each of four companies, the companies to have a minimum enlisted strength of 50 and a maximum of 72 in peace, and in war a maximum of 100 or such number as may be prescribed by the war department for the volunteer army, to be designated Third regiment, Oregon National Guard.

"One battalion will be organized in each military district, that is, one in Eastern Oregon, one in the Willamette Valley and one at Portland.

"The organization contemplates a practical military one, based on the requirements or actual war, as regards physical qualifications, etc., that the organization may be available as a whole for muster into the service of the United States.

"On account of the expense relative to equipping companies with the necessary lockers, gunnaries, targets, desks, etc., places where companies were located prior to the consolidation to form the Second Oregon volunteers, having these articles, will be given preference in accepting new companies in the reorganization."

The orders were received by Brigadier-General Beebe yesterday, and that officer will attend to them without delay. In discussing the plan of reorganization, the general said that only good men would be accepted and, once formed, the Guard would maintain its old standard of training and discipline.
