JUNE 30, 1898.

There will be no PLAINEALER issued next Monday, July Fourth. The editor has skipped out for the mountains and the printers are going to celebrate.

Dewey is a doer, he is doing up the dons

Sampson is pulling down the pillars of the Spanish temple.

The Spaniards find that the Yankee "pig" is rooting up their garden sars.

The republicans have lost the count but have gained the state—glory enough for one campaign.

The Anglo Saxon race is destined to rule the world because it has inherited the true elements of progress.

Spain has been on a decline ever since the destruction of her Armada by Howard, Drake, Hawkins and Frobiher, 1658 under Queen Elizabeth of England.

Three months ago the demagogue was crying war, war, war. Now they are crying "damn McKinley" because he has failed to end the war ere it has fairly begun.

At the rate of construction of buildings and their rate of destruction by fire during the last year, the city is growing measurably less, and what are we going to do about it? That is the question.

The demagogue want Uncle Sam to issue greenbacks to pay the soldiers. Then when said greenbacks would depreciate they will want to pay their debts with them at par, just as they did of old after having bought them at a discount.

With a little more water and considerably less mud in our veins the fire companies' work at fires would be more effective. But water costs money in Roseburg, and by saving a few dollars a year on water several hundred or thousands are lost by fire. It is poor economy.

Great events develop, great men. Admiral Dewey, has immortalized his name by reason of the occasion of the war with Spain, and for the same reason Sampson, Schley, and General Shafter, Wheeler, Merritt and many more coming prominently to the front, are daily commented upon and praised for their patriotism, while scores from the ranks are showing deeds of heroism that astonish the world as unparalleled in history.

We are in receipt of the Commercial Advertiser, a Honolulu paper issued June 7th, giving an account of the reception of the first expedition to the Philippine Islands, and of their hearty welcome by Honoluluans. They were tendered the freedom of the city. Not one was allowed to pay for anything. Even the soldiers were free, and, strange to tell, no disorderly conduct by the boys in blue was observed. Their reception by the Honoluluans was a grand ovation.

The brightest spot in the war is the determination to send a fleet to Spain. The darkest is the pause before Santiago where infantry is wofully unfit to cope with forts and intrenchments, which should be combated with high-power siege guns. We have a navy—we have no army—that is the difference between the two pictures. Every delay, every reverse our forces suffer before Santiago, lie at the door of our demagogue who lilyingly decry the army and the militia as a "menace to our free institutions." Populism if the deadliest foe of the American volunteer.—Oregonian

Two ranchers named Larsen, who live near Friday Harbor, Wash., were arrested the other day for smuggling wool from British Columbia into the United States. Wool can be bought in Victoria for 8 and 10 cents a pound, which is much below prevailing prices in the Northwest. The duty is 7 cents a pound. It is supposed that the smugglers make a profit of from 12 to 15 cents a pound, including the duty, which is evaded. Many persons are supposed to be engaged in the smuggling business. The fact that wool smuggling pays gives the lie to the calamity screech in last week's Lebanon Express Advance, which says that "wool, the sheepman's only hope, is 5 cent at Prineville." If wool could be had at Prineville, Or., for 5 cents a pound, it would be a serious proposition to pay 8 and 10 cents for it at Victoria and then violate the law to get it into this country.—Oregonian

THE "IMPERIAL" POLICY.
The word "imperialism" is coming again to the front in political discussion. Those who are opposed to the annexation policy of the administration and who lack courage to fight in the open have raised the cry, "Imperial policy." This is supposed to be a conclusive answer to all the arguments in favor of the occupation of Hawaii and Porto Rico, and the control of Cuba. The gentlemen who have coined the phrase seem to believe that to characterize any governmental policy an imperial will excite the distrust of the American people against that policy. They hesitate to say that it is not wise to take advantage of American victories; they cannot be forced to admit that the government, after fighting a great war to a successful conclusion, should yield all it fought for; but they seek to excite the hostility of the people, to rouse an unreasoning prejudice against what they hesitate to condemn, and in this way bring about the defeat of all measures looking to the advancement of the United States among the family of nations.

The same tactics were employed against General Grant when he suggested the annexation of San Domingo. Those who remember the arguments advanced by President Grant and by those who favored annexation will remember that the newspapers opposed to the policy made their argument against the proposition. They simply shouted "Imperialism." They cried out that General Grant's military education and experience had made him ambitious to become a sort of Napoleon on this continent. They warned the people that the man on horseback was about to ride over the traditions of the republic, and that time might come when he would menace the liberties of the people. This seems the height of absurdity now. It was absurd then, but it defeated a policy that would have given us a foothold in the West Indies, that would have changed the condition of affairs in Cuba, that would have enabled us to control the commerce of the Caribbean sea, and would have prevented all the horrors of the Spanish devastation of Cuba.

The arguments made by General Grant in favor of the annexation of San Domingo were as strong as the arguments now made for the annexation of Porto Rico, Hawaii, and the occupation of the Philippine Islands. It is now admitted that, in his civil administration, in the formation of policies to maintain peace and promote prosperity, General Grant was wise beyond the statesman of his time. The friends of peace throughout the world came to acknowledge in him the most potent force in favor of legitimate arbitration and in favor of peaceful settlement of international controversies. He advocated the construction of the Nicaragua canal, the establishment of more friendly relations with Mexico and the South American republics; a better understanding not only with the governments of Europe, but with those of Asia; the annexation of Hawaii and of San Domingo. In short, he advocated the essential principles of a truly national policy.

He not only presented arguments in favor of the policy, but, through personal effort, through visits to every civilized nation, disseminated more than any other man that has ever lived in this country, a knowledge and a respect for republican institutions, and yet he was thwarted in obtaining for the country the advantage of his policy by the cry of "Imperialism." The same bareheaded opposition is now to be made to the policy of President McKinley. Men who have not the courage of conviction, who are not to openly oppose a policy that is popular, refer, whenever Porto Rico or Hawaii is mentioned, to an imperial policy. With the experience of over thirty years ago in mind the people should be warned against these tactics and against the men who are employing old methods.—Inter Ocean.

A National Derelict.
It is a great pity that it is necessary to make us upon such an interesting country as Spain. It is so picturesque, there is such a delicate flavor of times that are long past—happily for the world it affords such abundant material for collectors and such charming elements for light opera. It is the country of stamped leather and altar cases and Moorish architecture, of guitars and serenades and castanets, of mantillas and balconies and religious processions, of ceremonials and pageants and bullfights with toreros and matadors and picadors. The names of its rivers and towns together without other words constitute a poem or a romance. Its history is a series of tableaux, and to the traveler it is a golden dream. But with all its color and form and atmosphere, all its knights and its ladies and its palaces, it isn't useful. It isn't even real. Not only to the severely practical Anglo-Saxons, but even to people more nearly related to the Spaniards and more sympathetic with them, the most delicate synonym for unreality is a castle in Spain. In that phrase is the judgment of the modern world that Spain is a dream, or a picture, or a reminiscence, but not an entity of the present. A letter from Manila after the battle said that the shells of the Americans exploded, but those of the Spanish fort and fleet did not. That is the whole of it. The Spanish shell is like the Spanish castle—it is a make-believe.—Fred Perry Powers in July Lippincott's.

St. Paul Punishes the Terror.
WASHINGTON, June 28.—The navy department today took the following bulletins:
Admiral Sampson reports that the auxiliary cruiser St. Paul arrived off Santiago yesterday and discharged her troops. Captain Sigbee reports that on Wednesday afternoon, when off San Juan, he was attacked by a Spanish torpedo boat and the Spanish torpedo boat Teror. The Teror made a dash, which was swayed by the St. Paul. Shots from the guns of the St. Paul hit the Teror three times, killing one officer and two men and wounding several others. Teror dropped back under cover of the fortifications with difficulty, and was towed into harbor in a sinking condition, where she is now being repaired. Later the cruiser and gunboat started out again, but remained under protection of the forts.

SANTIAGO TO BE OURS

An Immediate Attack to be Made by the American Army.

THE REPORTED APPROACH OF PANDO'S ARMY

Will Precipitate Matters. Santiago Must be Taken Before Spanish Reinforcements Arrive.

WASHINGTON, June 29.—General Shafter has just reported to General Miles that he can take Santiago in 48 hours, but indicates that the undertaking may involve considerable loss. He has information of the approach of 8000 Spanish reinforcements from Manzanillo, and it is believed that he intends to take the town immediately, and that news of a battle may be expected at any time. The Spanish reinforcements referred to are now within 54 miles of Santiago.

Pando's Forces Returning to Manzanillo.

NEW YORK, June 29.—A dispatch to the World from Juraguá, Cuba, via Kingston, says:

Information has been received from Manzanillo to the effect that five battalions of Spanish troops, which left that city several days ago to reinforce General Linares, returned to Manzanillo two days after departure. This is regarded as indicating the failure of the Spanish attempt under command of General Pando to rush 10,000 trained troops to the defense of Santiago.

The information received from Manzanillo has set at rest the fears of both the American and Cuban commanders. They believe that Pando's men either were unequal to the difficult march from Manzanillo to Santiago, or else General Linares, realizing the hopelessness of his position, sent word that it was useless to send additional troops to that point.

Santiago's Water Supply Cut Off.

SHREVE, Province Santiago, June 29.—It is reported tonight on apparently good authority that the water supply of Santiago has been cut off.

General Wheeler today forwarded an official report of the encounter between the Spaniards and Colonel Young's and Colonel Wood's commands. The officers are highly complimented for their dash and courage. The general says there is absolutely no warrant for the statement that our troops were ambushed. He says the attack was deliberately planned from knowledge in his possession the night before.

DR. LANE ANSWERED.

MR. PATTERSON SHOWS UP THE INCONSISTENCIES Of the Ex-Superintendent of the Asylum—Matter of Bids is Explained.

DR. HARRY LANE'S vicious attack on Hon. I. L. Patterson were ably answered by that gentleman in a communication in Sunday's Oregonian, as follows: "Salem, Ore., Oct. 3.—(To the Editor.)—Noticing two communications in your paper from a former superintendent of the Oregon insane asylum, reflecting upon the business methods of our firm, I take this opportunity to make a plain statement as to our business with that institution. For the benefit of those not conversant with the rulings of the board as regards contracts, I will state that twice a year, in January and July, the board of trustees acts, by advertisement in the newspaper, for bids on supplies. We submit the advertisement to the wholesale grocer in Portland and get his prices on the goods, to be delivered at the asylum; if successful in getting the contract, we order the goods, and they are shipped direct from Portland to the asylum, in the asylum mark, diamond 'A.' As a matter of fact, we never see the goods. If the goods are accepted by the superintendent, he issues a voucher for payment, stating as follows: 'I hereby certify that I have examined the bill herewith allied, and find the same correct.' The board then passes on the bill, and a warrant is drawn by the secretary of state for the amount. If the goods are not satisfactory to the superintendent of the asylum, he reports the fact to us; we in turn notify the wholesale grocer at Portland, who replaces the goods with others to satisfy the superintendent. During the administration of Dr. Harry Lane, we received two contracts, one on January 3, 1888, and the other on July 3d of the same year. The first was paid in April, and one in September some time after the goods were delivered, giving ample time for the superintendent to examine them. However, if our attention had been called to any defect in the quality of the goods, although they had been paid for, we would have been glad to have notified the wholesale house, who would have corrected the matter at once. The character of the wholesale firm furnishing the goods is such as to warrant this. If there was any defect in the goods, the institution was practiced on the wholesale firm in Portland, and timely notice would have enabled them to correct it without loss to themselves; but
