At the appointed bour, a driving rain storm prevailed, obliging all the parties to resort to carriages for transportation came first, with a large portfolio under his arm, inclosing copies of the protocol, of the proclamation to be issued by the president stopping hostilities, and some other necessary papers.

He was accompanied by Assistant Secretary Moore, Second Assistant Secretary Adee and Third Assistant Secretary Cridler. They went immediately into the cabinet-room, where the president sat in waiting. He had invited to be present Assistant Secretaries Pruden and Cortelyou and Lieutenant-Colonel Montgom-

When Ambassador Cambon reached the White House it was just 3:55 o'clock, five minutes in advance of the appointed hour. The rain was still violent, and the ambassador abandoned his usual custom of alighting at the outer gates of the executive grounds. He was driven under the porte cochere, passing through a cordon of newspaper men before he and Secretary Thiebaut were ushered inside. They went directly to the library adjoining the cabinet-room on the upper floor. At 4:05 they were announced to the waiting party in the cabinet-room and were ushered into their presence.

After an exchange of diplomatic courteries, unnecessary loss of time did not occur, and Assistant Secretary of State Cridler, on the part of the United States, and First Secretary Thiebaut, on the part come for him at once.
