The Island of Luzon is 550 miles long and 130 miles wide. The war began and ended on the other side of the world.

Did you observe that Cervantes—the first to be killed after a brief?

Porto Rico contains 3,500 square miles and 700,000 population.

Less than 600 American soldiers have been killed or died during the war.

The Spanish are now cursing Columbus for ever having discovered America.

Are the Philippines east or west of us? How many can tell without looking it up?

Want we give "our boys" a big blow-out when they come home from over the sea?

If any other old nation wants its nose puffed let it come to the front right now.

The fall trade in Roseburg will be the best in ten years. Now make a note of that.

A good many men have faced smokeless powder in matrimonial engagements.

Dewey should be given one good-sized island for his very own. We can spare it out of so many.

A man living in the southern part of town, who has three daughters, calls his parlor the court room.

The crop in Douglas county ought to knock the white out of the most sour viaged pop in the county.

The Maine went down in the harbor of Havana in February. Old glory will go up over Havana in August.

"It's an ill wind that blows no good." Spain has no question of territorial expansion to bother her statesmen.

If possession is nine points in law, we are just that much ahead, when it comes to the final settlement with Spain.

Why not make Turkey pungle up for the damage done to the property of our missionaries while we are in training.

The gold reserve in the United States treasury has passed the two hundred million dollar mark, and that too during a war.

A Roseburg young man has been advanced ten numbers, by his best girl, and she expects soon to make him commander-in-chief.

A good many democrats are becoming weary of their party making a fool of its self, by being swiched around as the tail to the populist kite.

Three years ago you could buy a first class cow, in Douglas county, for ten dollars, now the farmer can get thirty dollars for the same kind of a cow.

We don't see any more pictures of Mark Hanna leading McKinley around by a string. It has become pretty generally understood that McKinley holds the strings himself.

The United States of America are now bounded on the east by the rising sun, on the north by the aurora borealis, on the south by the southern cross, and on the west by the jumping off place.

About the only time the American flag was ever hauled down was at Hawaii, by the orders of a democratic president, and the people elected a republican president to put it up again. Now the democrats want the flag brought back from Manila. Well, hardly.

A prominent young democrat, of this county, says that the following verse tells just what became of his party, as a result of the attempt to swallow up the populist party by fusing with them:

A smiling young lady from Niger, Went out to ride on a tiger; When they returned from the ride, The lady was inside; With the smile on the face of the tiger, He says that so far as he is concerned he proposes hereafter, to stay away from the tiger.

Never in the history of the world, has there been so much accomplished in so short a time as has been achieved by the American army and navy during the late war with Spain. In 111 days our navy has annihilated the Spanish fleets in both the Atlantic and Pacific.

In 111 days our soldiers and sailors have beaten the enemy at Manila in the Orient and at Santiago in the Occident and have marched in triumph through the island of Porto Rico. Cuba is ours,

THE HAWAIIAN REPUBLIC IS NO MORE.

America's First Break Toward Territorial Expansion—Impressive and Beautiful Ceremony.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 22.—The steamer and Belgic this evening brought the following:

Honolulu, Aug. 12.—Precisely at eight minutes to 12 o'clock today the Hawaiian flag descended from the flagstaff on all the government buildings, and exactly at five minutes to the same hour, the Stars and Stripes floated on the tropical breeze from every official flagstaff.

The ceremony of today was a most impressive one. To hear the strains of the "Hawaiian Hymn" for the last time, as a national anthem, to hear the bugle blow taps as the Hawaiian ensign rank from its position, and to notice the emotion of many who had been born under it, was solemn.

Then the cheers broke forth, and eyes which had been dimmed for a few moments became bright and lightened up when the Stars and Stripes blew out.

The picture presented in and around the extensive building was most striking. In the grounds and around all the approaches were crowds of onlookers of every station of a varied nationality.

Notably remarkable was the number of Hawaiians. Within the grounds the military and naval display was fine. Hawaiian troops, United States marines, the mounted police, the police and the citizens guard presented a splendid appearance, while the platform for the exercises and the verandas of the executive building were gay with brilliant summer dresses, dancing feathers and ribbons and the brightest faces that Honolulu possessed.

The constitution, section 1, article 1, provides that "the returns of every election for governor shall be sealed up and transmitted to the secretary of state, directed to the speaker of the house of representatives, who shall open and publish them in the presence of both houses of the legislative assembly."

Section 1 of the same article provides that the governor shall hold his office for the term of four years.

Section 7, same article, says: "The official term of the governor shall be four years, and shall commence at such times as may be provided by this constitution, or prescribed by law."

There is no provision in the constitution as to when the term shall commence. The legislature at its first session under the constitution, held in 1859, passed this law: "The official term of the governor of this state shall commence on the second Monday of September, 1862, and every four years thereafter, and shall hold his office until his successor is duly elected and qualified."

This section has never been amended or changed, and while it cut the actual term of Governor Whitaker short by some six months, Governor Gibbs took office in September, 1861, and his successor took office at the same time until after 1882, when the legislature changed the time of its meeting from September until the January following. The change made the declaration of election impossible, without a special session, until January, at which time our governors, since Governor Moody, have taken office.

Under this statement it will not be the duty of the speaker to declare the result of the vote for governor when the legislature shall organize at the special session, and will not Mr. Geer then be governor on taking the oath of office.

I am able to sleep well, have a good appetite, and I have gained several pounds in weight." JAMES WILSON, Oroville, Wash.
