State News.

The Native Sons are growing rapidly and expect to be 1000 strong by next June.

Editor J. F. Anis will revive the Eugene Broad-Axe and expects to get the first edition to press next Saturday.

The little river steamer built by Eugene's citizens, to ply between that place and Corvallis, is now ready to be launched.

The Capital Journal was sold out under execution by the sheriff Monday. A. F. Hofer bid the property in for about $1000, the amount of the judgment.

While felling timber for boom logs six miles from Florence last week, Leo Anderson was struck on the head by a falling limb and at last accounts had not regained consciousness.

It will not be very long before the members of the Oregon National Guard, who were rejected last May on account of physical defects, will receive pay from the state for attendance at Camp McKinley.

When men have become so careless in Salem that the sensible riders found it necessary to form an organization for their protection to prevent the city council from ordaining against wheels in general.

A very sad and fatal accident occurred at Hood River Saturday, says The Dalles Chronicle. Mrs. J. J. Gibbs and her son were driving into town in a cart when the boy stopped to pick up a horse shoe in the road. The horse which they were driving became frightened and ran away, throwing Mrs. Gibbs out and breaking her neck.

Thursday night at the opera house in Eugene, while the building was packed, a section of one of the upper floors, on which there were about 30 people, fell, without warning. The lower floor was also crowded. The section of floor that fell was about 12 feet long and 8 feet wide. It was built out from the wall. The wall supports gave way, and the floor swung back, precipitating the people to the floor below. Those underneath were caught under the timbers, but miraculously few of them were injured. One man had his collar bone broken, and a boy about 15 years of age was severely injured in the back. A dozen or more received minor injuries. A regular panic followed the collapse, but the house was emptied without further accidents, though another floor creaked and came near going down during the rush.

Drain News.

Merchant Ira Wimberly has his goods all placed back in order, after having them moved out during the fire.

Mrs. J. M. Stark has returned to her home at Elkton, after a four months visit with relatives and friends in Missouri and Kansas.

About 200 head of fat hogs were marketed this week, by Beckley Bros., Al Kent, A. Binder, A. L. Batley, John Fryer and J. J. Henderson of Elkton.

Pres. and Mrs. E. H. Anderson gave a very pleasant Halloween party at the boarding hall Monday evening for the Normal students and a few invited friends.

Miss Mollie Larkin is the envy of all the Drain girls who have gentlemen friends in the Philippines. She has received from Manila a handsome souvenir in the way of a white silk shawl, beautifully embroidered.

C. M. Henderson went to Portland yesterday to consult an oculist in regard to his eyes, which have been giving him considerable trouble of late. It is hoped that he will return home with his eyesight fully restored.

Mrs. Wm. Smith and little daughter, Basile, have returned to their home at the Umpqua Life Saving station, after a pleasant month's visit with relatives and many friends here. They were accompanied by Mrs. Smith's mother, Mrs. M. E. Eccleston.

W. V. Hardy, who just recently returned to Drain from Alaska, where he spent the summer with the United States Geological Survey, received a telegram Sunday to join the survey party in California, and left on the overland the same night.

The lady Macabees of this city entertained a number of the Youcalia Lady Macabees at a meeting in their hall here Monday evening. After a profitable meeting an elegant lunch was served and a social time indulged in and greatly enjoyed by all present.

Master Homer DeLaney, of Hudson, met with a painful accident Sunday, which resulted in a broken wrist. He had two dogs hitched up to a cart and was taking a ride, when the gay team started after a chicken, upsetting their precious load with the above results. Dr. Wade was immediately summoned to set the fractured limb, and reports the little patient getting along nicely.

With this issue we are called upon to note another change in the business circles of our city. Kent & Bridges, who lost their building by the recent fire, have purchased the general merchandise stock of Perkins & Co., and have aided it to their stock of merchandise and hardware, which was saved from the flames. They are doing business at the old stand of Perkins & Co., in the Drain brick building. They have added new goods to their already large stock, and have a store replete with everything in their line. This will be good news to their many old patrons, who will receive the same courteous treatment at their hands.

State Press Comment.

East Oregonian: We're going to hold the Philippines and dig the Nicaragua canal. That means work for thousands of people and good times to the Pacific coast. Never was there a more glorious opportunity for men to do something for themselves.

Albany Democrat: A very silly argument introduced in the campaign in the east is that the democrats are victors in the coming election the war will be renewed. The election will have nothing to do with it, and the men who advance the argument know it.

Albany Herald: General Coxe has not been heard from since after the war, but if any state in the Union gives a populist majority this fall, he can have another show, for it is certain that within its borders there would be an ample field for him to raise another army.

Capital Journal: We believe it was wrong to knock the Orphan's Home of Salem out of an appropriation. The Orphan's Home was a purely nonsectarian institution. It was managed by a committee of Salem ladies who gave their time without money and without price. They were doing for 45,000 a year what could not be done for less than $10,000. It would be far better to close up the reform school than the home of the poor little innocent babes.

East Oregonian: President McKinley, fresh from contact with the people of the west, has decided to keep all the Philippines. The president's decision has been forebodingly carefully from committing himself. Anxious to execute the will of the people, he has been studying the sentiment of the country for months. When he came west on his recent trip he was swept along by the full current of expansion sentiment. President McKinley has been a little loth to thrust upon the nation the grave responsibilities attached to the government of the Philippines and its 9,000,000 of semi-barbarians, but he has faith in the ultimate judgment of the plain people of the United States, and he will bow to their will. He believes in the people, in their voices and sentiment. He is a popular president on that account. In uttering this decree he has certainly done what the people wished. The stars and stripes will wave over an island empire in the eastern seas. An oppressed people are to be given liberties and benefits that they never dreamed of.

(From the Gazette.)

Dr. Myra Brown was in Oakland professionally Monday.

Measles are abating and the classes in school are filling up.

Jan. A. Underwood will erect a cottage on his property on Oak street.

Mrs. I. R. Wishart returned to her home at Oregon City Thursday morning.

Miss Maudie Beckley left for Oakland, Cal., on Monday morning's overland, where she expects to remain during the winter.

Mrs. George T. Russell returned from the East Tuesday morning, having been called home by the illness of Prof. G. T. Russell.

Mr. V. L. Bogard, an old-time resident of Oakland, but who has sojourned in California the past year, returned to Oakland last Tuesday.

Miss Maudie Evans returned from Roseburg Thursday morning after a short visit, and will leave next Friday morning for Goldendale, Wash.

Born on Tuesday morning Nov. 1, to Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Thornton, a girl. Honors are easy won at the Thornton home, it being blessed with four boys and four girls.

Hon. A. F. Stearns could stand in front of a cannon or a buzz saw, he could stay in the ring with Fitzsimmons or Corbett, but the measles got him down this week and crawled all over him.

Peters & Mack and S. D. Evans shipped three carloads of apples this week to Eastern markets. The fruit was gilt edge, no finer ever grew, and was promptly handled in preparation and shipment.

Nature's Detectives.

When a crime is committed, no matter in what corner of the earth the criminal tries to hide, he knows that probably sooner or later he will be found out by Nature's detectives.

When a disease attacks man, kind, and hides itself in the human system, no matter how obscure or complicated the disease may be, Nature has her great force of detective remedies to side, he knows that sooner or later he will be found out by Nature's detectives.

Lung and bronchial diseases are among the most baffling complaints which doctors have to deal with, because it is the lungs or bronchial tubes alone which are affected, but every corner of the system furnishes a lurking place for these elusive malefactors.

They change and reappear and dodge about the system under numberless disguises. They are almost always connected with liver or stomach troubles, nervousness, neuralgia, or "general debility."

The best detective remedy which Nature has provided to search out and arrest these perplexing ailments is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It lays an arresting hand directly upon the poisonous, paralyzing elements hiding in the liver and digestive organs.

It gives the blood-making glands power to manufacture an abundant supply of pure, red, highly vitalized blood which reinforces the lungs with healthy tissue; feeds the nerve-centres with power, and builds up solid muscular flesh and active energy.

For weak lungs, spitting of blood, shortness of breath, nasal catarrh, bronchitis, severe cough, asthma, and kindred affections, it is a sovereign remedy. While it promptly cures the severest cough, it strengthens the system and cures the blood.
