What the people of Klamath county most need is water, and plenty of it. With the natural excellent facilities we have in this locality for irrigation, if properly utilized, would be a source of permanent wealth with which no other industry could compare. A large ditch or canal scheme of [illegible] and if such an enterprise is ever perfected, a prosperous future for Klamath county is fully assured.—Klamath Republican.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is [illegible] Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

HERMAN MARKS, Sec.

The newly invented Lyddite shell, which kills everything within a large circle around its point of explosion, even though it actually strikes nothing, would have been just the thing for the Spanish gunners during the late war. But they played in bad luck all through.

Whatever inclination we here in America may have to criticise the Cubans and Spaniards who indulged in a Christmas morning battle in Havana is naturally—and properly—modified by the fact of the much deadlier fight which occurred among our "home folks" in Dallas, Texas, at about the same time.

The twelve jurymen before whom Mrs. Fayne Strahan Moore was tried in New York for blackmail and, incidentally, for a few other very unladylike things, failed to convict, though certainly the case made out against her seemed very black. The evidence indicated that she was just about everything she should not be, but—she was pretty.

The Southern California clergyman who accidentally married a couple in the wrong county, which fact renders the union illegal, should lose no time in doing his work over again. There have been instances where married people have only needed a day or two to convince them that they didn't want to be wedded, after all.

Christmas Doin's.

I had ben nigh onto eighteen years sence I had seen Hester Rogers (she was a Brown), an' so as I was comin' home from sister Melissa's, in Kansas, I stopped off an' made her a visit. She was powerful glad to see me, an' I had a real good time; for she hasn't changed much sence we went to school together, she showed her age right smart, an' her man was real clever. He didn't talk much, but I've thought sence 'twas because we kep' it a goin' all the time—Hester an' me.

While I was there Christmas come, an' they had a powerful sight of goin's on. I got there nigh onto a week before an' Hester kep' speakin' about it all along, an' sayin' 'twas to be held in their church. I'd never ben to no sech doin's to Bean Blossom an' Nubbin Ridge, our they didn't hev 'em to Bolton where I was brung up, but then everything changes but truth, an' some folks try to change that. I'd always heerd about Cath'lics an' 'Piscopalians keepin' Christmas an' Easter an' Good Friday an' Lent an' St. Patrick's day, but I never thought Hester did, till I was there. I never let on to her but what I knowed all about how they was carried on, tho; but I didn't. She tol' me about 'em buildin' their new church that summer, an' jest dedicatin' it the Sunday before, so I s'posed it was some kind of a sacred service or other.

We dedicate churches in Bean Blossom; but as Hester had one of Noah Webster's dictionaries, an' I didn't have much to do but jest knit, I looked up "dedicate," an' it means "to consecrate; to devote;" an' "consecrate" means "to declare to be sacred," an' "sacred" means "holy." So I knowed that in that new church that they had declared to be holy to God, they wouldn't think of havin' anything but a sacred service, for you know how Jesus drove the merchants out of the temple an' stopped its desecration, not even allowin' them to carry any vessel through it. If it hadn't ben I thought of that, I'd have ben sure they was startin' a store in the lobby or somewheres, the way the folks went in an' out of the church for a couple of days beforehand, carryin' boxes an' bundles, only they took 'em in instead of out. It was right close to Hester's, so I could watch 'em.

I didn't say nothin', tho, an' when the night (eve they call it) came, we got fixed an' went. When we got into the lobby, Hester's man went over to a man that was behind a table that had a basket onto it jest like the ones the deacons take up collection in to our church), an' handed him some money, an' he dropped it into that basket. I jest thought that was their way of carryin' into the Lord's treasury, till I saw him take two or three little silver pieces out of the basket, an' give 'em an' some cards to Hester's man, an' him give 'em (the cards jest) to a man at the door where we went in, jest like Baker an' me do when we go to the Brush County Fair. My, but I felt queer! Christ an' the tables of money-changers come to my mind like a flash. I didn't have long to think, tho, for we went in an' got a seat. When we got settled down, like, I looked up to the pulpit, an', sir, up there, right under a arch, in the end of the church that had "Holiness to the Lord" painted on it in queer shaped gilt letters, was a white tent with toys an' clothes an' sech things all over it. There was a evergreen tree, too, a little to one side, with 'em on, an' little candles burnin' onto the ends of the limbs. Well I jest set and looked.

After a spell, when the house was so full that men an' boys was perchin' onto the pulpit steps an' standin' in the aisles; the minister got up an' said they would begin. He prayed, an' then spoke about Jesus bein' born in Bethlehem, an' the herald angels an' everything so nice, an' said that was why they was havin' the meetin'. I wondered why Parson Jones had never had 'em to Bean Blossom an, thought to myself I'd speak to him about it when I got home. Jest as I thought that the minister said that he didn't know for sure whether it was Christ's birthday or not, so I reckon they jest played it was, as the children say. I thought that would spile it fur me, unless 'twas certain, an' I could read it in the Testament jest what day he was born. an' how it should be celebrated, if celebrated at all. Well, pretty soon they begin to sing, an' make speeches up there. Some of the little children spoke, an' real nice, too.

I liked the music first rate, but I was surprised that they sung songs, fur Hester had tol' me how they didn't think it was right to sing anything but psalms in her church, an' I'd had a time of it all week chokin' 'em down, fur I'm always singin' 'round home. Hester an' the rest settin' back didn't sing with 'em, but I don't know whether 'twas because they was agin' it or not; they didn't look mad nur nothin'.

They quit that, an' then the minister said something about presents, an' some men went to takin' the toys an' things offen that tent an' evergreen an' handin' 'em to a man that roared out some body's name as he hel' each one up an' some young folks kep' takin' the things from him, an' carryin' them back to the folks they was fur. This went on a spell, when, all to onst, all begun to laugh right out in meetin.' When I looked he was holdin' up a white cotton nightgar. I watched the girl that took it, an' she give it to a man about forty-five years old, with a slick bald head; an' he jest put it on, an' they all laughed agin. I did, too; fur I forgot about bein' to church, an' he looked so queer with that cap on, an' his face all over red whiskers an' grins. Some got nice presents, too. They give Hester the nicest kind of a work-box, with spools an' needles an' a cushion in it all ready, an' I jest thought to myself I'd have one like it when I got butter an' eggs enough ahead at the store.

The first thing I knowed they was callin' out "Mrs. Priscilla Baker," an' Hester's man got up an' motioned, an' they brought me one jest like hers exactly. It's awful nice an' handy, an' I keep it on a shelf Baker made me to one side the bay-winder.

Every onct in a while they'd laugh an' clap their han's an' stomp the floor like the boys used to at lyceum when I was a girl. I didn't always know what was the matter, tho. Onct it was a box of collars an' a bar of soap they give a man that Hester said needed 'em mighty bad, One young man got a old parasol an' a mince pie, an' another a empty beer bottle, an' the minister got a fine comb.

"Santa Claus, Santa Claus!" the little boys hollered, as a man all rigged out in a buffalo robe came out of that tent an' down the aisle, throwin nuts and candy to the children in every seat. But I didn't enjoy it much more, and was glad when we got out doors, where we could have a good breath agin. Hester an' me didn't talk much about the goin's on that night, fur it was past bedtime when we got to her house, an' I started home early next mornin'. But it was on my mind constant while I was sittin' along on the railroad cars that day. After we'd past a few little towns, we come to a big one, an' a man got on, an' set down in front of me, and 'twa'n't long till he tuck out a paper jest like the ones Hester showed me that her church prints, an' begun to read. I 'llowed from that he was a gentleman, an' would know all about that service, so I jest tol' him all about being' there, an' asked him where in the Bible it tells us how to do at 'em. He jest laughed kind of quiet like, an' said he didn't know unless it was in some of the new version Bibles. When I got home I tol' Baker about it, an' he said: "Why, that hain't nothin' very new, mother, I've ben reading' fur sometime that they're bol'in' 'em into most all the churches, back east, anyways. He wa'nt much tuck up with it, but I tol' him if we'd ben neglectin' something in the Lord's worship, we'd best fin' it out, an' commence.

Well, we read the Testament clean through an' couldn't find one place where it says to keep Christmas, nur to have tents and gifts fur everybody an' laugh loud an' stomp into churches. We can't even find out day or month Christ come into the worl'. If anybody's got one of them new version Bibles with it in, I'd like to get it. The Lord killed Nadab and Abihu fur having strange fire 'round the tabernacle "that he had not commanded."

So I want to see it in the Bible, an' be shore to get everything exactly like it's commanded, when we go to have 'em to Bean Blossom, an' so does Baker, an' I think Parson Jones.

PRISCILLA ANN BAKER.

The ice manufactory was started up Monday. This institution if successful, and there is no good reason why it should not be, will be a good thing for Roseburg. Hundreds of tons of ice will be consumed here if it can be furnished on reasonable terms. Ice is a luxury and Roseburgers will gladly avail themselves of the opportunity to indulge.

Many a man who would be startled at the bare thought of sitting down and deliberately drinking a dose of poison, allows himself to be regularly and systematically poisoned day after day by accumulations of bile in the blood.

When the liver fails to do its regular work of filtering this bilious poison out of the circulation, it goes on poisoning the entire constitution just as surely as if a man was drinking prussic acid.

Every part of the body is polluted. The digestive juices are suppressed and weakened. The kidneys and skin are clogged with impurities and the lungs and bronchial tubes overloaded with morbid secretion which eat away the delicate tissue, and bring about bronchitis and consumption.

All the diseases caused by this subtle process of bilious poisoning are cured by the marvelous alterative action of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It directly increases the liver's natural excretive and purifying powers; gives the digestive and blood-making organs power to manufacture an abundance of red, rich, healthy blood.

It drives out all impurities, and vitalizes the circulation with the life-giving elements which restore perfect nutrition, solid muscular power, and healthy nerve-force.

"In August 1895, I was taken down in bed with a burning and severe pains in my stomach and under my shoulders, and dizziness in my head," writes Ira D. Herring, Esq., of Keedmore, Levy Co., Fla. "My home physician was called and he said my symptoms were more like consumption than anything else. I lingered in this way seven months trying different kinds of medicine. Nothing that I ate would digest, and I had great distress in my stomach. I was persuaded to try some of Dr. Pierce's remedies or to see what he thought of my case. I wrote him and received an answer stating that my suffering was from indigestion and torpid liver, and advising me to take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. The first bottle gave pleasing results. I have taken four bottles of the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and three small vials of the 'Pleasant Pellets.' Now able to do my work and eat what I could not before I took your medicine."
