

...the sentiment and
...the better.
...the German lady of rank, ...of great personal charms and ...singularly winning manners, the daughter ...of a prominent politician, herself now a ...happy wife and mother, once beguiled ...Molke, who was paying a brief visit to ...her father's country home in Sillesia,
...into writing something in her autograph ...album. This was the entry:
Luge vergeht
Wahrheit besteht.
V. MOLKE, Feldmarschall.
Which in English would be:
A lie must fall
Truth will prevail.

The wily damsel now determined to ...bid her time until she should be able ...to match Molke's diem. When her ...family had again settled down in their ...Berlin quarters for the winter season,
...Prince Bismarck called one afternoon,
...and she showed him her book, calling ...his attention to what the great strate...gist had written, adding artlessly: "Do ...you think the same, dear prince? Per...haps you would like to add your com...ment? And on the same page? Oh,
...thank you so very much! And may I ...send the volume to the Wilhelmstrasse?" The chancellor next day returned the ...book, now a greatly treasured family ...possession, and this is what he had writ...ten beneath the contribution of his col...league:
Fehl weiss ich, dass in jener Welt Die Wahrheit stets den Sieg behält.
Doch gegen Luge dieses Lebens Kämpft selbst ein Feldmarschall vergebens.
V. BISMARCK, Reichskanzler.

Very roughly Englished, the chan...cellor's lines might run something like this:
In future worlds, beyond the pale,
The truth is strong and shall prevail.
But 'gainst our mundane lies, his plain, Field marshals even fight in vain.
—Westminster Gazette.

Men become bald more frequently ...than women because of the closeness of ...the hats they wear, which keep the head
...too hot, induce perspiration and weaken ...the hair. The boys of the famous Blue ...Coat schools of London, who never wear ...hats, never become bald late in life.

Robespierre had a thin face, sharp ...nose, narrow forehead and small mouth, ...with thin lips. He always dressed neat...ly and was often mistaken for a depart...ment clerk or bookkeeper.

AN OPEN LETTER TO MOTHERS.
WE ARE ASSERTING IN THE COURTS OUR RIGHT TO THE EXCLUSIVE USE OF THE WORD "CASTORIA," AND "PITCHER'S CASTORIA," AS OUR TRADE MARK.
I, DR. SAMUEL PITCHER, of Hyannis, Massachusetts, was the originator of "CASTORIA," the same that has borne and does now bear Chas. H. Fletcher's on every the fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Fletcher's wrapper.
This is the original "CASTORIA" which has been used in the homes of the Mothers of America for over thirty years.
LOOK CAREFULLY at the wrapper and see that it is the kind you have always bought and has the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher's wrapper.
No one has authority from me to use my name except The Centaur Company, of which Chas. H. Fletcher is President.
March 24, 1898.

Do Not Be Deceived.
Do not endanger the life of your child by accepting a cheap substitute which some druggist may offer you (because he makes a few more pennies on it), the ingredients of which even he does not know.

CAMPER AND SUCKER.
The Way Illinois and Wisconsin Came to Get Their Nicknames.
"If there had been no badgers in Wisconsin," said a native of that state, "Wisconsin would not be known as the Badger State, and yet it did not receive the name because badgers were there.
There were very few white people in Wisconsin territory in its early days, the population being confined to the military posts, the missionary and trading stations, and the lead mining regions in the southwestern part of the territory. The miners were of two classes, men who worked the mines all the year round and men who came up from the Illinois country in the spring and worked until the fall, when they returned to their prairies and groves.
The miners who were permanent dwellers in the region didn't bother to put up cabins or even huts. In fact, material for such dwellings was not abundant.
They simply dug holes in the sides of the hills large enough to give them room to sleep and cook in. Nowadays those burrows would perhaps be called dugouts, but as they closely resembled the subterranean homes of the badgers they were promptly called badger holes, and the miners who occupied them were called badgers.

"Any one who cares to tramp through that part of Wisconsin today will come upon deep excavations in the rocks—regular quarry holes bearing every evidence of having been made long ago.
And so they were. Some of them were excavated 60 years ago and more. They were the work of the lead miners who went up from Illinois in the spring to the mining region. They, being there only for a short season, did not mine by digging shafts, as the permanent miners did, nor did they live in burrows. They blasted the surface rock, making large pits by their work, seeking what was called the float lead and ore that was easily obtained near the top. They occupied the pits they made, as the other miners did their hillside burrows.
"Owing to the similarity of the migrations of these quarry miners to those of that familiar fish which goes up stream in the spring and down again in the fall, they soon became known as suckers, and their pits in the rocks were called sucker holes. In the course of years the names badger and sucker came to be applied to the entire people of Wisconsin and Illinois. Many of the original badgers and suckers became the leading citizens of their respective localities and helped make the country's history. When Wisconsin was admitted to the Union, the badger was placed on her coat of arms in recognition of this fact, and it was from the miners who quarried in the rocks of Wisconsin that Illinois got her name of the Sucker State."—New York Sun.

Live and Let Live.
The newspaper that takes advertising to fill up with cannot prosper. A newspaper that has its rates too high cannot sell its space. There is a normal rate; that is, a rate which the publisher can afford to accept and make a profit, and which the advertiser can afford to pay and also make a profit. The profit must be mutual, else one or the other will quit.—Amosita (Conn.) Sentinel.

For fine tone and high grade piano get a Needham. They speak for themselves. It does not take a cracker jack at a big salary or a paid musician to sel-them. All we ask is to look at the instruments, try the tone yourself, and you will be convinced that Needhams are the best pianos on the market, except Chickering or Steinway. For reference see O. F. Godfrey, A. C. Marks, or I. B.
Riddle, who has just received at his home a beautiful one in figured mahogany case. The prices of these pianos are the most reasonable for the quality of goods ever offered in this city. I can also give you inside prices on any make of piano. Call and see.

THE KODAK CAN LIE.

For instance, it can transform a small fish into a big one.
The amateur photographer who is also an angler is well aware that his camera will back him up when boasting of his piscatorial prowess. One photo I saw represented a huge fish, the length of which appeared to equal that of a 2 foot rule, which was also shown. In reality the "take" was a little dace, or carp, and while being photographed it had been held very close to the lens. The rule, of course, was taken some distance away.

One of my authorities was once engaged by both sides in a law case. A company, which I will call the City Lands Improvement company, wanted to abolish a certain court leading from Lombard street to King William street and were willing to establish in its stead a passage through one of their own buildings. The company's plea was that the court was a dingy, not to say dirty, one, and, furthermore, that it was haunted by loafers of questionable character. Counsel for the other side, representing merchants having offices in the court, stoutly maintained that the passage was well lighted and eminently respectable.
Photographs were handed in from both sides. The first photo showed a narrow, disreputable looking alley, strewn with rubbish and fallen boarding. The other picture, however, showed the court in dispute to be a fairly broad, well lighted city thoroughfare, frequented by merchants of thriving appearance. These photographs were taken for the house of lords committee, but the matter was amicably settled.

Here is another case: The Shuttle Machine company were specialists in Chesapeake, and another sewing machine dealer moved in. In order to trade upon the established reputation of the company the second tenant left the old name on the windows and over the door, but added the word "late" in very minute characters for his own protection. The Shuttle company waxed wroth, brought an action and engaged a photographer to take a view of the offending shop front from a tailor's window opposite. When this photograph was produced in court, it was handed to the presiding judge with a powerful glass, whereupon his lordship was able to perceive that what appeared to be a mere ornamental dash was in reality the protecting word "late." The photographer himself, by the way, was not averse to this. The aggrieved sewing machine company secured an injunction.—Strand Magazine.

The Aim of Christ's Work.
"Peace on earth" was the aim of Christ's work in this world, writes Edward Bellamy in The Ladies' Home Journal. The whole gist of his doctrine and the burden of his teaching consisted in counsel to men how to put an end to strife with their fellow men and live together with them in mutual helpfulness.

All this teaching, which was the whole content of his gospel, was grouped about and crystallized in the golden rule, whereon our modern world is founded as on an everlasting foundation. To believe in Christ and not to believe in the golden rule as the only plan for social organization seems to us a moral and rational impossibility—an unthinkable proposition. Just this, however, our ancestors undertook to do, and it is fair to admit that they were very frank about it. They made no pretenses.

Notice is hereby given to the public by the undersigned that I do not allow dead animals to be buried on my premises, at Roseburg, Oregon, or garbage dumped thereon or sand or gravel taken therefrom, unless the party taking sand or gravel first contract with me for the right to do so.
Trespassers will be prosecuted according to law.
