

The Australian Case in a Nutshell. The people of Australia made the mistake, repeated on a small scale in Toronto, of thinking they could live forever by trading lots and borrowing. When new purchasers ceased to come with their savings and lenders wanted their own, it became evident that industry was essential to comfortable maintenance.—Toronto Globe.

RILEY'S JOKES. The Hoosier Poet Talks Interesting to a Reporter.

The Hoosier Poet was busy when the Tales of the Town man called upon him. "Glad you come in," he said. "Not that I've been—but that's General New's story. General New of the Indianapolis Journal called on General Grant during the latter's first term and found the president warrior laughing heartily. Of course New looked as though he wanted to know the reason, and the general told him. He said he'd just had a call from an old friend who lived in Galena, Ill., one of his early day acquaintances, who said he'd been in Washington for two or three days, but had been so busy that he was unable to call upon his old friend, the president, any sooner, and he apologized for the delay. General Grant looked at him in his comical fashion and gravely said: "Well, John, I haven't been lonesome." "You see, the visit occurred at a time when the president was being harassed to death by callers from all directions, who had driven him nearly to distraction. "A man who travels a good deal comes to know towns because of certain points that are usually entirely personal with him. Sometimes a bad hotel, sometimes an extremely early train, will stamp a characteristic on a town. I remember that my old friend Bill Nye was once chatting with Senator Shirley of Maine and remarked upon the fact that he (Nye) was born at Shirley, in the senator's state, adding that the town had doubtless been named for one of the senator's ancestors. "I didn't know," said the senator, "that there was such a town in Maine as Shirley." "I didn't know it either," said Nye, "until I was born there."

And the poet went on with his writing.—Cleveland Plain Dealer. For Over Fifty Years. The Pleasing Guachos. A personal allusion to the color of the negro's skin, a retort calling in question the nice conduct of the passer's sister, and then two savages foaming at the mouth, their punches wrapped round their arms, their bodies bent so as to protect their vitals and their knives quivering like snakes, stood in the middle of the room. The company withdrew themselves into the smallest space, stood on the tops of desks, and at the door the faces of the women looked in delight while the pulpene, with a pistol and a bottle in his hands, closed down his grating and was ready for whatever might befall. "Negro," "Abijuna," "Miente," "carajo," and the knives flash and send out sparks as the returns de tie au tao jar the fighters' arms up to the shoulder joints. In a moment all is over, and from the passer's right arm the blood drops in a dream on the mud floor, and all the company step out and say the negro is a "valiente," "my guapeton," and the two adversaries swear friendship over a tin mug of gin.—Saturday Review.

STUCK IN THE SNOW. Dangers of Traveling by Sledge in Siberia in Winter.

Traveling by sledge in Siberia in winter has its perils, as the experience of Mr. Robert L. Jefferson and his friends goes to illustrate. The incident is told in "Roaming in Siberia." We had chartered six sorry looking horses to drag us on to the next stage. It was night when we started. The driver, maudlin drunk, had to be helped to his seat, and we set off along the narrow roadway at the usual gallop, which, however, soon dwindled into a mere shuffle through the snow. We had gone to sleep, and some hours after our departure Gaskell woke me and said he thought something was wrong. The sledge was at a standstill, and our shouts to the yemshik brought no response. Black darkness prevailed. I bundled out of the sledge, so benumbed that I could scarcely move. I felt along the sledge, sinking to my knees in the snow. The driver's perch was empty, and just then I stumbled over one of the horses, which was lying buried up to its neck. It was clear that the driver had fallen from his seat, and that the horses had wandered from the track. The poor beasts were stuck fast, and a closer inspection showed one of them to be dead, literally frozen to death. If we would save ourselves from the same fate, prompt action was necessary. The other horses were nearly succumbing. They lay flat on their stomachs and nibbled at the snow. We cut the dead animal adrift, and using the spare rope as whips, we stood on either side of the living and lashed them till our arms ached. At length they moved, and by pushing and pulling we got the sledge turned. Then, step by step, with much floundering and many falls, we began to retrace our way.

All this in pitch darkness in a raw, cold wind and in momentary expectation of one or all of the horses dropping dead. It was a terrible experience, but we regained the road and finally reached the village. All our goods are new and of the latest styles. No shopworn goods on hand at the Ross Store.

For fine tone and high grade piano get a Needlman. They speak for themselves. It does not take a cracker jack at a big salary or a paid musician to sell them. All we ask is to look at the instruments, try the tone yourself, and you will be convinced that Needlman are the best pianos on the market, except Chickering or Steinway. For reference see O. F. Godfrey, A. C. Marks, or I. H. Riddle, who has just received at his home a beautiful one in figured mahogany case. The price of these pianos are the most reasonable for the quality of goods ever offered in this city. I can also give you inside prices on any make of piano. Call and see T. K. RICHARDSON, Roseburg, Ore. N. B. We also have in stock some new and second-hand pianos—second-hand $60 to $175. New $200 to $300.

DANGEROUS RULES OF ETIQUETTE. Treating in New Mexico Is Braght With Many Difficulties.

The man from New Mexico and his friend stood against the bar in one of the palatial saloons of Chicago. The dispenser put out four glasses. "Where's your beerwax?" asked the New Mexico visitor. "I'm not on," responded the dispenser. "Never tend bar in New Mexico?" The dispenser said he had never had the pleasure. "Pleasure nothing. Tain't no pleasure, I'm tellin you. It's much as a man's life is worth. But I see you don't savvy about the beerwax. Well, I'll tell you how they drink in New Mexico. There's only one thing to drink, that's whisky—liquor, see? The bartender sets up one glass. He ain't got no whole lot of glasses like you. He just sets up one big glass. Then he takes out his beerwax, and he marks the glass for as many drinks as there are drinkers in the party. Say there's three. He puts two beerwax marks on the glass about an inch apart. Then he fills the glass with liquor to the rim of the glass. The first man in the party drinks down to the first beerwax mark, and then he passes the glass to the next man, and he drinks down to the second beerwax mark, and the third man drinks to the bottom of the glass. It ain't safe for a man to go below his beerwax mark. A man in New Mexico wouldn't do that wouldn't live long enough to send his wife a divorce. A New Mexico man might rob a stagecoach, but he wouldn't drink below his beerwax mark. Got any water?" "Oh, yes. Plenty of water." "Well, set 'er up. And if there's anything extra for it I'll pay the cost. Say, this is the all-frolicest town I was ever in. The idea of settin up four glasses for two men to drink outen. I reckon there ain't another town on earth where such extravagance is seed."—Chicago Herald.

Simple Explanation of Grip. Medical writers make it clear why grip is so fatal. They tell of hemorrhagic and pyemic results, with purulent and gangrenous inflammation of the lung tissues and frequent metastasis to other organs. One case of hemorrhages and hematomas in the muscular tissue, parenchymatous bleedings and bleedings by diapedesis, pachymeningitis hemorrhagica interna, is mentioned. In many cases there is hyperemia of the pia, also meningial infiltration and suppurative meningitis and hemorrhage into the lateral ventricle and very frequently lobular pneumonia.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

What He Was. When first we were at Abington, writes W. R. Le Fann in his reminiscences of Irish life, a peasant girl came two or three times to the rectory with a hare and other game for sale. My father, wishing to ascertain whether she came by them honestly, asked her where she got them. "Sure, your reverence," said she, "my father is peacher to Lord Clare."

A Financial Comp. "You didn't mean to say that you lent Slick a hundred dollars?" "Yes. And it was economy to do it. It saves me the 60 cents a day he used to borrow."—Washington Star.
