TIMES OF SOUTHERN OREGON

E. W. Rowe Reports Great Activity in Mount Reuben District.

E. W. Rowe, who has just returned from a tour of inspection of some mining properties in Southern Oregon, reports great activity in the Mount Reuben district, says the Portland Telegram.

"In fact," said he, "in discussing his observations this morning, 'there is life in every mining camp in Southern Oregon, and if I do not miss my guess there will be plenty of work for all the unemployed there before the season is over. Prospecting parties are numerous, and extensive development work is in prospect.'"

"At the Gold Bug quartz mine, owned by Senator James of Nevada, and his brother, there are now 47 men employed and the work goes on day and night. This mine is about 11 miles from tunnel No. 7, on the Southern Pacific road, near Glendale, and Willis Jones, a nephew of the senator, is resident manager. Over $20,000 has been spent on the road, giving the mine communication with the railroad. In addition to this a sawmill has been built and extensive bunkhouses erected. Although but a five-stamp mill is now in operation it is the intention of the owners to work on a more extensive scale as soon as the machinery can be got in. There is an immense body of ore in sight, and the mine promises to be one of the heaviest producers in Southern Oregon."

"At the Victory placer mine, near by, from four to six giants are kept at work, and as there is plenty of water, a large clean-up is expected. Colonel Blaisdell is in charge of the operations at this property as superintendent, and knows what he is about. The ground pans out from 15 to 25 cents to the yard."

"Just across the creek from the Victory a Chicago syndicate has extensive placer holdings. It is the intention of this company to erect a station and build tramways early this summer, and work the ground to the limit of the water supply. Mr. Heifield, one of the members of the company, was recently on the ground, and before leaving started out several prospecting parties."

"The Lincoln and Good Hope are the names of promising placer properties I visited on Dad's creek. Work is being done on both. There is little question in my mind that the mines of Southern Oregon will furnish a great deal of employment the coming season for development work here has as yet scarcely begun."

PEACE AND LIBERTY.

Proclaimed Toward the People of the Philippines

THE TONE OF AMERICAN POLICY

Aguinaldo's Power Based on Coercion and Fear.

WASHINGTON, April 4.—Only five members of the cabinet were present at today's meeting, the absentees being Gage, Alger and Long. The principal subject under discussion was the long cablegram from Mr. Schuman, chairman of the Philippine commission at Manila, which was read by Secretary Hay.

Part of the message which attracted the most attention was that which said Aguinaldo's power over his followers was largely based on coercion and the fear of violence in case they opposed him.

NEW YORK, April 4.—The Journal's Manila correspondent cables the full text of the Philippine commission's proclamation, issued today. The commission assures the people of the island of cordial good will and fraternal feeling which is entertained for them by the president and the American people.

This message, taken in connection with the recent information received from Oza, has led to the belief that the end of the troubles with the Philippines is near at hand.

PARIS, April 4.—Aguinaldo, the agent of Aguinaldo, in the course of an interview published in La Patrie, says: "The capture of Malolos is not as important as the Americans are trying to make it appear. The Filipino government had already determined on removal to San Fernando, and a small detachment of troops was left with orders to burn the town, and thus to draw the Americans inland."

"Two months of rain and fever will save the Philippines their ammunition and a good deal of trouble, and the war will not end as long as a single Filipino remains alive to bear arms."

Aguinaldo charges Major General Oza with opening the hostilities, and holds the Americans responsible for the transfer of the Spanish prisoners and presenting the Philippines negotiating a treaty with Spain.

MANILA, April 4.—The United States Philippine commission has just issued a proclamation to the natives. It is addressed to the people of the Philippine islands. Following are the main features of the document.

The commission desires to assure the people of the Philippine islands of the cordial good will and the fraternal feeling which is entertained for them by the president of the United States and the American people.

The aim and object of the American government, apart from the fulfillment of the solemn obligation it has assumed toward the family of nations in the acceptance of sovereignty over the Philippine islands is the well-being, prosperity and happiness of the Philippine people, their elevation and their advancement to a position among the most enlightened and civilized peoples of the world.

The president believes the fidelity and perfection of the Philippine people can be brought about by the assurance of order and peace, the guarantee of civil and religious liberty, the establishment of justice and the cultivation of letters and science, liberal and practical arts, the enlargement of intercourse with foreign nations, expansion of industrial pursuits, trade, commerce, the multiplication of improvement by means of internal communication, development with the aid of modern mechanical inventions, and the great natural resources of the archipelago, in short, by the uninterrupted devotion of the people to the pursuit of useful objects and the realization of the noble ideals that constitute higher civilization of mankind. Unfortunately the pure aims of the American government and people have been misinterpreted to some of the inhabitants of some of the islands, and in consequence the friendly American forces, without provocation or cause, have been openly attacked and why these hostilities? What do the best Filipinos desire? Can it be more than the United States is ready to give?

They are patriots and want liberty, it is said. The commission emphatically asserts that the United States is not only willing, but anxious to establish liberty in the Philippine islands and which the Philippine people can enjoy the largest measure of home rule and liberty consistent with the supreme end of the government and compatible with those obligations which the United States assumed toward the civilized nations of the world. The United States is striving earnestly for the welfare and advancement of the inhabitants of the Philippine islands. There can be no real conflict between the American sovereignty and the rights and liberties of the Philippine people, for as the United States stands ready to furnish armies and navies and the infinite resources of a great and powerful nation to maintain and support its rightful supremacy over the Philippine islands; so even more solicitous is it to spread peace and happiness among the Philippine people, guarantee them their rights, freedoms and immunities, accustom them to free self-government in an ever-increasing measure, encourage them in those democratic aspirations, sentiments and ideas which are the promise of potency and fruitful national development.

It is the expectation of the commission to visit the Philippine people in their respective provinces, both for the purpose of cultivating a more intimate mutual acquaintance and also in view of ascertaining from the enlightened native opinion what form or forms of government is best adapted to the Philippine people, and is apt to conduce to the highest welfare and is most conformable to the customs, traditions, sentiments and cherished ideals. In both the establishment and maintenance of government in the Philippine islands it will be the policy of the United States to consult the views and wishes and secure the advice, co-operation and aid of the Philippine people themselves.

FINE ATTRACTION.

Jessie Shirley and Company for a Week's Engagement.

The Jessie Shirley Company which opens a week's engagement at the Opera House Monday, April 10th, is no doubt one of the best on the road. The papers all down through Oregon and California have nothing but words of praise for the company. The Medford Mail comments as follows:

The Jessie Shirley Company opened a week's engagement at the Opera House last Monday evening. The opening piece was "La Belle Marie." In this there is an opportunity for some very fine work and, he said to the credit of the company, they took advantage of every opportunity and presented to our people by far the best dramatized piece ever staged in this city. Miss Jessie Shirley in the role of Jean Ingels and Marie Dubois proved herself the very talented and always capable actress that she is. Her support in this play was first-class in every particular. It is impossible for us to particularize in the personnel of other characters, as to do this and mention of all the good work done would require an entire page of this paper, but when we say all were good, that includes the entire company. The character assumed whether pleasing or displeasing to an audience, has much to do with the weighed value of the person assuming the role in the opinion of the audience, and the appreciation of the real merits of an actor or actress is a performance of times lost sight of by reason of the displeasing or foolish role they carry. Hence it is not fair to judge of an actor's work in any one cast where many differ and one is assumed to be the Shirley people are all right in every particular.

The general opinion of all who witnessed this opening piece was one of highest merit. Many have said that to see Miss Shirley as Marie Dubois was worth a dollar of any person's money.

The company has played so well filled houses each evening that the interest in their excellent productions seems to be growing it is more than probable that standing room will be at a premium at the other three performances.

There are nineteen people in the company and they are the happiest, most contentedly and lively crowd of boys and girls that have ever visited our city.

The musicians of the company are all very clever performers and their street renditions draw big crowds.

CLAUDE BRANTON SENTENCED.

To Hang Friday, May 12th, 1899.

On yesterday at Eugene Judge Hamilton re-sentenced Claude Branton to be hanged on Friday, May 12, 1899, for the murder of John A. Linn, committed in Lane county June 18, 1898.

Branton was brought into court handcuffed, as he had already made one or more attempts to escape and is looked upon as a desperate and daring criminal, and it was feared that he would make a further attempt to escape.

G. W. Davis was in Roseburg a few days ago.

Prof. J. A. Davis returned home from Drain, last Sunday.

Owen Davis, of Boston, was here on business, Tuesday.

Mr. Reynolds and family have moved to Wolf Creek to reside.

Walley Churchill, of Ten Mile, was in our valley, on business, the latter part of last week.

Miss Etta Simmons returned home, Sunday, after a week's visit with friends and relatives in Ocala.

Wm. Simmons, of Brockway, has leased the blacksmith shop, which has been occupied by Mr. Reynolds.

David Morgan has returned home from Portland, where he has been for about two months in the hospital. We are pleased to see him with us once more.

We are very much pained to hear of the sad news of the death of Grandmama Wimer, as she lived in the valley for a number of years, and all who knew her found her to be a good neighbor, in every respect.

School opened Monday with a good attendance and Jas. A. Davis as principal. He is well and favorably known in Douglas county and needs no introduction. Miss Maudie DeVore, assistant teacher, is a graduate of the Drain Normal school, and is a teacher of ability and experience.

The numerous articles in defence of Aguinaldo, which have lately appeared in a number of democratic papers, were launched at a very inopportune time, appearing as they did at the same time that the dispatches from Manila, brought news of the death of so many brave American boys at the hands of this same Aguinaldo and his gang of murdering vagabonds.

For a high grade piano, don't overlook the Haines Bros. Indorsed by all leading musicians in Roseburg. They are used and indorsed by Dr. Elmer, Mrs. Applegate and others. Maudie Patti has a Haines upright in her boudoir in her beautiful home at Craigies Castle, Wales, and used the Haines piano during her last tour of the United States.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., NEW YORK.

Beautiful spring weather.

Everybody in this city are busy and prospering.

Miss Nettie Redfield of Bostydell was shopping at Glendale today.

Mr. and Mrs. Totton of Glendallen made a business trip to Glendale today.

Peter Uiam will remove his family to Glendale, next week, where they expect to make their home.

L. D. Hurd, who has a large contract of K. H. Wood at this place, is rushing the work during these pleasant days.

W. H. Redfield, deputy assessor, called on us this week. Mr. R. is making a careful and pains-taking official.

H. F. Niday, who has been working at the Mt. Reuben mine for some time, is visiting his family at Glendale.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernice Kate of Days Creek spent two days at this place as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Hill.

Our district school commenced on Monday with a large attendance, and with Miss Stedham of Central Point as teacher.

P. F. Roberts has taken another three hundred cord contract for locomotive wood, near the place where the first contract was cut.

H. D. Slater has found another big pocket at his mine on snow creek. This is the third pocket found at this mine within two months.

F. T. Lady spent two days last week at Glendale, visiting his wife and relatives, returning to Mt. Reuben, where he expects to spend the summer.

C. P. Totten of Glendallen has a large wood contract, below the bridge west of Glendale and has a big force of men at work and is rushing his business just now.

Harry Stevenson, of Rockies, was visiting relatives at Glendale, on last Saturday. He went on to the Douglas mine, on Tennessee Gulch. Harry is a nice young man, who is always welcome at our home.

T. W. Billings and family will go to West Fork to live after three years residence at this place. Mr. B. will engage in the mercantile business there. Many friends regret their going and they will be missed at Glendale.

J. L. Wintermute, photographer, is turning out some very fine work in his line, and if you want a good photo of yourself, wife and baby you should call soon, as Mr. W. expects to leave for Lake county as soon as the roads are passable.

H. D. Slater has bought the nice residence property of Mrs. E. Phillips in West Glendale. Mrs. Phillips and her son, Earnest, will leave on Monday for Goldendale, Wash., where Mr. Phillips has purchased a livery stable and is now in business.

Some of the boys concluded they would have a little frolic, and after raising their courage with a few doses of the "ardent," made a raid on the hen coops at hotel Glendale taking therefrom, one turkey and seven chickens, and a big chicken pie was indulged in at the dental parlors. But all human glories like this have their day. The avenger was on their track. Landlord Kennedy proceeded to get out a few warrants, which caused two of the offenders to take a journey to Siason, some left for Canyonville, and the others faced the music. The affair was settled for the sum of $10. The boys are sadder and wiser, and miss their cash. Mr. Kennedy's action in this matter is commended by all law-abiding people, who think it is just as much harm to steal a chicken as it would be to steal a horse.

Applegate Defended.

ROSEBURG, Or., April 4, 1899.

ED. PLAINEALER: I wish to state that the article written by Capt. W. F. Drannan and published in the "Chicago Record," is somewhat incorrect, notably the blame of the outbreak of the Indians being laid on the shoulders of Mr. Applegate, by him not furnishing supplies to Capt. Jack and his aide of Modoc Indians. It is copied by the Oregonian of the 2nd inst, and thereby cause a false impression as to the Applegate mentioned. The fact is that Mescham and Dryer were the Indian agents at the time of the massacre in the glade near the Lava beds, when Gen. Canby and Rey. Thomas were killed. Mescham escaped by the fitness of foot.

Mr. Lindsay Applegate was appointed special Indian agent in 1861, and when the treaty was made with the Modoc tribe Mr. McKay and L. Applegate were the interpreters at the council in October, 1864. That treaty was the "Key to the Modoc War." Vide—Vol. 1st—History of the Northwest—Oregon and Washington—(649 p.)

Lindsay Applegate commanded a company of volunteers, mustered in the Rogue River Valley in 1861, and marched towards the plains to relieve the immigrants and guard them to the settlements in Oregon. He and his family were noted pioneers of Oregon. His sons enlisted in the army in defense of the commonwealth, and the family, as a whole, are a race of warriors and statesmen of whom Oregonians are proud and whose memory is held in reverence at this day. "De mortuis nil nisi bonum."

Hoping you will find room in the columns of your paper for the brief obituary of an honorable man and good citizen.
