CUBA WILL BE ANNEXED.

Not by force will Cuba become a part of the territory of the United States. The operation of natural laws is something not to be denied or reversed. As an intelligent people, wishing to advance in the world to secure peaceful conditions and sound prosperity, the Cubans, at some time not distant, will welcome a complete incorporation of their island with this republic. Self-interest will decide the matter.

Sentimentalism is running its course, and the common-sense facts of the situation are developing from month to month. There are in Cuba a number of elements politically antagonistic to each other. Provincial jealousies are threatening. Old race prejudices and feuds must be restrained with a firm hand. Cuba's business relations are mainly and unalterably with this country. In spite of all the burdens imposed by Spain, the bulk of foreign commerce was with us.

Now that the wall is broken down the current of trade begins to run free. A great volume of American capital will go to Cuba if the island elects to remain under our flag. But American enterprise must necessarily hold back as long as a chance mains that Cuba will choose to be another turbulent Spanish-American republic.

We are pledged to give Cuba a stable government. By no possibility can this be construed to mean that our forces will withdraw entirely from the island as long as the seeds of civil war are alive.

A stable, free government is one conducted securely and harmoniously by a majority of the electorate, and by a full recognition of the rightful power of majorities. No government is stable unless it is able to perform international duties, to protect life and property, and to defend itself against outside aggression. Cuba needs the sheltering arm of the United States. It needs the freedom of trade with us that prevails among our own states. That can be secured only by annexation.

Should the island become a separate nationality it must face the same tariff regulations as Canada, Jamaica and other foreign, though contiguous regions. Will the Cubans, after a calm consideration of the advantages of union with this country, vote for what is most dangerous and unprofitable to themselves? It seems incredible.

Annexation with the United States is a high privilege and one that we are not offering to any people but the Cubans. We should not agree to annex Canada except through cautious negotiations, and these might result in a failure to agree.

Cuba stands in a different light. Its status, as far as we are concerned, is distinct from that of any other spot on earth. We have given much in life and treasure for its liberation. Its offered cession was refused because we had promised its people a choice in their future form of government, after the island is pacified and the conditions are stable. The promise will be fulfilled. At the same time the fact is clear that the road to stability leads direct to annexation.

To be a part of the United States is unmistakably the destiny of Cuba. The sooner this is naturally consummated the better. When it is done the island will be the scene of a splendid transformation, social, political and industrial, with few counterparts in history.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

In the account of the tragic death of Game Warden McGuire and Senator Al Reed, it is chronicled that the boat had been worked in close to shore and that Mr. Reed caught hold of some willows on the bank and tried to draw the boat in to the bank. The current was too strong, however, and he let go. Right here is where the nobleness and generosity of the man is presented. Mr. Reed knew that death stared them in the face and that with the unmanagable boat if they went into the whirling rapids they were sure to be drowned. It would have been an easy and safe thing for Mr. Reed to have clung to the willows and jumped from the boat when he discovered that he could not hold the entire party, and he then could have easily pulled himself ashore. But rather than desert his companions for his own safety, he preferred to take his chances with them and go down the stream in safety or to death. Even in this he was generous to a fault.—Bohemia Nugget.

Stephen J. Field, the veteran retired justice of the supreme court of the United States, who died at his home in Washington, D. C., on the 10th inst., was born at Haddam, Conn., November 4, 1816. He was the son of David Dudley Field, and one of four brothers, who became so famous, David Dudley, Cyrus W. and Henry M. Field being the other members of the great quartet that made their names known throughout the world. His early boyhood was spent at Stockbridge, Mass. He graduated from Williams college in 1837, at the head of his class. In 1848 he spent some time their traveling. In November, 1849, he sailed for San Francisco around Cape Horn and entered upon the practice of law in the Occidental metropolis. After a short time he moved to Marysville, a small mining camp, and became one of the founders of what afterward grew to be a thriving town. He was elected a judge of the supreme court of California in 1857 for the term of six years. In 1859 he became chief justice, succeeding Chief Justice David S. Terry. In 1863 President Lincoln appointed him associate justice of the supreme court of the United States, and he held that position until his retirement on December 1, 1897. During the latter years of his service on the bench he was in very feeble health. His term was the longest in the history of the tribunal.

WILLING TO EXPAND.

In response to a telegraphic request, from one of the large daily papers on the Atlantic coast, as to his position on the Nicaragua canal and the Hawaiian and Philippine islands Governor Geer yesterday wired the following response, stating his position, which will, doubtless, be endorsed by the majority of the people of Oregon and the Pacific Northwest:

"The people of Oregon are in favor of retaining the Philippine islands for several reasons, but chiefly because it will speedily enlarge the market for many of our staple products and especially that for our wheat and lumber.

"In proportion as they pass under the influence of modern civilization, which will rapidly follow in the wake of American occupation, will the demand for and consumption of the products of American farms and forests increase. Since these results are very much to be desired from an industrial and a commercial point of view, our people are practically unanimous in favor of raising the American flag for all time, over the territory secured largely by the blood of many of our volunteer soldiers.

"If there are those among us who think they cannot be patriotic citizens without standing on a platform opposing the republican party, they will be found next year declaiming loudly against 'Imperialism.' Otherwise we are in favor of expansion.

"The Nicaragua canal should be speedily built for the reason that it would shorten the route between the producers and consumers of nearly every product of civilized nations and especially between the coasts of our own country.

"The American citizen living on the Pacific coast, or any other coast, who is opposed to this great enterprise has been born too late by a full half century. The people of Oregon are in favor of the Nicaragua canal and the socalled policy of expansion, because they take an intelligent view of the possibilities of this great country, and have unbounded faith in the strength of our government to wisely use the Hawaiian and Philippine islands as not only necessary but indispensible stepping stones to that vast field of undeveloped commerce that lies beyond the great ocean."

In an exchange appears the headline "The future of the democrat party." Which democrat party?

A horse-shoe nailed over the door wont bring luck to a lazy man.

FOR DUTY ON THE PHILADELPHIA

Officers Ordered to Samoa to Replace Lansdale and Monagham.

VALLEJO, Cal., April 13.—Lieutenant James H. Hetherton, of Mare island, and Ensign Schulze, of the Iowa, have been ordered detached from their present duties and ordered to take the steamer for Samoa on April 19, to report to Admiral Kautz for duty on the Philadelphia. They fill vacancies caused by the death of Lieutenant Philip Lansdale and Ensign John R. Monaghan, who were killed at Samoa.

Lieutenant-Commander Hughes also goes to Samoa, as executive officer to the Philadelphia.

Spreckles Versus Graham.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 10.—The suit of J. D. Spreckles Bros. Co. to recover $525,000 on a promissory note from R. F. Graham, ex-superintendant of the Beaver Hill coal mine, went on trial in Judge Bahr's court today. The note in question was executed by Graham in 1897, at a time when he was the principal owner of the Beaver Hill coal mine and the Coos Bay, Roseburg & Eastern Railway & Navigation Company. It will be argued that Graham was to develop the properties with the money received from the Spreckles, but February 16 last, the latter applied to the United States court at Portland for the appointment of a receiver. The application was denied.

Suit was thereupon begun in this city. Graham has filed a cross-complaint, alleged a breach of contract on the part of the plaintiffs, and in which he asks for $700,000 damages. He claims his reputation has suffered by reason of the litigation instituted by Spreckels. The court held that a trial by jury is unnecessary, and the cause will be heard by the court.

GRAVE CONCERN.

Seriousness of the Crisis Recognized at Berlin.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY VON BULOW.

Consul's Report Interperted as Exonerating the German Residents from Blame.

NEW YORK, April 13.—A dispatch to the Herald from Berlin says: Up to a late hour the lights burned in the foreign office, where much agitation reigned during the afternoon, owing to the latest news from Samoa.

The ambushing of the American and English detachment by Mataafa's warriors is taken here in the most serious light. The dispatch which reached the minister of state from Consul Rose is taken as exonerating the Germans from any hand in the matter, as was at first feared might possibly be the case.

This removed the obstacles to Germany's at once naming her commissioner, who, it is said, will be the first secretary of the German embassy at Washington.

A personage in a position to speak authoritatively, says the reports in German papers that the German government put in a claim for damages are untrue. All such questions as that are entirely matters for the consideration of the commissioners.

All this Samoan trouble is a small but wretched business, for which it seems a terrible pity that 400,000 marks worth of German property has been damaged and lives of American and English seamen have been needlessly sacrificed.

The foreign office has received several dispatches from the commander of the cruiser Falke, in which he makes no mention of any disagreeable discussion with Rear-Admiral Kautz.

The German government takes this as sufficient proof that all stories told on the subject must therefore have been inventions of persons interested in making trouble between Germany and the United States.

LAST OBSTACLE REMOVED.

Von Bulow Says the Commission Can Proceed to Samoa Without Delay.

BERLIN, April 13.—This morning Baron von Bulow informed the American ambassador that Great Britian has at last agreed to the unanimity rule, the United States also agreeing to it, and that the commission can probably proceed to the island without delay.

The German press gives its news calmly and mostly without comment. The Cologne Gazette remarks:

"We need not say that if the guilt of the manager of the plantation is proven Germany will adprove of his arrest and the demand for his punishment."

The Tageblatt calls the arrest of the manager of the German plantation where the ambuscade took place "illegal," saying: "Our consul is the only competent judge."

The Vossiche Zeitung says: "Whatever action the German government takes it will find itself fully backed up by the reichstag."

LONDON, April 13.—It is asserted that the statement that the Marquis of Salisbury has unreservedly adhered to the principals of unanimity of decisions of the Samoa commissions is incorrect. The question as to the extent unanimity is necessary has still to be settled, and certain reservations will probably be made by Great Britian. The exact term of the instructions have not been agreed upon.

LONDON PRESS COMMENT.

Suspension of Judgment Pending Investigation Generally Advocated.

LONDON, April 13.—The Daily News, commenting editorially upon the latest news from Samoa, says:

"Ambush and mutilation of the dead are the ordinary incidents of savage warfare, and ought not to provoke any special acts of reprisal. The case, however, would be seriously complicated if it could be shown that the Germans actively aided or connteled the enemy. Apart from that there is nothing necessary but to keep cool and hurry the joint commission. The American government is determined to regard the matter with equanimity. The American people are yet to be heard from.

"We can derive a melancholy satisfaction from the knowledge that, for the first time since the war of independence, the British and American soldiers and sailors have fallen side by side in battle. But even this is poor consolation in comparison with the complications which events have added to an intricate problem. Justice bids us remember that we are not yet in possession of the German version, and Emperor William, who has displayed such anxiety to bring about an adjustment of the difficulties, will be the most deeply concerned. In the meantime, let us hope that it will be the disposition of all sides not to aggravate a very serious situation."

The Daily Chronicle says:

"The situation, is whether, when one power tries to overreach one or two others, she can complain if she suffers a rebuff. There can be no question that when local intrigues lead to the sacrifice of white life the central power must be held responsible. No doubt she will behave fairly enough, but the danger is that it will take very little, after the experience in the Philippines, to blow up a flame in the United States which the German authorities will give much to extinguish. As for our uncivil selves, it is well to understand that we are not going to undertake by private agreement to nullify the principles of a decision by a majority of the special commission."

The Daily Graphic, recalling "numerous occasions when Germany has had the civilizing work of other nations," urges coolness in the pending investigation and suggests that the best way out of the commission problem would be to appoint an arbitrator.

The Daily Mail, hitherto a strong advocate of conciliating Germany, says:

"We are bound to admit that the German press and authorities are pushing matters rather far, but we look to Emperor William's moderating influence to prevent further trouble."

After alluding to the "fraternity of valor between the English and Americans on the battlefield," the Daily Mail says that the greatest need of the situation is for cool heads.

The Standard says:

"It is true that British and American blood has been shed and that British and American flags fired upon, and for this an account must be rendered. But the larger question of a permanent settlement regarding Samoa and the possible revision of the treaty remains for future consideration. This question is not one that can be allowed to involve Germany in a serious quarrel with two powers with whom she has the strongest wishes to remain on terms of amity."

The Times says:

"The incident is painful. Though it has no direct bearing upon the questions under discussion between the three governments and may not in any way affect their diplomatic action, it is eminently satisfactory to find that Great Britain and the United States are acting together in diplomacy, as well as by sea and land.

"As to the hesitation of Great Britain and the United States to accept the German proposition that unanimity on the part of the commissioners is necessary not only in the main issue, but in all details, it must be approved, as the judgment of common sense. If Germany insists on an absolute agreement about everything, she will infallibly delay the speedy settlement to which she aspires."

Funston.

(From the Cleveland Plain Dealer.)

Funston of Kansas, mark the name,
Won for himself enduring fame,
When at the brink of the river wide
With the leaping foe on the other side,
He called to the men, "Who follows me?"
Forward they rushed together, by three;
Forward they plunged, all free from dread,
To follow close where their colonel led.
Into the tide he swiftly dashed,
Parting the waters with sturdy breast
They swam the stream on their daring quest.
They swam the stream, with hatless head
A shining mark for raging lead.
They swam the stream, they rushed pell mell
Upon the foe, with a curdling yell.
They captured them in a dusky band
Far larger than their own command.
Thus, dripping line in damp array
Bore off the honors of the day.
And Funston, don't forget the name,
Found that lead swam to death's sea fame.

A Desperate Woman.

Experts in insanity tell us that when anyone goes insane, frequently their whole nature is reversed. They do and say exactly the opposite things to what they would do in their sane minds. A mother whose mind breaks down under extreme nervous tension may turn upon the one object in all the world most precious to her—her baby.

The terrible nervous tension under which many women live and suffer because of some weakness or disease of their sex, keeps them on the very verge of insanity. The constant drag and drain upon the complicated and delicate organism affects the whole nervous system and works upon the brain with an almost irresistible madness.

Thousands of suffering women have been literally saved from the insane asylum by the timely influence of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is the one perfect and positive specific for every derangement of woman's special organism. It is a scientific and permanent cure for those severe, chronic, complicated cases which doctors usually consider hopeless. It is the only medicine of its kind devised by an educated and skilled physician.

Mrs. Sarah F. Adams, of Dayton, Cass Co., Mo., in a letter to Dr. Pierce writes: "It was in the winter of 1894 that my sufferings commenced. It was close to my time of confinement. I took the grip, and that with the labor pains all went to my head. I suffered dreadfully, and when I gave birth to my little boy I kept getting worse. I doctored but nothing did me any good. I had nervousness and was delirious—Oh! no tongue can express my sufferings. I was advised by a lady to try your medicine and I did. I got one bottle of the 'Favorite Prescription' and one of the 'Golden Medical Discovery.' I had taken two-thirds of the medicine when it commenced its work. I began to feel better, and still continued getting better. In a short time I felt like another woman. I gained strength and flesh. I am now forty-one years of age. This is true, and it was your medicine that saved my life."

Dr. Pierce's 1000-page illustrated book, "The People's Medical Adviser" sent, paper-bound, free for the cost of mailing only, 21 one-cent stamps; cloth-bound at stamps. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.
