JULY 3, 1899.

When the 13 guns peal out at sunrise tomorrow morning, July the Fourth, it will be the announcement of the inauguration of the greatest celebration of the nation's natal day that has ever been held in Roseburg. Evidence of the grand preparations that have been made for the occasion may be seen on every hand. Stores and various streets have taken on a brilliant patriotic air. While the beautiful, cool, shady grove on the banks of the placid Umpqua in the western suburb of town, where the exercises will be held, has been put in gay holiday attire. The city has already assumed a lively appearance and by tomorrow morning will be in a blaze of glory. Just what patriotism will be witnessed on the day can only be conjectured, but that it will come in volumes from every source is certain. The executive committee announces that everything is now in shape and there is no doubt but that the day will be celebrated in a manner that will make the allies apply for papers of citizenship as soon as the festivities are over. There is something soul-stirring in the sight of old glory floating on the breeze—a monument in itself and a source of inspiration and loyalty to 70,000,000 people. It needs but the drum-beat and sight of "Old Glory" to form a rallying point for every loyal blood-bodied man in the land who are willing and ever ready to defend the shield with their last breath of life. Hurrah for the glorious Fourth!

One of the depressing thoughts of the year is that young America has several hundred more fingers today than he will possess after the last Fourth of July firecracker has exploded.

Kentucky democrats in their platform took the usual party ground that protection is responsible for trusts. Perhaps they will explain the origin of trusts in free trade countries.

Iowa's silver republican party has gone out of business. Its few members announcing that hereafter they will be democrats. As a matter of fact they have been that all the time.

It will pay to treat our visiting journalists royally, and make their two or three hours' sojourn in Roseburg an event which will prove the hospitality of Roseburg people, the state and the Pacific coast. Give the editors a royal reception for it will be an honor to them and to you.

The Forest Grove Times came to our table this week and we note the article and versatile Col. J. B. Eddy has become its editor and proprietor, which is a guarantee that the paper will be brighter and more interesting than ever. Here's our best brother Eddy, and may you prosper abundantly in your new field of labor.

If the trusts are going to throw hundreds of thousands of men out of employment, and as the same time raise prices to consumers, they will before long come in contact with the biggest American club they ever saw, heard or dreamed of. Furthermore, they could not arouse a more potent enemy than the commercial traveler of the country. These men belong to no party, though they sometimes vote pretty solidly one way. A great majority of them voted for Cleveland in 1892, very few of them voted for Bryan in 1896. The "drummers" go to the country, and if they take up cudgils against the trusts, there will be a hot time in trout-ten some of these days.

"On the plains of Cuba," said Mr. Young, a prominent St. Louis newspaper man in an address to the Rough Riders, "when I saw the Sons of Veterans marching beneath the flag which their fathers died to save, and the Sons of Confederate soldiers in the same uniform, bearing the same arms and marching under the same flag, and the sons of former slaves accompanying and waving like the others, with the flag above them and the same purpose in their hearts, and 100 years-born full-blooded Indians selected in the same lines and sifting the same cause; when I saw these, I made a vow to high Heaven never to be a partisan again, that hereafter and forever all Americans should look alike to me."

More than 3,000,000 wage workers of the United States have had their income largely increased since the days of 1890, when the Bryanite reign of industrial terror was under way. Between $2,000,000 and $3,000,000 more wages is disbursed to the workers of the country every day at present than was given at the time that the republican party was making the contract three years ago. The country bears nothing of the "crimes of 1873" these days. It is the crime of 1890—the immense advance in the wages of the vast majority of American workers in all the industries and the general high tide in this wave of republican prosperity that is sweeping over the country—which is disturbing the democratic party today.

Summer at the beach with all its gaiety will be somewhat late this year, as the "slit-waist" girl is awaiting the return of her soldier by "before going down." The dear girls are beginning to plan for August clam digging, moonlight strolls, camp-fire and all those other delightful things that make seaside life a dream of bliss. "When the boys come home" is now about all one can hear. Summer gowns and dainty ribbons are being carefully looked after. Goggles are being planned and the dear loved boys will have to smile and look pleased, and no doubt they will be pleased.—Telegram.

The trustees of Williams university, having considered the proposition of President Hawley to elect a clergyman as president of the university, decided not to act at present on the suggestion, and re-elected President Hawley to the presidency for the ensuing year.

When you notice a man digging in the garden very slowly, stopping often to rest and cussing occasionally, it's safe to say his wife has got him to work, but he is digging like a good fellow never stopping to rest and whistling a popular air, he's after worms for bait.—Ex.

President Will Come West. Washington, June 29.—Senator Warren of Wyoming, called upon the president today with reference to his West trip. The president contradicted the published reports that he has abandoned the idea of going West this summer.

Grand Reception for Volunteers. On occasion of the return of the 2nd regiment of Oregon volunteers there will be a grand celebration at Portland, and it is probable that the Southern Pacific Company will offer special rates from all points on its Oregon lines. Full information as to rates, date of celebration, etc. will be announced later. Further particulars can be obtained from any Southern Pacific agent. Yours truly, C. H. MARSHMAN.

Prosperous Coos Bay. The project to build a railway on Coos Bay by Mr. Sargent, the former dream of the wildest enthusiasts. A veritable boom in lumbering and shipbuilding has started in upon us and without any forewarning. It will be many days before every available logging camp in the country will be running full blast; shipbuilders on the bay have contracts for all the ships they can build and everything pertaining to the establishing of new wharves near Marshfield. A force of about twenty men under the supervision of J. Gignac, are at work putting the Foster mill on to run and expect to be ready to saw lumber by the 25th prox. The new line from the front on Coos Bay is due to the principles of expansion. A new country has been opened up to us where our timber is in demand and some transportation is desired. The "barns" taken on the bay is of the log cabin and not of a boom type.—Marshfield Item.

ADDITIONAL LOCAL.

Mrs. W. E. Bites arrived here Saturday evening, where she will make her future home. Mr. and Mrs. Will Levine, of Galeville, came to Roseburg Sunday night, to spend the Fourth. Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Ricks and child, of Junction City, came up Friday evening to spend the Fourth. We are informed on good authority that in a recent personal interview with Spreckels, of San Francisco, an industrial business man of Marshfield was told that in case Spreckels came in full control of the Graham property he would undoubtedly begin work on the railroad to Roseburg. Spreckels also stated that the coast terminus of the road would, for various reasons, be located at some point on the bay below Empire.—Random Recorder.
