They Destroy a Train—Fifteen English Killed.

WILL SOON ATTACK MAFeking.

All Diplomatic Relations Between the Two Countries are Severed—War a Reality.

Boers Issue a Manifesto.

PRETORIA, Oct. 12.—An official manifesto has just been addressed to Afrikaners throughout South Africa appealing to them to resist the "unjust demands of Great Britain, and securing Lord Salisbury, Mr. Chamberlain and Sir Alfred Milner of treachery. It blames the queen for condoning what it describes as "Chamberlain's criminal policy," and declares that "the clear desire and object of Great Britain is to deprive the Transvaal of independence on account of the gold mines of the Rand." The manifesto says "Great Britain offered two alternatives: 'Five-year franchise or war,' and then goes on to say: 'The difference between the two governments of two years on the franchise question is considered by her majesty's government sufficient justification for an endeavor to swallow two republics.' In conclusion it reminds the Afrikaners that 'God will assuredly defend the right.'"

The manifesto is signed by Reitz, secretary of state. A million copies will be printed in Dutch and English.

JOHANNESBURG, Oct. 12.—War was formally declared at 10 o'clock this morning.

LONDON, Oct. 13.—A dispatch from Paris late this afternoon says the Boers with twelve guns, are preparing to assault Mafeking.

LONDON, Oct. 12.—The announcement that Boers destroyed a train on the western border of the Transvaal is calculated to bring home to the "man-in-the-street" the realities of war.

Attempts are made to liken the occurrence to the blowing up of the U. S. battleship Maine in Havana harbor, but that event occurred in times of peace. The Boers were doubtless within their rights as belligerents, if they are responsible for the destruction of the train.

LONDON, Oct. 13.—The Evening News publishes the following dispatch from Cape Town:

"Armored train has been destroyed south of Mafeking. Fifteen British troops killed. Boers shelled the wreckage after the train was destroyed."

An official dispatch received at the Colonial office says: "Armored train was destroyed near Krasiaan station while on the way to Mafeking with guns." This disposition of the train that many women and children were involved in the disaster.

Uncle Sam Notified.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—State department was today notified of the withdrawal from Pretoria of Conyngham Greene, British diplomatic agent to the South African republic, and the existence of a state of war between Great Britain and that republic. Mr. MacMahon, American minister at Pretoria, has accordingly been instructed to undertake the care of British interests in that section during the war.

To Entrap Aguinaldo.

New York, Oct.—A special to the Herald from Washington says: While General Schwan is engaged in the scattering of the enemy in Cavite province, General Lawton and MacArthur are making preparations for an important movement to the north of Manila. General MacArthur and Lawton will proceed to the north in the hope of trapping Aguinaldo and his forces between the three columns.

General Schwan's movement to the southward of Manila is merely in the nature of a demonstration, and for the purpose of scattering insurgents who have entrenched themselves in Cavite province the home of Aguinaldo and the nest of the rebellion.

Captain Coghlan Coming West.

Chicago, Oct. 12.—Captain Coghlan, formerly commander of the cruiser Raleigh, left today for Sitka, Alaska, where he goes to take charge of the light house district of that territory.

"Necessity is the Mother of Invention."

It was the necessity for an honest, reliable blood purifier and tonic that brought into existence Hood's Sarsaparilla. It is a highly concentrated extract prepared by a combination, proportion and process peculiar to itself and giving to Hood's Sarsaparilla unequalled curative power. Its wonderful record of cures has made it America's Greatest Medicine.

Funston Dubs Him Prince of Confidence Men.

HE DECEIVES HIS PEOPLE

Into Belief That the War Will Soon End in Their Favor—Ready to Desert.

CHICAGO, Oct. 12.—A special to the Times-Herald from San Francisco says: "I see no reason why the Americans should not be sole masters of the Philippines by March, next year." This is the opinion of Brigadier General Funston, who arrived at the home of his wife, in East Oakland, last night.

"The situation in the islands," he said, "has reached a stage where it is very easy to cope with it. There must be no temporizing, no wasted sympathy, no foolish sentiment. It must be a case of fight. The Filipinos are now in a frame of mind that they will not yield until they are thoroughly thrashed and convinced that it is useless to oppose America."

"I do not say this unadvisedly. I have given the matter many months of deep study, and my knowledge of Spanish enables me to converse freely with officers and prisoners on the rebel side. We arrived at Manila last December, which was two months before hostilities began."

"During these two months the officers of the Filipinos frequently came within our lines and I discussed with them every phase of the situation. They were high-minded and gave me the opinion that they were well able to look after themselves and that it was very well for the Americans to deliver them from the perils of Spain, but that having performed that service, we should be satisfied and let them alone."

"The best among them are educated. Occasionally I found a scattering of educated men. But they are absolutely an ignorant race and quite incapable of self-government. I am convinced that the best way to govern the islands is to give them a firm, stiff-necked colonial government, more on the same lines as the government of colonies of Great Britain. There should be a governor-general, who should have absolute power over the local government and also the command of the United States troops and any native troops that it may be considered judicious to organize."

"This may seem strange, but I am convinced that as soon as the rebellion is crushed, there will be an entire change of heart among a large percentage of natives and they will be quite willing to carry arms of American officers. With the 35,000 men now down there and the additional 25,000 that will be on the ground when the November campaign opens, there will be ample soldiers to take through the islands. Sixty thousand troops will teach the Filipinos the lesson they deserve. But it must not be a campaign of temporizing. It must be aggressive and persistent from the start. There must be no let up and no opportunity must be given the rebels, once routed, to recover."

"The Filipinos are no match for Americans on the battlefield. In one instance at Calapan, where the Kansas troops were engaged, we lost two men while the Filipinos lost 112 dead. This is, of course, not a fair comparison, but the Americans are certainly as much superior under arms than Filipinos as six to one."

"The seat of all the trouble at this time is the Filipino junta at Hong Kong. This pernicious little body is keeping the war alive. It is in communication with insurgents, and supplies Aguinaldo's army with the hopes from which it lives. It sends out reports of fearful disaster to our troops that never occur. It imagines all manner of friendly feeling, the world over toward the Filipinos. It assures them of all kinds of outside support without foundation and in this manner keeps their spirits alive."

"The Filipinos are busiest just now circulating reports that the trend of public opinion in this country is against the American procedure in the islands. They are informed by all the states have pronounced against the policy of the administration and that they have only to wait until the next general election, when the United States will grant them their independence."

"Aguinaldo himself is shrewd, but not clever. He circulates and corroborates all the junk sent out. If his people could be induced to accept the situation they would desert him tomorrow."

"So long as those fellows think they have a ghost of a show of holding out, they will maintain the rebellion, and if the American army fights them at every hand, I believe they will turn as a whole and come flocking into our camp, and will have no further use for that prince of confidence operators, Aguinaldo."

To Bring Dewey and Lee Together.

Richmond, Va., Oct. 14.—Admiral Dewey and General Fitzhugh Lee may ride together in a parade here next month. The occasion will be the launching of the torpedo-boat Shubrick. A fete extending over three days is marked the event. The effort to bring Dewey and Lee together is due to a wish on the part of the democratic managers to start a presidential and vice-presidential boom, taking in both men. The presence of General Lee here is practically assured. Admiral Dewey has already been invited. President McKinley has also been asked to attend.

From such information as is now available, it seems quite certain that Oregon's crop of prunes this year will exceed 5,000,000 pounds. Douglas county alone will market 2,500,000 pounds. The total output of the state will be 40 per cent of last year's crop, and more than 25 per cent of what might be considered a full crop. The bulk of the crop is made up of petites.—Eugene Guard.

Kap Kuhl is up from the Gold Standard mine, and says the rich pockets continue right along and are richer even than the first discovery. He thinks they have taken out from eight to ten thousand, and they are likely to take out a great deal more before the pockets are exhausted.—Jacksonville Item.

Canada has consented to the temporary Alaskan boundary arrangement.

Agreeable news from the United States school reaches Tagal headquarters in these days. More regiments and more gunboats are a monotonous item at Tarlac.

An increase of receipts and a reduction of debt is the record of the United States treasury for September, all of which was accomplished with the full consent of the government.

A 25-cent stamp carries a letter to Porto Rico, and postal cards can be mailed to the island the same as to points in this country. These imperialistic strides are terrible to some people.

The New York police department has another great mystery to wrestle with. A woman was found in East river, with her body cut up and wrapped in canvas, last week.

Dewey wants a furnished house with a southern exposure, a dining room for eighteen, at least three bedrooms and a library. He modestly prefers a snug home to a palatial mansion.

The Transvaal has an area of 125,000 square miles and a population of about 800,000. They are 50,000 Boers, who are descendants of the early Dutch and French Huguenots, immigrants to Cape Colony. In 1838 the Boers settled beyond the river Vaal, hence the name Transvaal.

Major General Shafter will reach the age of retirement from active service today, Monday, the 16th. Six officers of the regular army are to be promoted to the rank of brigadier-general at this time, among whom are Colonel Lawton and Colonel McArthur, now serving as general officers of volunteers.

The Illinois Lutheran conference is entertaining. It recently adopted resolutions that it "takes a man's trust of God and places it in an insurance company." Many a family are in debt for their bread and butter because it takes all the head of the family can raise to keep up life insurance.—Journal.

Charles D. Lane, the millionaire mine owner, has returned from Cape Nome, where he went to make investments in mining ground. He brought back with him five sacks of gold dust and nuggets valued at $150,000. He will purchase or build a new steamer which he will run between San Francisco and Cape Nome next year. He says the richness of Cape Nome has not yet been fully realized, and the gold is everywhere as plentiful in the sands as in the creek beds.

An Iowa Farmer Talks.

Under the heading of "Horse Sense in Iowa," the New York Sun prints the following:

Upon the occasion of a recent visit to Iowa I asked a farmer in an interior county what the people of Iowa intended to do at the next presidential election, and his answer was as follows:

"Wall, I never argue politics and never did, but if I give a man a job and he does his work well, what's the use of turning him off and getting a new man? Now, McKinley does his work right up to the hilt, and no man could do it better, though I didn't have no part in putting him there. So what's the sense in turning him out and putting a new man in his place?"

"He made a lot of promises about good times, and I can't see as he oversteated the facts either, for certainly the times have been thundering good, there's no denying that."

"Now, Bill Bryan came around here telling the boys that if they didn't elect him the country would go to hell; and he said that he was talking about, or was lying, likely the latter."

"Guess we can spare Bill a spell yet, so he can get his picture took. Maybe he'll learn something if he hangs around the house and keeps his head cool out there in Nebraska. If he runs again you can easy git the fool cusses by conning his vote."

"He reminds me of a mule I owned once—the only time he reed his head was at dinner time—rest of the time he was lolling around for something to kick at. McKinley will go back for another term, inawhile, that's what the neighbors say, and I'm likewise."
