FIRST PRUNES SHIPPED.

Marion County's Crop Amounts to Four Carloads This Year.

SALEM, O., Aug. 17.—The first carload of dried prunes to leave Marion county this year was shipped from Salem last evening. The fruit will be shipped by Chas. L. Dailey, formerly a member of the state board of horticulture, and it will be sent to Eastern states.

The total product of dried prunes in Marion county this season is about 100,000 pounds. It is only within the last few days that it has been possible to settle the much-discussed question concerning the extent of the damage to the prunes crop by the spring freeze. Practically the whole crop in Marion county is now in the Wallace warehouse in Salem, and it is conclusive evidence of the yield this year. The whole crop will be shipped in four cars.

Mr. Dailey said today that the prunes dried heavier this year than ever before. Usually 60 pounds of fresh prunes make but 20 pounds when dried; this year a fruit dried in many cases to one-half its original weight. The prices received by the growers are much better than last year.

As the crop was small the growers usually sold without grading or sacking, so that the prices given were not on the same basis as heretofore. Making allowances for sacking grading etc., the growers have received 4 1/2 to 5 cents a pound for the 40 to 50 size, with the half cent variation for higher or lower sizes. This is the same price as quoted last Saturday at San Francisco. Usually prices in Oregon are considerably lower than in California.

Mr. Dailey has always urged the necessity of making a good reputation for Oregon prunes in Eastern markets. For several years past he has taken pains to pack his prunes in neat and attractive shape, shipping only good fruit and putting a brand upon the packages so that the retail dealers and consumers may know from whence the goods came. He says the plan results even better than he expected. He thinks that if all Oregon growers and shippers would be careful in packing fruit and then ship it year after year under the same brand the prune industry in this state would be greatly advanced.

Wheat Prospects.

The fact that there is little demand for wheat at the present time should not occasion any uneasiness among the farmers. If we are not very much mistaken the outlook was never more encouraging. Nearly all the transatlantic steamers are at present engaged in the preparation of wheat that is being made for a vigorous campaign in South Africa. And since war has been commenced, while there is no doubt about the success of the English in the end, it will be most sanguinary and stubbornly contested conflict, and however deeply we deplore the necessity of war, it is only natural that we should inquire what effect a prolonged war in that country will have on the price of American breadstuffs. There can be but one answer to such a query, and that is that it will have a most stimulating effect. It may not be felt at once on account of the scarcity of ships, now otherwise engaged, but the American farmer may depend upon it that better prices will very shortly follow an active conflict in the Transvaal.

General News.

The Canadian government telegraph line has been completed to Dawson, Alaska.

Gov. Stanley of Kansas, will stump Ohio for the republican state ticket this month.

A new cotton mill is to be built at Richmond, Va., to employ several hundred hands.

The New England Best Sugar Company will erect a $300,000 plant at North Judson, Indiana.

On Dewey day at Three Oaks, Mich., Miss Helen Gould will unveil the Spanish gun captured by Dewey, and won by the village.

The army officials are watching the tests of the automobile as an engine of war with great interest. Opinion favors its adoption.

Six widows and 123 children and grandchildren attended the funeral of Conqueror Bear, an Indian killed by a street car at Omaha, Neb.

Missionaries shipping eggs and chickens by the car load to Cuba, Alaska and Manchester, England. This export business has all been built up within the past five years.

When the Tennessee regiment, the last of the volunteers to leave the Philippines reaches home it will probably be greeted personally by the president. Its debarment to take part in a supplementary fight was an example of the true American spirit.

The report that Queen Victoria would abdicate sooner than consent to a war with the Boers did not prove correct. It has been known that she wished to finish her reign in peace. But it was not likely that the old lady, who enjoys her authority, would be anxious to give it up for the sake of a technicality.

Postmasters have received a departmental order to hold all the mail passing through the postoffice between October 4th and November 6th counted, and the statistics prepared and forwarded to the postmaster-general. This is the first time in twenty years that such an order has been issued. The task is one of great proportions. The greatest care is necessary in figuring out the weight, number of pieces and class of every piece of mail passing out of the postoffice, and all this must be done without hindering the regular dispatch of mail. The order applies to every postoffice in the United States, and it has been issued that a table of accurate statistics may be prepared.

Mormonism and Polygamy.

Discussions of "Congressman Roberts' case" has given rise to much confusion regarding Mormonism and polygamy. The two terms are used frequently as if synonymous. Yet they are as distinct as Christianity and monotheism, and to interchange them is to weaken the case against Congressman Roberts of Utah. As a Mormon he has a perfect right to a seat in congress, but as a polygamist he is on a level with any other confessed criminal.

Mormonism is not a sect of Christianity, but a distinct religion, the same as Mohammedanism, Shintoism, Buddhism, Judaism, or Confucianism. In fact, it accepts the Bible, both Old and New Testaments, as inspired, but it claims three other books as also inspired, namely, "The Book of Mormon," "The Doctrine and Covenants," and "The Pearl of Great Price." These three may be called the Koran of the Mormon church. They all come from the founder of the church, Joseph Smith. The Mormon church believes also in continuous revelations. Polygamy was not a part of the original Mormonism and might be entirely eradicated without necessarily interfering with the growth of the church.

A Chicago clergyman, Dr. Notman, delivered a lecture Wednesday evening of last week to his own people on Mormonism, in which he discussed the Roberts case, and made the remark: "With the Mormon people I have no quarrel. With the Mormon system it must be war to the death."

It is this Dr. Notman meant merely that Mormonism is not a part of Christianity and must not be tolerated in any way, then the position taken in right and should be maintained by all Christians. But the government of the United States as such has nothing to do with "the Mormon system," and has no right to make war upon it. "The election of Mr. Roberts to congress throws down the gauntlet," says Dr. Notman, "to the American people." That is true enough but that gauntlet is a challenge to mortal combat with polygamy, and not Mormonism. Whether the Mormon system could not survive the eradication of polygamy is a question for the future to decide, and quite immaterial to the duty of congress and the American people in connection with the Roberts case.—E.

The Death Angel.

The death angel swiftly and silently brooded over the home of F. Weatherly on the night of the 15th of October and bore away to the Savior's bosom, the innocent and spotless soul of one of his twin sons. The little lamb that gathered to the fold of the Good Shepherd is an inseparable affliction to the sorrowing family. The little fellow was unusually bright and lovable and was the great pride of the fond parents and would have been seven months old the 21st of the present month.

"No little now I ken of your blessed bonnie place,
I'm ken his home, where we shall see his face,
I'll surely be enough for evermore to be
In the glory of his presence in our own country.
"Like a babe to its mother, a wee birdie
to its nest,
I would fain be going now unto my Saviour's breast.
For He gathers in his bosom little precious lambs like me,
And carries them Himself to His own country."

Synod Resolutions.

The Presbyterian synod at Salem passed the following resolution:
That churches observe temperance day with appropriate exercises in compliance with the recommendation of the general assembly.

That this synod hereby asserts and declares its confidence in the maxim laid down by the supreme court of the United States that the saloon has no natural or moral right to exist, and that therefore, it becomes the duty of every Christian to strive to secure such legal enactments as shall effectually suppress the saloon and all such traffic in liquor as leads to the establishing of such vil-ges of resorts.
