BIG GALAPAGOS TURTLES.

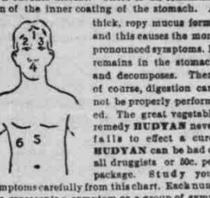

The Heaviest Weighed 600 Pounds and Was Worth for Scientific Uses $500.

From the Galapagos islands the schooner Julia Whalen has brought ten of the immense turtles for which the islands are noted. The biggest shell-back of them all weighs 600 pounds and is said to be the largest ever brought from the islands. Unfortunately the monster reptile was accidentally killed two weeks out from the islands. A sharp piece of timber fell on the deck and pierced the animal's lungs. The turtle coughed blood for awhile, and an attempt was made to plaster up the hole but the injured tortoise died in a fortnight. As scientists estimate the average life of these turtles at 200 years, death within two weeks of an injury is practically instantaneous for a turtle. It is said in the islands that no turtle has died a natural death in the memory of the oldest inhabitant. During the two centuries that scientists have allotted it to live some accident generally befalls the turtle. Many have met their deaths by falling over precipices, and a number have been overtaken by the lava flows of these volcanic islands. In fact, the turtle brought back dead by the Whalen shows marks on its shell of having been caught in some fiery flow. There are some 12 species of turtles in the islands, and they are being studied by the zoologist for the purpose of making scientific observations. One of the plant tortoises belong to them, and they have in addition 150 varieties of fish. Sixty-two varieties of fish were already known on these islands, which are rich zoologically. Of the fish brought back to Stanford, 90 specimens are new to science. The collection brings also a most complete collection of insects, many of them unclassified, and a fine collection of birds and reptiles. They have a specimen of a marine iguana, or sea lizard, six feet long.

The college men report that the turtles, though still numerous on Albemarle, have disappeared from the other islands, except on Duncan Island, where a species of the testudo family still exists. There are three species on Albemarle, but on the other islands, each of which had once its separate species, the turtles are extinct. The inhabitants of the islands kill the turtles for their shells, and the supply is steadily growing less. The turtles brought back on the Whalen were worth from $200 to $500 apiece. There were ten, some of them bound for museums, some for zoological gardens and more for the soup kettle.—San Francisco Chronicle.

CATARRH OF THE STOMACH

Is a chronic disease. There is an inflammation of the inner coating of the stomach. A thick,ropy mucus forms and this causes the most pronounced symptoms. It remains in the stomach and decomposes. Then, of course, digestion cannot be properly performed and the food is not properly assimilated. HUYDAN never fails to effect a cure. HUYDAN can be had of all druggists or 50c. per package. Study your symptoms carefully from this chart. Each number represents a symptom or a group of symptoms. You locate the symptoms, the HUYDAN and they will disappear.

THE SYMPTOMS ARE:

1. BILIOUS HEADACHE. This is more pronounced in the morning. HUYDAN will relieve the headache.
- 2-3. RED AND WATERY EYES. HUYDAN will cause the redness to disappear and make the eyes assume their normal, healthy appearance.
4. COATED TONGUE AND PORT BREATH AND BAD TASTE IN THE MOUTH. HUYDAN will clear the tongue, make the breath pure and sweet and cause the bad taste to disappear.
5. PAIN AND TENDERNES IN THE STOMACH. This is due to indigestion. HUYDAN will cause the food to be completely digested and the pain and tenderness will disappear.
6. ENLARGEMENT OF THE LIVER. HUYDAN will lessen the congestion and reduce the enlarged liver to its normal size.

HUYDAN will relieve you of the above symptoms and make you well. Do not delay. Go to your druggist at once and procure a package of HUYDAN for 50c. or 5 for $2.50. If your druggist does not keep it, send direct to the HUYDAN REMEDY COMPANY, San Francisco, Cal., and they will send it to you. You can consult the great HUYDAN DOCTORS FREE. Do not forget that call and see them if you wish. You may call and see them, or write, as you desire. Address HUYDAN REMEDY COMPANY, Cor. Stockton, Market and Ellis Sts., San Francisco, Cal.

A TRICK FOR HALLOWEEN.

It is called "Chloroform" and Will Mystify and Entertain.

A game that is not entirely new and yet especially appropriate for Halloween is "Chloroform." It is especially enjoyable for an evening of mystery, because it always proves mystifying to the uninitiated. Take some particular person who understands the game to play the role of medium, send her from the room, an empty chair being reserved for her next to the person who is in collusion with her. When she leaves the room some word is determined upon by the rest of the party. The medium then returns to the room and the medium returns her task is to tell what the word is without any questions. She is summoned, sits down next to her friend, and while all present are seated in a circle, with joined hands, she says the word, spells it to the medium by tapping with a finger upon the palm of her hand, the number of taps being equal to the number of letters in the alphabet. For instance, eight taps for H. Then she says "Chloroform," and when the medium announces the word successfully, those not knowing the secret cannot understand it at all, and it is even more mysterious when it is explained that it is based upon some peculiar method of action—Phoebe Westcott Humphreys, in Woman's Home Companion.

HAYDN'S UNHAPPY WIFE.

Married Her Instead of Her Sister Merely to Oblige His Father-in-Law.

Haydn married, not the girl he was in love with, but her sister. "Haydn, you should take my oldest daughter," said Father Keller, the barber, and, as Keller had done a good deal for Haydn, the composer felt that he must acquiesce in the affection of the father and oblige the old man. At the time of the marriage, in 1760, Haydn was 29, while his Anna Maria was 32. There does not appear to have been much love on either side to start with, but Haydn declared that he had really begun to "like" his wife, and would have come to entertain a stronger feeling for her if she had behaved in a reasonable way. Unfortunately, Anna Maria had neither rhyme nor reason in her composition. The entertaining Marcella says that the majority of ladies married to men of genius are so many of the abilities of their husbands that they are frequently insufferable. But Fran Haydn was not a lady of that kind. "The world had emphatically pronounced her husband a genius, but to Maria it was quite immaterial whether he were a cobbler or an artist. Nay, she even committed the incredible crime of using the composer's manuscript scores for curbing paper, as underlays for party, and similar things! She was gay enough with all that.

When Haydn went from home she would send him the most cheerful letters. "Should you die to-day or to-morrow," ran one of these missives, "there is not enough money left in the house to bury you." At another time when Haydn was in London, he received a letter in which Maria wrote that she had just seen a neat little house which she liked very much, and that he might do himself the pleasure to send her 2,000 golden shillings to buy it, so as to have in future a "widow's home." Pleasant reading this for the genial composer! In the first case he wrote, without a trace of anger: "Should this be so, take my manuscript to the metric publisher. I guarantee that they will give me the money enough to defray my funeral expenses." In the matter of the "widow's home," he thought it would be best to arrange things himself. Ultimately he bought the house, and in spite of Maria's frequent suggestions of his coming the solution, he lived in it for nine years after she had been dead. Frau Haydn saw out her 70 years, but some time before that the pair had agreed to live apart as the best way of ending a union which had proven utterly unbearable to the composer.—Cornhill Magazine.

A FAMILY QUARREL

It Happened in a Soudanese Household Where There Were Seven Wives.

Family quarrels are always tragic for those concerned, but for outsiders they occasionally contain an element of comedy. This is certainly true of sundry families of the most primitive type. We quote a single instance from "Under the African Sun," by W. J. Anserge, a medical officer in the British service.

Imam Abdalla Effendi, a Soudanese officer in command at Kibera, had seven wives and five children. I was sent to enforce a judicial decision in favor of one of his wives, who had lately been divorced and demanded her dowry back.

He at once told me how his undutiful wife, instead of serving him with dinner, had thrown it at his head, and how under the great provocation, he had divorced the woman. I told him I did not come to hear an argument, but to enforce a sentence. As a condition of which one had to put up with from the natives, I gave a few sentences of what was said on the occasion.

—You are to refund this woman her dowry.

—Heaven knows I have done so.

—She—it's a lie! He has only given me eight yards of silk.

—He—I call Heaven to witness. I have nothing.

—She—it's a lie! He has cows, goats and sheep.

—And so the squabble went on. I insisted Imam trembled for his best cow, and finally I suggested five sheep as an appropriate amount, and told him that if he selected the worst in his flock the woman should have the cow. Frightened at this, Imam brought out five beautiful animals, and, wiping the perspiration from his face, he entreated the woman to accept them and depart. This she was graciously pleased to do.—Youth's Companion.
