Obituary.

Died of paralysis after two days illness at Wilbur, April 14, 1900, aged 68 years, 5 months and 26 days, Mrs. Jane Dimmick, widow of Mr. Ziba Dimmick, who preceded her to the better world 22 years ago.

Miss Jane Hewett was born in Ireland, October 18, 1831; her parents having died while she was yet young, she came to the United States with her grandmother and uncle, settling in Peoria, Ill. On July 21, 1852, in Bureau county, Ill., she was united in marriage with Mr. Ziba Dimmick. The following year they crossed the plains and settled in Kellogg, Douglas county, Ore., where Mr. Dimmick died Nov. 16, 1878. There were born to Mr. and Mrs. Dimmick 13 children, 10 of whom are still living and were with her in her last hours of illness. It is not enough to say that Mrs. Dimmick was a kind mother and a good neighbor; she was a Christian and a tried member of the Presbyterian church who had proved faithful.

Mrs. Dimmick was a Godly and prayerful woman, who was found in her home discharging the duties of a wife and mother, and the death summons found her fully prepared and with a hope that makes not ashamed. Mrs. Dimmick had four step-children who shared her motherly love and counsel, but it was not possible for all of them to be present at the funeral and only two were there. Mrs. Dimmick was well known in Douglas county and beloved by all who knew her. In the community, the home and at the sickbed she will be missed. The funeral services were conducted by the writer, and Mrs. Mary Short led the singing of some choice hymns. The services were held at the cemetery at Kellogg, where the remains were laid to rest beside her husband. The great throng of people and the beautiful collection of flowers were tokens of sweet memory of and love for the deceased.

The church militant has lost a faithful member, but the Church Triumphant has gained one more. The bereaved friends have the sympathy of a large circle of friends.

We know that Heaven is brighter, Because our mother's there; But oh, this world seems sadder, Without her to lighten our cares. N. J. HARMY.
