

Scottsburg.

Rev. J. L. Stratford was in town last week.

Uncle Asa Andrews seems quite feeble of late.

John Henderer and Mr. Trailer have been hauling grain lately.

Wm. Sagaberd and wife intend going to Missouri this coming summer.

F. Grubbe and wife have gone to Smith river for employment, this summer.

B. Butler was in town Friday. Mr. B. and wife intend going to Portland soon.

Mrs. Annie Grubbe was delivering books at this place and in Gardiner, last week.

We learn that J. Lucksinger has left Leon Lake, and gone to stay with his son Henry.

Little Eliza and Fannie Henderer have been visiting their aunt, Mrs. Hedden, in town for several days.

Mrs. Mollie Weatherly came up from Gardiner, Saturday, and stayed one night at the home of H. Weatherly.

Sunday, 29th, was extremely warm, the mercury went up to nearly 90, but the next day was very cool and also cloudy.

Rev. H. H. Backner fulfilled an appointment at Long Prairie, on the morning of the 25th and at this place in the evening.

Mrs. A. L. Butler went to Gardiner on the 24th, to unite with the D. of H., at that place. Mrs. Butler also applied for a beneficiary.

Miss Nellie Wilson, late of Portland, was visiting her mother, Saturday and Sunday. Miss Wilson has charge of the Long Prairie school.

The Hazel made its first trip on the river, on the 25th. W. P. Reed and J. Hutchings were on board, on their return trip they were so unfortunate as to get stuck into shallow water, and were forced to wait for the tide, the "Eva" made an effort to pull her off but was not successful.

FRUIT GROWERS MEET.

Indications That Marion County Fruit Will be Pooled.

The meeting of the prune growers in this city Saturday gave indication that the fruit of this vicinity will be handled this season by the Northwestern Cured Fruit Association.

The meeting was held in the circuit court room at the court house and about 50 growers were present. President William Galloway and Secretary H. E. Dosch of the Cured Fruit Association were present and talked over with the growers the question of putting their fruit with the pool.

H. E. Dosch addressed the meeting explaining the object of the association and its method of procedure.

As has been explained in The Journal the growers are asked to sign contracts turning over to the association all their dried fruit and giving the association absolute control of the same. In answer to questions, which were freely asked, Mr. Dosch said that, under the present plan, each grower could pack and store his own fruit, but in that case the packing must be done under the supervision of an association inspector. The association will put its brand upon every package of cured fruit shipped by it, and its inspectors must, therefore, have personal knowledge that every box of fruit is exactly as it is represented to be.

The growers could pack the fruit with their own labor or hire the men to do it, but the association must see that it is done right in every instance, for if one man should turn over to the association poor fruit and it should be shipped, the reputation of all association fruit would suffer.

It was also explained that growers may sell their fresh fruit to canneries or for consumption fresh to any person, whether he be a member of the association or not; but the growers who belong to the combine must not sell to evaporators unless the evaporators are members of the association.

Mr. Dosch also said that he has received many letters from buyers who wish to handle the fruit represented by the association.

The growers present seemed to be very favorably impressed, and many signed contracts at the meeting, while others took contracts away with them to sign and turn in later. —Capital Journal.

PARTNERSHIP DISSOLVED.

A Constantly Widening Breach Between Hanna and McKinley— Cause and Effect.

WASHINGTON, May 1.—Recent and important developments in the National Capital indicate that the administration leaders of the past are divided on political as well as legislative matters. It is apparent that President McKinley and Senator Hanna have not been working together in perfect harmony for the past few weeks. While the Ohio senator has given support to administration measures in the senate up to this time, it is known that he has done so in order to prevent friction in the party ranks and to keep from the public the fact that Mr. McKinley and himself are much wider apart politically than they have been since their early acquaintance in Ohio and in National political affairs.

The disagreement between the president and Mr. Hanna is now practically an open secret and there is a possibility that the public will be made fully aware of all the facts regarding the dissolution of their partnership before the present National campaign closes in November. Mr. Hanna will not be chairman of the next republican national committee. Major McKinley is not anxious to have him serve in this capacity. Mr. Hanna is more than anxious to relieve himself of the responsibility of conducting another campaign for the present occupant of the White House.

The difference between these two men, as before stated is so wide that it cannot be possible for them to come together this year. Mr. Hanna, shrewd politician that he is, may never make his reasons public for declining to have made president of the United States. Major McKinley is also another clever politician. He will probably decide that it will be unwise for him to make public the reasons for the failure of Mr. Hanna and himself to continue their political operations together in the future.

The dissolution of this partnership is, of course, not unexpected by those who have known the strained relations that have existed between these two distinguished gentlemen within the past few months. Major McKinley is of the opinion, it is said, that his campaign will be much safer in the hands of another man than Hanna this year, and he will therefore request either Representative Dick, of Ohio, or National Committeeman Payne, of Wisconsin, to take charge of his campaign. So far as Mr. Hanna is concerned, it is said that this action on the part of the president will be highly satisfactory to him. He is anxious, at least the excuse is made for him, to get out of active politics. That he will have an opportunity to do so is not doubted when the delegates at the Philadelphia convention elect Mr. Hanna's successor on the Republican National Campaign Committee.

Oregon Notes.

The success of mine development in Sumpter and Granite districts is little less than phenomenal, says the Baker City Democrat.

Musicians will have an inning at the Salem State Fair. Not less than 20 bands will be employed, aggregating fully 300 musicians. This step was decided by the state board at its last meeting. It is intended to make the fair a big thing in every way, and the musical feature will form no small part of the attractions. The matter of supplying the musicians is left entirely to the State Musical Association, which will see that Oregon bands will get the preference. The bands will be selected from the different cities of the state.

Rose Festival.

The Y. P. S. C. E. of the Christian church have decided to hold the "Rose Festival" in the Opera House, on Thursday evening, May 10, as it is expected that the roses will be in full bloom by that time. An excellent program is being prepared, ice-cream and cake, and coffee and sandwiches will be served, and a very enjoyable evening is promised to all who attend.

All rose culturists are invited to cooperate with the committee, to secure as large a display as possible. Suitable prizes will be awarded for the best exhibits.

This society is to be commended for its efforts in this direction, and should, and no doubt will receive the patronage of all those who desire to see our town made more beautiful. Eugene, Salem and other of the valley towns are making arrangements for floral shows, with a view to encouraging the planting and cultivation of more flower gardens, and we believe Roseburg can make a large and as beautiful a display of roses as any town, of the same population in the state.
