Edited by D. P. FISHER.

This column has been secured and is paid for by the Regular People's Party and the management of this paper is in no wise responsible for the matter appearing under this head.

Say, George, you must have turned a four bit too away from these reformers. Two years ago they sold out the populist, Mr. Denlinger, for you. Now they put a whole plank in their platform against you. Only fannin' did you say? I thought so. They are butes, ain't they?

Some populist will please tell me why it is that our union officers have given such universal satisfaction and are so sure of being again elected, and yet import a Texas "Cyclone" to blow them into office? If they are again elected I shall petition the republican legislature to again cut their salaries as it appears to me they must be getting so much money they know no other way to spend it.

My populist friends, will you please tell me what has become of those principles we stood for in 1892, when we went before the people and with four months propaganda polled over two millions votes, carried several states and had 22 votes in the electoral college? What of government control of railroads, telegraphs and telephones? Where is your national currency, safe, sound and flexible, issued by the general government only? Where is your postal savings bank and other reforms that were equally important? You have sacrificed them all for a mess of pottage.

I am accused of going to the republicans and receiving money for my services in trying to break the populist party. My friends, I deny each count. I got no money only as I earn it, and there is no populist party to break as that job was done in '96 when the Bryan democrats took possession of the populist organization. Our declaration of principles says that we are tired and disgusted with the corruption existing in both old parties. I stand right there today. Where are you my democratic, populist, Abraham, Fisher, republican? Who went over and who gets the money? Why, you, of course.

"He (pop.) stood where the maiden (dem.) stood, Beside the beautiful blushing rose, (office.) And he lovingly bent his head and sighed. And he buried his mouth and nose, Among the petals so sweet and rare, That the fair maid's lips had pressed, And a bumble bee, (middle-roader) that was resting there, Proceeded to do the rest. Look out for the middle-of-the-roader boys, there is lots of him, don't forget it! And they are coming every day.

Chairman Sheridan has secured from the S. P. Co. reduced railroad rates to all delegates to the union county convention to be held in Roseburg on April 10th, and to the democratic state convention to be held in Portland on March 12th. Delegates who pay full fare going to the convention, will, upon the certificate of the secretary of the convention, be granted a one-third rate returning home.—Review.

Cut rates on rail road to union convention at Roseburg. Cut rates for democratic state convention at Portland. Nearly three thousand dollars rebated to railroad company. Assessment reduced on road over $110,000. Big reduction in assessment of railroad lands. How much did those cut rates cost you my farmer friends for your union delegates? After this you had better take up a collection and pay full fare for them. Great reformers!

What Fusion Has Done.

The populist party came into existence in 1892 for the purpose of correcting evils which exist in our social institutions. At the presidential election at that time we received over two million votes, the best evidence that could be had of the dissatisfaction among the people with the old parties. They carried several states and elected 22 members to the electoral college.

The democratic party saw in this great move their future annihilation unless the movement could be checked. They were too wise to again risk a three-cornered fight, because they feared for their future safety. They had good reasons to believe that in another presidential campaign with three parties in the field they and not the populists would be doomed to destruction. And how have they defeated this great move of the people for reform? It was done by stealing populist thunder at the risk of severing in twain their own party with the hope of recruiting their ranks with populists. They were forced to either take this stand for reform or go to political ruin. Some of the more honest element of the G. O. P. refused to go into a campaign on populist thunder and left their ranks to their great alarm, whereupon the cunning democrat then turns and entreats the populists to come to their strong (?) arms and protect them. Well, you know the result.

In 1896, 4 years later, you came and with your host of genuine reformers were not allowed even to name the vice-president on a union ticket, whereupon the populists were much disrupted and Bryan justly went down in defeat. Populists knew then the democrats were insincere in their boast for reform. All they wanted was to swallow up the populist body and soul and go into office. In that election, as you well know the genuine reform element went down to utter defeat and the latter to utter defeat, the latter then without a leg upon which to stand. They had practically given themselves over to democracy and received nothing in return. And now in 1900 what are the conditions which confront you?

You have the liberty-loving genuine reformer with principles back of him, pitted against the boodle reformer and the democratic element combined, not with principle but boodle and office their motto.

In the National Watchman of the 19th inst., you will find an editorial which tells the status of the democratic party with reference to populism, a portion of which reads, "We do not know, neither do we believe that any member of the people's party is going to set up any claim for the nomination of the vice presidency at Sioux Falls. The fact is they want your support and expect to pay you by absorbing your organization and warn you not to ask for anything because you will not get it. If you were receiving something in return for your martyrdom it would be a source of some satisfaction in your dying days. But no, you must be removed from among men without having accomplished any thing. You must be identified hereafter with the democracy so they say. Do you wish to thus be dissolved? If not you must face about. As it is nationally, so it is with the state and county. The same domineering spirit is shown. "Democracy must absorb populism" is their battle cry. Principle is lost sight of with office and boodle on deck. There should be a populist ticket put in the field. It is not too late yet to do it. Come to the front with your own principles and destroy the mongrel. There is nothing but boodle there my populist friends. And I ask you for the sake of reform to study and learn for yourself the motives actuating the democratic party. We who are here in the county seat are some acquainted with their under-handed schemes, while the people generally cannot, by reasons of their unrequited visits to the county seat, learn their under-handed methods.
