"The best comedy of the season" is the universal verdict of the press in commenting on the production of "A Female Drummer," the latest success from the pen of Charles E. Blaney. This splendid comedy which will be presented at the opera house Wednesday night, Oct. 9, well deserves the praise bestowed upon it, as the author has spared neither time nor expense in his desire to make it a leader in the comedy world, and his efforts have been rewarded beyond his most sanguine hopes. The charming actress, Miss Jonstone Bennett now in the leading role, is strikingly fitted for the part of Haze Bergin, a female drummer. She carries a conviction in the large department store of South & Silk in her red-velvet to be on the market her large stock of feminine apparel. Miss Jonstone Bennett is ably assisted by such clever artists as Tony Williams, Harry Laddell, Albert Tavernier, Mart Regan, Payson Graham and Charlotte Scott. The minor parts are in the hands of very competent people, the large company requiring 40 artists. The scenery is magnificent and is especially constructed for "A Female Drummer." The comedy is divided into three acts, presenting the business offices of South & Silk, the interior of the firm's large department store, and the tropical gardens of a well known New York Hotel, with the sales ladies' ball in progress. The staging and costuming are magnificent and the production is all that could be desired.

To make the best bread, use the Celebrated Magic Yeast. Nothing like it for producing a light, sweet, nutritious loaf of bread. It will retain its moisture and nutty flavor longer than bread raised with any other yeast put upon the market.

Rev. A. S. Malligan, who was pastor of the Mount Taber Methodist Church for several years, is spending a few days in the city visiting old friends. He is very pleasantly situated at Roseburg, where he has been pastor of the Methodist Church ever since leaving Mount Taber.—Wednesday's Daily Oregonian.

Yesterday at Mrs. Collins' hospital Dr. Hoover, Luther Hamilton and Houck performed the operation upon Young Sam, the old and well-known Chinese merchant of this city, removing both his legs just below the knee joints. The operation was very successful, and the patient rallied and has rested comfortably ever since. So far as can be determined his chances for recovery are very good, notwithstanding his advanced age and the terrible condition his limbs were in. Some time ago he was suffering from inflammatory rheumatism, and in endeavoring to treat himself brought about the badly diseased condition of flesh and bone which rendered amputation necessary. As the unfortunate man was almost penniless, a purse was made up among those who have known him for many years, through the efforts of D. S. K. Buick and others, to provide for maintenance at the hospital, and the three doctors named very generously consented to perform the operation free of charge. Young Sam, in the happier and more prosperous days of the past, has always been known as one of the most liberal, free-hearted men of the city, never failing to contribute liberally to any charitable or public spirited enterprise, and those who knew him in former years are glad to be able to assist him in his time of need. He gives his age as 60, and has been in Roseburg for nearly thirty years.

Messrs. Humphreys & Strong, who leased the Myrtle Creek Flouring Mills from Willis Kramer on August 1st, are meeting with flattering success. The mills are running to their fullest capacity right along, and are still several carloads behind in orders. Both the present managers were in the employ of Mr. Kramer previous to leasing the business. Mr. Humphreys came from the Salem Flouring Mills to take charge of the Myrtle Creek plant has just been given a thorough overhauling and put in the best condition possible for maintaining the reputation it has upheld for twenty years in making one of the best brands of flour on the market. An expensive new concrete dam is one of the improvements recently made.

Monday's daily Oregonian contained a fine picture of two new directors of the Pacific University eleven—Capt. Fred Day and Manager R. W. Faulkner. Mr. Faulkner is a Roseburg boy, the son of H. Faulkner, the Roseburg Section Foreman, and is making a reputation as an athlete as well as an ambitious, diligent and progressive student. Regarding his relations with the football team, the Oregonian said: "Manager R. W. Faulkner made the varsity team in 1899 at quarterback under Coach Arlett. Last year he went back to halfback. At the close of the season he was chosen manager for the coming year."

Dr. R. D. Borrow, specialist in Chronic diseases of every kind. Office in Taylor & Wilson block, rooms 3 and 4, upstairs.

Deight Reed, a prominent stock raiser of Oakland, was in town Saturday transacting business. Mr. Reed remembered the PLAINDEALER with a very pleasant call and reported that the stock men were all rejoicing over the splendid prospects for fall and winter pastures, the recent rains having started grass to growing luxuriantly. Mr. Reed took advantage of our splendid club rate and will read both the PLAINDEALER and Oregonian the ensuing year.

A special car was side tracked here for an hour Wednesday, carrying the new Gen. Freight and Passenger apt. R. B. Miller of the S. P. Co., traveling passenger agent, J. F. Jones; traveling freight agent, Lombardy; industrial agent Jordon and Dr. Withcomb, of the Oregon agricultural college. In a pleasant call from these gentlemen, regrets were expressed that more time was not at their command to enable them to see more of our town and vicinity, but at a more opportune time we will receive a more extended visit from the party who at this time were making a hasty inspection of the main line and branches from Ashland to Portland. Mr. Miller is a very energetic gentleman, who is greatly interested in the development of the resources and industries of the state especially Western Oregon and will be found a competent, and able successor to the enterprising and affable, C. H. Markham.

Crockery and glass ware at cut prices all this month. Mrs. N. B. Byrd, 812-1st St., and Mrs. A. M. Crawford returned home from an extended visit in the New England and Atlantic States as well as the Middle West, last Monday. They attended the Pan-American exposition, and visited Mr. Crawford's aged mother and other relatives in New York and then toured the Atlantic States viewing all the places of interest enroute. Their visit was full of interest and its pleasure was marred only by a single incident—the fool and treacherous assassination of President McKinley, which plunged the whole country into sadness and grief. Mr. Crawford again occupies his old familiar place in his law office where he is "at home" to his many friends.

Big reduction in shoes at Flint's, don't fail to call and see the bargains on tap. George Kohlman, has purchased the block adjoining Deer creek at the north end of Jackson street of Harry Miller and will proceed to improve the same at an early date. F. F.
