

LATE DISPATCHES CONTINUED.

WILL EXHUME VICTIMS OF FEMALE MURDER.

DAYTON, O., Oct. 12.—Pending an investigation which will determine whether or not the charge of murder shall be preferred against Mary Bell Witmer, the suspected wholesale poisoner, the prisoner is still detained at police station, though habeas corpus proceedings to obtain her release are momentarily expected. Today the bodies of Frank S. Witmer, the fourth and last husband of the suspect, and Mrs. Emma C. Pugh, her sister, both of whom are supposed to have been victims, were disinterred. The vital organs of both were removed, placed in sealed jars and turned over to Professor Howard, a chemist, who will make an examination for traces of poison.

A BUFFALO BILL.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—Uncle Sam will issue next week a new ten-dollar greenback, which will be a novel "Buffalo bill." The design for the new Treasury note was by a celebrated artist and student of animal nature, who is connected with the National Smithsonian Institution. Several weeks ago it was engraved by one of the most skillful artisans employed at the Bureau of Engraving and Printing. Its chief feature is the representation of a buffalo bull, with bent head and out stretched tail, on a prairie of sage grass, in the position of pawing for food. The note has been so designed that about as much white will show as is now visible on the silver certificate of 1899.

SERIOUS STORMS IN IOWA.

OMAHA, Oct. 11.—Reports from yesterday's storm in Western Iowa show that a dozen towns received more or less damage. Shenandoah, Villisca and towns between Red Oak and Hamburg on the Burlington line seem to have received the heaviest part of the storm. At Villisca several buildings were damaged. At Shenandoah the deluge caused the Nisnabota River to spread over two miles of bottom and cover the railway tracks and washed out the ungathered crops. There was a small cloudburst north-east of Missouri Valley, which took out several country bridges and did other damage.

FOREST RANGERS CALLED IN.

PORTLAND, Oct. 12.—The forest rangers, who have been doing such efficient service in the mountains and on the United States government forest reserves during the past summer, have been called in and their labors will cease for this year October 15th.

Sunday School Convention. PRIMARY WORK. The following paper was read by Mrs. F. W. Woolley, of Roseburg, before the County Sunday School convention Friday morning: Toasting was the subject of primary work. It is a subject that first of all the primary teacher should have almost infinite patience and love for children. Can you imagine a primary teacher who does not love children? She should make it her aim to love her little ones and respect their beliefs, mis-beliefs and non-beliefs. In this way only can she win their confidence and make it possible to form and reform their views and opinions. A child's ideas should never be ridiculed no matter how strange and even laughable it may be. Entertain it kindly and thoughtfully and gently set it right. The next thing after the love for children comes the spiritual preparation. Every mental power possessed by the teacher should be developed and used. Information, illustration, method of instruction should never be safely belittled as preparatory to teaching. But after all it is not from the brain but from the heart of the teacher that the influence flows which shall overflow the lives of the little ones and bear them Christward. Spiritual preparation is preparation of the spirit by the Holy Spirit and for the child's spirit. This preparation begins in the heart that is longing. What we crave we seek. If we long for His salvation for ourselves and for the children, the stir of this intense feeling will be the beginning of the preparation. Now continue the preparation by looking. Looking unto Jesus is indispensable. Then listen to what the Lord will say to you. Loving must accompany and follow what has gone before. Then comes living. Someone has said, "The work of practice is the best preparation for an hour's teaching." Our lessons should come to our classes with the power of a life behind and in and through them. Now in this primary work, we must with this preparation, brood over the truth that it may be made ready for the child's need. What is this need? It is first of all an intimate acquaintance with Jesus. To know him ourselves and to make the children know him should be our aim. If we are not on intimate terms with Jesus we shall fail to bring the little ones to him. Then the child must be taught loving obedience. "If ye love me keep my commandments" should mean much to a child. Add too acquaintance with Jesus and willing obedience, an implicit trust, and the three-fold cord of such teaching and training will not easily be broken. To do all this the teacher needs supremely the child spirit, which is a dependent one. It leans and clings. It is teachable and confiding. How shall she have all this? The Master answers her when he says,
