The Chief Executive on his Favorite Mount

Reproduced by special permission of Leslie's Weekly, Copyright 1901, by The Judge Co. Much is being said and written about President Roosevelt's passion for horsemanship and his photographs of the President on a mount are now greatly in demand. These are difficult to obtain on account of the vigilant precaution to safeguard the President's person. The above snapshot, made recently at Washington, is undoubtedly the latest photograph of the President published by any newspaper. It is reproduced by us by special permission. This picture was taken of him shortly before leaving Washington to receive the hood of honor at Yale.

LATE NEWS SUMMARY Important Events of the Past Few Days. STATE, GENERAL, FOREIGN. Cream of the Dispatches Dished Up in Condensed Form for the Busy Reader.

Oregon's gold output for last year was $1,694,709; silver, $71,648. Senator R. A. Booth says that the Booth-Kelley Co. will cut 100,000,000 feet of lumber this year. Turkey resists the United States demand for repayment of money used for the ransom of Miss Stone. Growers have had many offers for their dried prunes. The market is advancing. This is good news to the holders. The price of dried prunes to the producer is 3 cents; to the consumer, 8. Rather a neat profit.—Portland Dispatch. Hon. A. Bush is the wealthiest taxpayer in Marion county, his assessment this year being $185,331. Brevint Brown, come next with $82,975. Rev. Charles Herald, pastor of the Bethesda Congregational church, was stricken blind Friday while going to consult an oculist. He was one of the great preachers of New York City. King Edward's health is alarming and the people generally doubt if he lives until the coronation. Trade is affected greatly by the many reports in circulation. The medical journals radically disagree over the case. Germany as a nation are great tapers and spend $750,000,000 annually for liquors which is five glasses per day for the average adult in the Empire. A high German official declares that some day alcohol will be universally regarded as an enemy to civilization. The Jesse D. Carr Land Company has been unsuccessful in defending its case in the United States Circuit Court of California—as it was in Portland before Judge C. B. Bellinger's court—and last Wednesday the fences on the California side of the illegally fenced 80,000 acres of fenced domain were ordered removed by the federal judge. Bohemia Railroad Progressing. Supreme Effort to End Boer War. Filipinos Surrender.

COTTAGE GROVE, Nov. 2.—During the past week the survey in the field for the Cottage Grove and Bohemia Railroad has done a big lot of work. They have run location lines on two routes from the initial stake opposite the Southern Pacific depot to points on Row river about seven miles out. The heavy rain for three days interfered with their progress a little but it did not for a moment stop their work. All things considered a remarkable showing has been made since the work first began. On Thursday the entire outfit pulled up stakes from their first camp ground just east of town, and moved the little village of white tents and equipage to a point on the Row river about ten miles out. From this new vantage ground the work will be pushed steadily ahead. The force now in the field is some sixteen, but later on when the heavy timber belts shall be reached the force will be increased to meet all requirements. P. J. Jennings came down from Portland on Tuesday and went over the lines thus far run, finding all things to his entire satisfaction, and returned to Portland on Wednesday. Since the actual work of the survey was commenced much interest has been manifested by this community and it has had the effect of spreading much encouragement all about here. Confidence that in some quarters was drooping has been revived and a spirit of new life has taken hold of all classes of our people. J. W. Cook has gone to the front with the surveyors and will remain with them for some time to come and be in active council with Chief Engineer Wood as the work goes forward. P. J. Jennings will also be on the ground again early next week. SUPREME EFFORT TO END BOER WAR. ALDERSHOT, England, Nov. 1.—It is understood as a result of the conclusion arrived at by the cabinet Monday every available infantryman will be sent to the front in South (Continued on the Fourth Page.)

SMELTER FOR PORTLAND

Helena Mining Company to Erect a Plant. LONG FELT WANT SUPPLIED. Will Be Designed Specialty for Bohemia's Ores and Have Capacity of 300 Tons. PORTLAND, Nov. 2.—P. J. Jennings, president of the Helena Consolidated Mining Company, owing one of the most valuable groups of mines in the Bohemia mining district, announces the intention of his company to erect in this city a smelter, while intended exclusively for the products of the mines Mr. Jennings is interested in, is expected to expand and in time become, perhaps, one of the largest and most modern smelters on the Pacific Coast. Mr. Jennings says the smelter will be built largely in self protection, as the freight charges from the Bohemia mines to Omska, Denver, Everett or other smelter plants are as high as to make a ship's cargo very expensive. Portland is selected as the site of the smelter for reason of its central location. The ore from other mines in the Bohemia district will probably also be smelted at this smelter, although the primary object of the enterprise is the treatment of the company's own ores. More stocks may be sold to meet the demand from other mining districts justly the enlargement of the plant, which is not at all improbable. Mr. Jennings, who returned yesterday from the Bohemia mines, reports that the railroad survey into the Bohemia district from Cottage Grove is progressing rapidly. A large crew of surveyors is in the field, and the weather has been favorable to expeditions work. The road will be 34 miles in length, and construction will begin early in the Spring. Half a million dollars already available for the enterprise. It is expected to have the road completed by next September or October. In consequence of a riot strike recently made in the Helena mine, all of the stock of the Helena Company has been withdrawn from the market. The mine is equipped with a stamp mill, and is a steady producer, having paid over $125,000 in dividends since the mill was installed. Mr. Jennings yesterday made arrangements for a shipment of smelting ore to Omska. The freight charges are $1.35 per 100 pounds of ore assaying $100 a ton or better, and 95 cents per 100 pounds on ore assaying below $100 a ton. It is expensive freight charges that Mr. Jennings expects to avoid by the erection of his own smelter. This smelter will be in readiness by the time the Bohemia Railroad is built. Recalls Historical Event. Arthur Battelle is the owner of one of the most remarkable curiosities ever thrown up by the sea, being a petrified revolver, which was picked up on the beach near Battle Rock, last week, by two boys, Blanchard Caldwell and Marion Scunwah, says the Post-Orford Tribune. It is an old fashioned Colt's five-shooter, such as was in use 50 years ago, and it is in a leather sheath. The entire pistol, with the exception of a small portion of the top part of the belt and the protruding end of the stock is encased in solid stone, while the protruding wood and leather is petrified. The metal part on the end is in a perfect state of preservation. The relic is evidently a memento of the memorable siege of Battle Rock, 50 years ago, when the brave little band of nine men, after some 10 days of continuous fighting, and holding hundreds of hostile Indians at bay, escaped at night, after throwing all their belongings into the sea to prevent them falling into the hands of the Indians. It is more than probable that the owner of this revolver, being without the means of loading it, consigned it to the briny deep with other valuables. Although heavily encased in stone, the pistol still retains its shape. Mr. Battelle was immediately offered $20 for the relic, but refused the offer. Goals for Sale. Three hundred head of choice stock goals (carriers) for sale at reasonable prices. Address J. L. Chapman, Willam, Ore. a-32-4

Call for Sealed Bids.

Roseburg, Sept. 7, 1901.—Sealed bids will be received by the county court to operate the Lone Rock ferry for three years. Good and sufficient bonds will be required. Bids will be received up to 1:00 o'clock, Wednesday, Nov. 8, 1901. M. D. Thompson, County Judge. Drying preparations simply developed at home; they dry up the secretions, which adhere to the membrane and decompose, causing a far more serious trouble than the ordinary form of catarrh. Avoid all drying inhalants, fumes, smokes and mists and use that which cleanses, soothes and heals. Ely's Cream Balm is such a remedy and will cure catarrh or cold in the head easily and pleasantly. A trial size will be mailed for 10 cents. All druggists sell the 50c. size. Ely Brothers, 56 Warren St., N. Y. The Balm cures without pain, does not irritate or cause sneezing. It spreads itself over an irritated and angry surface, relieving immediately the painful inflammation. With Ely's Cream Balm you are armed against Nasal Catarrh and Hay Fever.
