GREATER THAN HIS PARTY.

On the first page of the PLAINDEAL En, today will be found an excellent and late picture of our chief executiye, who is an ideal American.

A London paper, the Standard with some perspicacity, has discover ed that President Roosevelt is "tak ing the ground, as Washington and the framers of the Constitution in tended, that the President, like the English King, is above and outside of all factions."

This is not exactly true, but it is a good guess at the Roosevelt policy and purpose. So far as possible, President Roosevelt is going to be a hesitate to confer with democrats as low as they did.
