ROSEBURG LODGE No. 16, A. O. U. W.

gave a very pleasant social Monday evening and it was largely attended by both A. O. U. W. and members of the Degree of Honor. Quite a number of visiting members were present. Grand Master Hogue, of Albany, was present and gave a very interesting talk as well as interesting talk to those who were in attendance and all were well pleased with the affair. After witnessing the screen work, a bountiful lunch was served. Eight new members were initiated during the evening.

WILL HANG JANUARY 31

Wade and Dalton Given Death Penalty

A. H. HART HELD FOR MURDER

Killed Jap at Wilbur Last Week. Held Without Bail.

PORTLAND, Dec. 24.—Jack Wade and William Dalton will be hanged in the jail yard at the Courthouse, Friday, January 31. Sentence was passed this morning by Judge Frasier on Wade, and by Judge Cleland on Dalton. The men will be confined in the county jail in the meantime. Each of them addressed a few remarks to the court and spectators, but the air of solemnity that one might naturally expect at such a time seemed lacking.

This may have been due to the bearing of Wade, who wore the habitual smile and assured the court when it was all over that he was much obliged. Each of the murderers still maintains that the other fired the shot which killed young Morrow, but Dalton, who has "got religion," assured his listeners that he would willingly part with life, if it would prove an example to the young men about him.

A large crowd filled the courtroom to hear the death penalty imposed on the men. The date set for the execution is the earliest that can be set, according to the law, and yet be on Friday, the usual day for hangings.

When Judge Cleland stated it was the time set for passing sentence on W. H. Dalton, unless cause could be shown to the contrary, Clarence Vesie said his client had a few words to say.

Dalton rose from his seat, walked to the Judge's bench, faced the courtroom full of people and said: "I hope and trust that what I have done will be an example to the young men I see here. I am innocent of the crime. Jack Wade fired that shot. If my life is any use to me as an example, I am willing to give it up."

Then Judge Cleland pronounced sentence: "You have been informed against and charged with the crime of murder. A jury has found you guilty, and it is the duty of the court to sentence you. The judgment of the court is that you be imprisoned in the county jail until January 31, and at that time be hanged by the neck until dead."

Wade also addressed a few remarks to the court. He said: "I have not much to say to you, me. I haven't anything to be scared of. I admit I deserve death to associate with such a man as that. There is no use of my saying anything. I said at first I did not fire the shot, and I say so now."

Judge Frasier ordered practically the same words as Judge Cleland, in pronouncing the death sentence upon Wade and condemned him to be hanged at the same time as Dalton, January 31.

"I am much obliged to you," was Wade's comment upon the remarks of the court, although what he is obliged for is a mystery.

Both men were taken to the county jail and placed in the condemned cell, where they can talk to but not see each other. The death watch will be placed on them soon.

Clarence Vesie stated this morning he did not expect to take an appeal in the Dalton case, so the double hanging will doubtless take place as arranged.

Hart Held For Murder.

The coroner's jury investigating the killing of the Japanese seaman at Wilbur, by Alfred Henry Hart, listened to some very conflicting testimony, but found the circumstances to justify the following verdict:

We, the jury empaneled to inquire into the death of Daigo Yoshi, a native of Japan, do find as follows: That the said Daigo Yoshi was a native of Japan and aged 27 years. That said Daigo Yoshi was an employee of the S. F. R. R. at Wilbur, Douglas county, Oregon. That said Daigo Yoshi met his death on the evening of Dec. 20, 1901, by hemorrhage resulting from a gunshot wound entering at the back and making its exit through the right breast; said wound was made by a No. 44 calibre Ballard rifle in the hands of one Alfred H. Hart, at Wilbur, Oregon.

That we find in the killing of the said Daigo Yoshi by the said Alfred H. Hart, that the said Alfred H. Hart is guilty of the crime of murder by purposely and maliciously killing the said Daigo Yoshi in the manner and form aforesaid.

Dated this 23rd day of December, 1901, at Roseburg, Oregon.

District Attorney Brown also hearing the evidence deemed the showing sufficient to hold Hart, without bail, for trial before the circuit court next month on a charge of murder.

The preliminary hearing of A. H. Hart, on a charge of murdering a Japanese workman at Wilbur last week, was continued until tomorrow at 1 p. m. in order to secure important witnesses.

A Christmas Wedding.

A very pretty wedding occurred at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Morris, in this city, Christmas evening, Dec. 25, 1901, their charming daughter, Miss Alice and Mr. Harry O. Slocum being the contracting parties, the impressive ceremony being performed by Rev. John Dawson, of the Episcopal church. The parlor was beautifully decorated and after the pretty ceremony was performed, the guests who comprised only a few relatives and intimate friends of the contracting parties, were led to the dining hall, where a very dainty wedding supper awaited them. Both the bride and groom are popular and well known young people of this city and are held in high esteem by a wide circle of friends. Mr. Slocum was a member of Co. B.

MARRIED AT EUGENE—Wedding evening, Dec. 21, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. P. Palmer, South Willamette street, a wedding took place Miss Maymie Belle Palmer, who is well known among Eugene friends of the city, and Frank Schlegel, a rising attorney of Portland, were the contracting parties. Rev. W. H. Henderson, D. D., was the officiating minister. The home was decorated in all the season's holiday, and the event went off in the most approved manner. A number of friends from Portland and Eugene witnessed the ceremony, after which an elaborate supper was given. Number of presents were tendered the bride. Mr. and Mrs. Schlegel will go to Portland in a few days where they will be at home to friends. Eugene Register.

Small Christmas Blows—Fire in

George Kohlhaas's barn back of the Baptist church called out the fire department at 7 o'clock Christmas morning in the barn was stored about 30 tons of good hauled hay which was discovered on fire and what was not burned was seriously damaged by water from the hose. The hales were rolled out into the street and the barn was only slightly damaged. The hay was insured for $100 in the Scottish Union & National Insurance Co., J. H. Slope local agent, which will cover about one-half the loss. The barn was insured for $200 in the same company.

At the Oil Well—Work is progressing as well as could be expected at the Oil Company's plant, near Myrtle Creek. As was anticipated the work of "spudding in" or sinking the big drill, practically by hand, down to a depth sufficient to enable the use of the machinery, is a little slow, however, a depth of 18 feet in the hard shale had been made by the big drill Tuesday and work is progressing without interruption.
