LAW RELATING TO NEWSPAPER SUBSCRIPTION.

According to some of the latest laws newspaper publishers may cause individuals who take a paper and refuse to pay for it to be arrested for fraud. Under this ruling, also, anyone who allows his subscription to run along for a time unpaid and then orders it discontinued, or orders the postmaster to mark it refused, or sends a postal card to the publishers is liable to arrest and fine the same as for theft.

Clubbing Rate

We have arranged with a large number of papers and magazines for rates which will give to our subscribers two publications for a slight advance over the cost of The Plaindealer alone. Following is a partial list:

DECEMBER 30, 1901.

In the treatment of so eventful a year as 1901, the difficulty of compressing into brief space a summary of its record is very great. The year has been a striking one in almost all lines of activity—in scientific discoveries, and inventions, in literature and art and industrial and commercial progress. In Oregon, as well as throughout the United States, the development of trade, industry and agriculture marks the year as one of the most prosperous in our history. Our political record has an especial interest, and to a wise and American political policy is due, to a great extent, the present satisfactory condition of the country. Coming to local matters, the Plaindealer rejoices with the people of this county in the improved conditions and the bright prospects for still greater prosperity and happiness during the year just dawning. The business of the paper during the past year was the greatest in its history and is constantly on the increase, bidding fair to steadily increase during the new year at a most satisfactory rate. We, therefore, grasp this favorable opportunity to thank the many friends and patrons of the paper for their kind words, liberal support and patronage during the past year and hope during the coming year we will merit a continuance of the same. We, in conclusion, wish one and all a Happy and Prosperous New Year.

The citizens of Washington take congress very much as a matter of course. With the old habitnes, congress is no great attraction. Distinguished public men create no sensation. There are too many of them. But never in the memory of anyone living has there been such an interesting personage in the White House as President Theodore Roosevelt, and more is hoped from him by optimist who believe in popular government than any previous president. There are thousands who would be willing to give him autocratic power, and if the country backs him to the end as popular sentiment is backing him now, he will have the equivalent of autocratic power and be able to test those reforms in the civil, naval and military establishments for which his name is a synonym. Distinguished as a publicist, as a soldier, and as a statesman, he is even more distinguished as a reformer and as a terror to political corruptionists and that horde of conscienceless politicians who have so long regarded public offices as a private perquisite. If he succeeds in drowning this horde, he will make firmer and fairer the foundations of the republic, and the superstructure for a thousand years will bear the marks of his master hand.

As population presses farther and farther westward the raiding of public timbered lands by greedy and lawless lumbermen becomes more audacious, wide spread and dangerous to the public interest. If undetected the raiders secure rich booty without cost; if hailed before the courts they make prompt settlement under the shelter of an act passed more than 20 years ago which provides for immunity to timber thieves on payment of a beggarly $2.50 per acre for the timbered territory denuded. Thus a Federal statute designed to prevent depredations on public timbered lands has become a shield and safeguard to premeditated and robbery. It cannot be too soon repealed.

There should be a law against the pointing of firearms at a person even playfully. Our advice would be in such a case that when a man points a pistol or gun at you, knock him down; don't stop to inquire whether it is loaded or not, knock him down. Don't be particular what you knock him down with, only see that he is thoroughly knocked down. If a coroner's inquest must be held, let it be on the other fellow—he won't be missed.

Southern Oregon can secure substantial recoguition in the coming State convention and so can Eastern Oregon, and if these two sections of the state do not receive prominent places on the ticket it will only be the fault of the Republicans of these respective districts. Factional strife and divided delegations from Southern and Eastern Oregon means a scoop for the Willamette valley and Portland.

Secretary of State F. I. Dunbar has our thanks for a copy of the election laws. It is very complete and makes a book of 157 pages, which will be an interesting study for the judges of the next election.

Bud Thompson, well known in Oregon journalism, and one of the early publishers of this paper, is now publishing the Alturas, Modoc county, California, Plaindealer, and is making a spicy paper.

While many of our subscribers are at this season of the year remembering their friends, it would be the proper thing to think of the publisher and send in the small amount due him.

An exchange wants Roosevelt to get more rough riders into his cabinet. There'll be a hot time in the old town of Washington soon enough.

President Roosevelt wishes it distinctly understood that no man in public life is too exalted to be called down for doing wrong.

If men really thought their resolutions would keep it is very doubtful if as many would be made as are made.

One of the things that should be sworn off by the whole country is the Sampson-Schley mess.

At last accounts Senator Depew was feeling quite honey-moonish, and was at Nice, France.

The question of the hour—what to do with the trash Christmas gifts.

Take this paper and be happy.

ANOTHER CRAWFORD COUNTY

Hon. A. M. Crawford, one of the leading Roseburg attorneys, who is well known and popular in Curry county, is favorably mentioned by several of the Southern Oregon papers for the Republican nomination for Attorney General. No selection for that office could be made that would give greater satisfaction to the Republicans of Curry.—Port Orford Tribune.

Political Gossip.

It is now said the old love which existed between Senator Mitchell and Mr. Scott up to 1876 has been rekindled, and that it is now as strong as ever.

There are five of them as far as heard from in the field for the nomination for governor on the republican ticket—Governor Geer, W. J. Furnish of Pendleton, Jonas M. Church of Union, Henry E. Ankeny of Jackson, and Stephen A. Lowell, of Pendleton. There is one farmer—when he is not governor—two bankers, one miner and general rustler, and one lawyer in the list. The farmer and miner seems to be in the lead at present.—Ex.

Notice, Dissolution of Partnership.

The co-partnership heretofore existing between W. A. Everitt and W. M. Moore under the name and style of "Roseburg Steam Laundry" in the city of Roseburg, Douglas county, Oregon, is dissolved by mutual consent, W. A. Everitt purchasing the entire interest of the retiring partner, W. M. Moore, and assumes the payment of all outstanding liabilities. Those who are indebted to the firm will make payment to W. A. Everitt. W. M. Moore.

"The Oregon Farmers' Congress will be held at Salem, January 6th to 9th, 1902, inclusive. The Oregon Dairyman's Association and the Oregon Livestock Association will hold their annual meeting at the same time and place. The Fruit Men, State Grange and Hop Men will also be represented. The Oregon State Board of Agriculture will likewise hold special meetings for the purpose of preparing a program for next years' State Fair. In view of the recent rapid advancement in stock raising and dairying throughout the state, this meeting should be of great benefit to all interested in agriculture and an unusual large attendance is assured."

Chas. Wright, who recently returned from Columbia, South America, was in this city Saturday visiting with his sister Mrs. W. T. Wright. Through the kindness of Mr. Wright we were permitted to inspect a beautiful souvenir of immense value, which he has in his possession, consisting of a solid gold rosary, said to have been made for a Spanish King, over 200 years ago; also a solid gold and delicately carved ivory bracelet. The workmanship on these articles far surpasses anything we have ever seen, in that line, and are simply beautiful.

A E Kent has returned from Drain and vicinity where he spent Xmas.

From Our Correspondents.

Green Station Items.

Peter Bullock has quit the stage and is a full fledged farmer nowadays.

Lindsey H has proven himself a first class musician, as well as a successful photographer.

The recent change of weather seems to have given general satisfaction among the farmers.

Chas. Mathues, who resides on F. B. Wait's farm is Lappy since he received his Christmas presents.

Chester Norman has gone north on business. Wonder if the "Northern Belle" is wrecked again.

What has become of Bozo? If any one will return the same in good condition a suitable reward will be given.

Thos. Hatfield of Deer Creek attended the Christmas exercises at this place and spent a few days visiting with relatives.

Mr. Albert Weatherford has been on the sick list for the past few days. It is thought that he has a slight stroke of paralysis.

Miss Hattie Smith, one of our charming and accomplished young ladies spent Christmas with the Misses Winston, of Winston.

Merit Weatherford the fellow who is strongly accused of leaning on his neighbor's gate of evenings wears a guilty countenance.

Dr. Valerian was seen trying one of his theories one day last week. It worked to perfection. Those theories of yours, Dr. should begin at home.

Prof. Jas. E. Patterson, of Brockway was seen in our midst a few days since. Rumor says he gets his meals at Half way station on Sundays.

Jas. Barnes, and Walter Williams, two prominent young men of Ten-Mile passed through our Valley a few days ago, on schedule time, going toward the West.

Our school closed Friday without any unusual exercises, it being so soon after the Christmas exercises that the pupils were not required to get recitations.

Uncle Henry Lander was in town the other day and it was not on Saturday either. But the people thought it was and so went to church the next morning.

The S. P. R. R. Co. has had a force of men at work on the station building at this place. It presents a very neat appearance since receiving a new coat of paint.

Miss Hattie Cooper, who has been attending school in her home district will soon leave for Jefferson, Or., where she will take up higher studies. May your efforts be crowned with success, friend Hattie.

Mrs. Kate Russell, who has been staying with Miss Rose Green, during the past three months will soon leave for her home in Medford, where she expects to reside with her son, who is a prominent miller at that place. The loss of this noble woman will be keenly felt by the community.

The Christmas entertainment on Christmas eve at the school house was a grand success. Every adjoining neighborhood was well represented and everybody seemed to enjoy themselves very much, especially old uncle Santa Claus who entered the room with a four bushel sack filled with every thing imaginable. Some very valuable presents were presented. Some of the young men received presents which had very shady complexions. The program was well rendered and much praise and credit is due Miss Nina Cooper, for her efforts and untiring energy in making the evening exercises a success. The music furnished by the "Hiawathe" Band, was excellent and the recitations by Lelia, and Wilfred Mynatt, were well delivered and were very appropriate for the occasion. The principal feature of the evening was the "Operetta" entitled "The Danger Signal" which lasted two hours. It was instructive and humorous and the success on the part of the actors, showed that they had been well trained. The actors were Messrs. Minor Cooper, L. Mynatt, Robert Borge, Harry Winston, Frank Thornton, George Crane, and Clay Smith. Misses Rena Lander, Martha Winston, Edna Winston and Hattie Smith.

Glendale Notes.

Most beautiful spring weather pervails in this valley.

Born, at the Section House Glendale, to Mr. and Mrs Tom Scott a boy, Dec. 22nd, 1901.

Mr. and Mrs. Buell, who are among our most esteemed residents, went to Myrtle Creek for Christmas.

The mask ball given by the ladies of the order of Pendo at the Glendale opera house on Christmas night was very much enjoyed by all present and passed off pleasantly.

E. E. Redfield and wife, Dr. D. B. Redfield, W. H. Redfield, J. H. Redfield and W. C. Levins attended the funeral of their sister, Mrs. J. R. Wilson at Medford last Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Olinghouse of Upper Cow Creek and W. H. Neff of Glendale, made us a nice Christmas visit and we were just a little surprised to see the two gentlemen walk into our dining room without an invitation and soon after they all took their leave our surprise deepened when later on we went into the dining room and found a much appreciated and valued Christmas present on our table. We thank you all for your choice gift and your appreciated visit.

The dedication of Olivent Presbyterian church at Glendale occured on Dec. 15 and drew out a large congregation. The dedicating sermon was preachedby Ray Hays, of Grants Pass and was an excellent discourse. It was remarkable for simplicity of expression and touched the hearts of the large congregation. There was five ministers present, viz: Revs Dr. Holt, Rev. Dr. Townsend, Rev. Hays Rev. W. A. Smick and Rev. Blair, who is our resident pastor.

Christmas passed most pleasantly. the Christmas tree at Olivent church was enjoyed by a large concourse of people. The exercises by the Sunday school children were all well rendered, a duet by the Misses Edith Jones and Laura Parker was the feature of the evening's entertainment. Many beautiful presents were distributed among the large audience and all who were present seemed happy. The sweet anthem of the angelic chanters of Bethlehem re-echoed again in our hearts, as we thought with greatful hearts of God's first great Christmas gift to the world more than nineteen centuries ago, and in fancy we heard the Angelic message, "Peace on earth good will toward men."

It is with profound sorrow that we chronicle the death of our dearly beloved friend, Mrs. Emma Redfield Wilson, wife of J. R. Wilson of Medford. Her death occurred on Christmas night at the family residence at Medford. Mrs. Wilson was taken ill on the 21st of November and on the 28th in response to a telephone message we hastened to her bedside, where with her sister, Mrs. W. C. Levens, we spent two weeks of tireless vigil beside her bed, and were rewarded by seeing a change for the better and with Mrs. Levens we returned home. A change for the worse occurred on December 22nd and Mrs. Levens returned to the bedside of her sister. We were almost shocked to here of our friend's death on Christmas night. Heart failure was the immediate cause of her death. She was a most exemplary woman, a devoted wife, a loving mother, a gentle sister, a dutiful daughter. She was a woman of fine literary attainments and had ready for publication, some excellent articles, which will no doubt be published soon. She leaves a sorrowing husband and three children to mourn their loss. Her age was 44 years. She was the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Redfield, prominent Southern Oregon pioneers.

Peace and prosperity prevail in our little city, and looking backward over a year of health and happiness we cordially extend cheerful Christmas greeting to the Plaindealer, its editors, proprietors and readers for the coming year. Mollie.

Looking Glass Items.

Morgan & Arnold did a good business Christmas. They furnished the candy and nuts for the tree at cost. Good boys' and we will remember you.

School closed Friday and the Misses Wixen and Badger deserve praise, as the pupils have advanced nicely in both rooms. We have had a good school and they should both be employed again.

Christmas day they had a shooting match to pass off quietly. Sam Boldsinger getting the turkey, shooting its head off the first shot. Will Short, of Ten Mile. Link Grimes, Role Goodman and others did some very good shooting.

The Christmas tree was a grand success. It was beautifully trimed and the committee deserve credit for their skill and labor. The entertainment was very good and the two school teachers, Miss Wixen and Miss Badger certainly deserve credit in the way they trained the children. At about 9 o'clock old Santa Claus appeared with sleigh bells and robed in a buffalo robe, which he did not need in Oregon, but the way he made the candy and popcorn fly pleased the children and the old ones. There was not very many costly presents but they were useful and nice.

J. T. Spaugh closed down his chopper Saturday until spring. He has had a very good run. Fider.

Scottsburg.

We wish the Plaindealer, and all its workers a Happy New Year.

Misses Mary and Kate Sagaberd will spend the holidays in Gardiner.

Mr. Ritchie's family spent their Christmas at their home in Drain.

In honor of the Louisiana Purchase, the stars and stripes floated in the breeze on the 20th.

The atmosphere was decidedly chilly last week; even the croquet players had to house up.

J. Hedden and family, attended the wedding of Miss Lucy Grubbe and Jake Sawyers, on the 18th.

The tannery, which has been in operation at this place so many years, will be moved to Gardiner soon.

LANDIS IS DEAD

A Brother of the Murderer Claims to Have Identified the Body.

G. E. Landis, alleges that the body of his brother, M. S. Landis, the Coos county murderer, was buried as an unknown, about 15 miles north of Corvallis last summer. Mr. Landis claims he exhumed the body last week and identified it as that of his brother, by the gold fillings in his teeth. The body in question was discovered last June, badly decomposed, with a bullet hole through the temple, and was buried where it was found, in a thicket between Suver and Parker on the West Side railroad, after an inquest had been held by the coroner of Polk county. Some are inclined to think the statement a ruse to throw off their guard the many officers on the lookout for the Coos county murderer.

Mrs. J Wright Gilmore Dead.

A telegram telling of the death of Mrs. J. Wright Gilmore, at Portland, Tuesday morning, was received by friends in Ashland, shortly after the sad event. Mrs. Gilmore, who has been suffering from stomach trouble for the past two years, left her home at Klamathon a couple of weeks ago for Portland to undergo an operation, the effects of which she did not survive. Deceased, whose maiden name was Lollie Sanderson, was married to J. Wright Gilmore, son of J. P. Gilmore, of this city, at Riddle about 16 years ago, and was aged about 36 years. There were no children. Her husband was present in Portland at the time of her death. The funeral occured Wednesday afternoon at Riddle.—Ashland Tidings. Deceased was a daughter of Wm. Sanderson, of Riddle. Her mother died at that place a few years ago. Two brothers, Will and Fred Sanderson, reside at Bandon and Coquille City respectively.

"Red Albumen" for Hens.

The jobbing trade has been flooded with orders for "Red Albumen" during the past week, owing to the publication of articles in the lay press advocating the use of this product for the purpose of inducing a larger crop of eggs from the family hen. We understand that "Red Albumen," so called, is a product issued by the U. S. Salix Co. of "black pepsin" and "per algretta" fame, and it is claimed that analysis shows it to consist of ground oyster shells and red pepper. What effect this would have on the laying capacity of the hen we are not prepared to say. We only add that red albumen is one of the trade terms for ordinary blood albumen, and the latter is being supplied on orders. It should be more useful than red pepper and oyster shells.—McKesson & Robbins, Mfg Chemists, New York.

Schuberts Are All Right.

The Schubert Symphony Club and Lady Quartette appeared at the Y. M. C. A. Hall last night, as the second number of the Star course. The rendered encores of each number indicated an enthusiastic audience. Each number seemed to meet with increased approval; especially the ladies' quartet, with their excellently trained voices. Miss Mabel Delaney McPike, in "Love the Pedlar," received generous applause, as did also the contralto soloist, Miss Ella Claire Garnhart in "Cavatina." Mr. Louis McPike made a hit in his last recitation, "A Bachelor's Remarks on Marriage."—Oregonian.
