Important Events of the Past Few Days.

STATE, GENERAL, FOREIGN.

Cream of the Dispatches Dished Up in Condensed Form for the Busy Reader.

The new woolen mill building at Eugene has been completed ready for the machinery.

Portland seems to be waking up in good shape. That city is now to have a $25,000,000 beet syrup plant.

A committee of fifteen headed by H. W. Corbett has been elected to manage the Lewis and Clarke expedition.

Governor Nash was inaugurated governor of Ohio on his second term Monday amid great civic and military display.

Chauncey M. Depew and bride arrived at New York Sunday evening and of course were given a hearty welcome. Chauncey is a gay old benedict.

One by one the European countries are finding that the United States can underlead them in their own markets. As long as we can keep that up no fear need be entertained about the continuance of our prosperity.

General Fitzhugh Lee has consented to lecture and will do so under the Southern Lyceum Bureau, of Louisville, Ky. His lecture will be on Peace and War in the United States and Cuba. He will probably be in Oregon.

It is noticeable that the increase in the state's taxable property, about two-thirds of it is in Multnomah county, showing that other counties, as a whole, have not raised the valuations in any such proportion as the Assessor of this county has done.

According to the official estimate of the directors of the Mint, the production of gold and silver in the United States for 1901 was a slight increase over the previous year. Alaska fell back about $1,000,000 in gold, while Colorado made a gain of about that amount.

Miss Jennie Simons, the young lady who had both legs cut off by a Southern Pacific train at Springfield several years ago and who recovered $10,000 damages from the company, will start a new grocery store at Springfield in a few days. It will be located in the Walker blacksmith building.—Eugene Guard.

I may have been sentimental for the Emperor of Germany to request that President Roosevelt's daughter christen the yacht he is having built in this country and for President Roosevelt to cordially grant the request, but it should not be overlooked that sentiment is an important factor in the world's affairs.

The chief of police and city recorder of Peedleton have both been roasted from their offices for receiving tips from gamblers, nickel-in-the-slot manipulators and others. A good example. Wherever there is gambling in a city suspicion at least is sure to attach to the officers whose business it is to regulate such things.—Albany Democrat.

Central Normal Notes.

Drain, which was very quiet during the holidays owing to the absence of so many of the students and teachers, is again full of life and activity.

It is a significant fact that the reopening of the Normal on the new year, not only found the old students in their seats but five new ones as follows: Miss Maggie Bishop, of Oakland; Robert Hunter, of Roseburg; Geo. Neuner, of Days Creek; Harry Thompson, of Eugene; and Ernest Whipple of Drain.

The Zanzanian Literary society rendered an interesting program to a large audience Friday evening. The principal feature of the evening was an address by Capt. E. H. Dolly of Jackson county, class of '88. The subject of his address was "Literature and Reading." It was handled in an original manner, and was both interesting and instructive.

The Normal reopens at the beginning of 1902 under conditions most flattering and hopeful. The enrollment at this date is just fifty per cent more than the total enrollment of last year. The entire student body is an exceptional one. They are earnest, conscientious, and industrious.

Mr. Geo. Staley, of Yoncalla was shaking hands with his many friends here last Friday.

Miss Jessie Applegate a niece of J. T. Miller is spending a few days here this week.

We are a little late in sending in items but we trust our friends will consider that we have only a small territory to report from and consequently are compelled to save up news till we have a respectable showing.

Senate Considers Panama Route

Portia Knight Wins Her Suit.

HONG KONG, Jan. 14.—The British steamer Manning, belonging to the Hong Kong and Amoy Steamship Co., was fired upon by Chinese soldiers in the Tam Chau Channel, West River. The Captain of the British flag ship Glory, the R. V. Chas. E. L. Cowe, M. A. who was on board, was severely wounded.

Maryland Democratic Boss Elected.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Jan. 14.—Arthur Poe Gorman was today elected United States Senator to succeed George L. Wellington. The total vote was: Gorman (Dem.) 68; Jackson, (Rep.) 52.

The vote in the Senate was: Gorman 17; Jackson 9.

In the House: Gorman 51; Jackson 43.

Arthur P. Gorman first served in the United States Senate as a page. He was elected a senator from the body where he held official position when a boy, and was re-elected several times, losing his seat to Wellington, Republican, six years ago.

Senate Considers Panama Route.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—The Senate took a vote today on the proposition of considering the offer of Panama stockholders to sell all their rights to the unfinished canal for the sum of $40,000,000.

The vote resulted in the affirmative, 40 to 31. This is not a last vote on the merits of the canal route to be definitely selected, several of the senators voting for consideration of the Panama people's offer simply to allow free and fair discussion of the relative merits of the Panama and Nicaragua routes.

Salem Girl Gets Cash.

LONDON, Jan. 13.—Miss Portia K. Knight, formerly a resident of Salem, Oregon, has been paid one thousand pounds by the Duke of Manchester to keep the breach of promise case, with which she threatened him, out of court.

Oregon's Assessment.

SALEM, Or., Jan. 12.—An increase of $25,000,000 as the assessed value of all the property in the state, as compared with last year, is shown by the assessment summaries for 1901, filed in the office of the Secretary of State. Owing to an increase of about $900,000 in the exemptions, the net increase in the value of taxable property is now $141,398,513.96, against $116,885,874.13 in 1900.

HE HAS READ THE BOOK.

What a Subscriber to the Oregonian Says of "Modern Eloquence."

PORTLAND, Nov. 16.—(To the Editor.)—There is the stagnation of mind matter, just as there is a general lassitude of all bodily functions following any physical condition aside from the normal, whether an impaired vigor is due to disease or to the results of indiscretions, as an inevitable result of all excesses.

It is noticeable that nearly all forms of diversions which appeal most strongly to the human race are pernicious in their effects, until at least the lesson of moderation that experience alone teaches has been fully learned. Athletics appeal most strongly to the man in the full vigor of youth. As he grows older he drops athletics, either from indolence following his lessened bodily powers, or from necessity as the result of the lesson he has learned of the grave dangers of over-exertion. He tires of horses, of general amusements as the term amusement is construed in the popular sense. He does not take up with cards if he is sensible, because devotion to cards implies a loss of mental and physical vigor he is not ready to incur, and for the further reason that interest in cards implies greatly lessened interest in all other forms of diversion. To the man who takes a serious interest in life, and it is the serious aspect of a man's make-up alone that guarantees contentment, his best diversion is found in his books. The cultivation of the habit of intelligent reading is one of the greatest safeguards of good citizenship, and it secures that mental stability which always accompanies the intellectual.

I subscribed for the set of "Modern Eloquence" in 10 volumes, now being distributed in the North-western field through the agency of The Oregonian. I must say that I am greatly surprised not only at the scope of this valuable publication, but also at the ability shown in editing and compiling what I regard as one of the greatest literary productions of the day. It is my candid opinion that Thomas B. Reed will be remembered better by posterity for his work on "Modern Eloquence" than he will be for the years of hard service he rendered his country in the National capital.

"Modern Eloquence" is the greatest literary production in the popular sense ever offered for distribution in the United States. I trust that it may be given the recognition by the people of the Pacific North-west that I know it is so justly entitled to.

O. A. Olson, representing the Oregonian is in Roseburg taking orders for this valuable work and has already placed several sets in local libraries, including the one at the PLAINDEALER office, and we can heartily concur in the above endorsement.

High School Notes

THE football season is over and the basket ball season is now on. Those who have read and probably tired of nothing but football in this column for about three months will now have a change. The basket ball teams of the male sex are practicing as diligently as those of the feminine gender and hope to have a game in the near future. As soon as the weather permits the track team will begin training for the big field meet to come off some time this spring.

The classic class has finished "Burke's speech on the Conciliation of America" and are now poring over the pages of Sir Walter Scott's "Marrion."

At a recent meeting of the athletic club it was decided to give another social. The "big thing" will come off in about two weeks. The date will be announced later.

The new term begins one week from next Monday. New classes will be formed in Geometry, German, Higher Arithmetic, Botany and several other studies. The attendance this year has been very good and the outlook for next year is better.

Umpqua Valley No Longer to be Lett in the Cold.

PORTLAND, Jan. 14.—The extension of the special settlers' rates recently announced to every point on the lines of the Southern Pacific in Oregon, will prove more of a boon to the Umpqua Valley than may be supposed. This is the first time that special rates of any kind from Chicago, St. Paul and Missouri river points have been extended to the valley. Heretofore these special rates have extended only to Portland, and settlers who desired to locate in Western Oregon were compelled to pay the local fare which for distant points nearly equalled the special rates made from St. Paul to Portland.

When the recent special rates were announced and he saw that the Western Oregon was left out, General Passenger Agent R. B. Miller, of the Southern Pacific got slightly warm in the collar. He did not propose to see the great Western half of the state, with its fertile farms, get the worst of it if he could help it, and at once set in motion the machinery capable of giving the desired relief.

That his efforts were highly successful is evidenced by the fact that the Union Pacific and O. R. & N. Companies have already agreed to the arrangement, whereby all points on the Southern Pacific in Oregon will get exactly the same rates as Portland and Puget Sound. This means that homeseekers can travel nearly 350 miles farther after reaching Portland in the event that they desire to locate in Southern Oregon. The fare from Chicago is $35; from St. Louis, $30; from Sioux City, $27.90; and from St. Paul and Minneapolis, $25. Were the local fares added settlers going as far south as Ashland, for instance, would be obliged to pay about $16 more. Now one fare takes them to their destination.

It means that the Willamette, Umpqua and Rogue River Valleys hereafter are to participate in all the benefits gained by other sections of the Northwest. That it will be productive of much good to Western and Southern Oregon there can be no question.

The special settlers' rates will become effective March 1 and continue for two months.

Anecdote of "Lish" Applegate.

The four terms of John H. Hall United States district attorney, and Z. Hooser, United States marshal expired last Friday, but as their successors have not been appointed, they will, under the law passed in 1895, continue to hold their offices until new appointees have been duly qualified. This situation recalls to mind of an old Federal official, a characteristic anecdote of the well-known "Lish" Applegate, who once filled the position of Receiver of the land office at Roseburg, and which is reported by the "Oregonian" as follows:

"President Grant appointed his successor, and Applegate did not take this in good part. He left the office and never went near it nor his successor during the four years he was in the office. Then a new Receiver was appointed and Applegate went to the land office to welcome him. He arrived before the new incumbent and when he saw him coming he took the keys to the office and going to the door handed them to the new Receiver, remarking, 'You will find things about the office in very bad shape for there has been nobody here for the last four years.' That was his revenge on the man who took his position."
