ACTIVITY AT MYRTLE CREEK.—As a result of mining developments and oil drilling operations Myrtle Creek is enjoying unprecedented prosperity. The hotels are crowded with guests and cottages and business rooms are in good demand. President McCoy of the Umpqua Valley Oil company returned to Roseburg Tuesday, and reports drilling operation progressing very satisfactory at the company's plant near that city and that the big drill has penetrated to a depth of considerably over 100 feet, but is still in a hard shale formation. Regarding the Myrtle Creek mines, Woodward Jeters, a Grants Pass mining man is quoted as follows by the Grants Pass Observer. "The 'Little Chieftain' on which he was working, has a shaft down 70 feet and have a 30 inch vein of ore that assays $1800 in free gold and concentrates. He says the property bonded by Jere Johnson and associates, whose claim is only 600 feet from the Little Chieftain, have recently opened up some very rich rock that goes $1000 to 1500 to the ton, free milling. This property now has 200 or 300 feet of tunnel work upon the property."

MODERN SMALLPOX.—The modern smallpox, an inheritance from our Philippine possession, is an odd kind of a thing. The following from the Marshfield Sun is an illustration: The prevailing malady is reigning supreme at Libby. Bill Lawlor 'phoned down this morning 'that there were 20 patients, in all stages of the game, in the store yesterday, warming themselves around the stove, and now I am fumigating to beat the band."

SIMPLE SMALLPOX PREVENTIVE.—A sure preventive of smallpox has been discovered. It is simply a tablespoon of vinegar in half glass of water. Dr. C. F. Howe, health officer at Atchison, Kan., declares that by drinking this four times daily a person can work over a smallpox patient as nurse. Pure cider vinegar is the best. This is no funny item but a fact given prominence by the American Medical Journal.

ALBANY ALSO HAS TROUBLES—According to Tuesday's Herald there are several cases of genuine smallpox in Albany. The Herald says: "The city council met in special session last evening to consider and adopt measures to prevent the spread of smallpox.

Very few people are afraid of this modern smallpox. They realize that it is general, in the country as well as in the cities, and is of a mild character, easily attended when properly treated. However, it is well to take precaution against spreading the contagion and and every effort in this direction should be commended.
