A PRETTY WEDDING.

W. Emerson Lundy and Miss Laura E. Jones Married at Cottage Grove.

A most brilliant and happy wedding was celebrated at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. I. Jones at Cottage Grove Wednesday evening, February 13th, 1902, the former's sister, Miss Laura E. Jones and Mr. W. Emerson Lundy, being the high contracting parties. The commodious parlors were profusely decorated with ivy and ferns, and a large number of guest assembled to witness the pretty ceremony which was to forever unite two happy hearts in connubial bliss. Promptly at 10 o'clock, the appointed hour, the door leading to the main parlor swung open and Mrs. W. H. Abrams, of Cottage Grove, seated at the piano playing Mendelssohn's Wedding march. The party descended the stairway and entered into the presence of the guests, preceded by the attendants, Master Frankie Jones and little Lella Lewis, nephew and niece of the bride, each bearing a silk cushion on which rested the wedding ring and bride's gloves respectively. The bride and her maid, Miss Laura Spalding of Roseburg were the next to enter the room and were followed by the groom and his best man, C. E. Huling of Myrtle Point. The party took up their position under a beautiful evergreen arch in one corner of the room and while the soft strains of "Oh promise me," echoed from the piano, the pretty and very impressive ceremony was performed by Rev. Eugene Zimmerman, of the local Methodist Episcopal church. The bride carried a bouquet of white carnations, while the bridesmaid carried a pink bouquet of the same variety of flower. The bride looked charming in a very becoming wedding gown of white silk crepe de chine over white taffeta.

The bride's maid looked very pretty in a gown of silk organdie and chiffon. The groom and his best man were attired in conventional black suits and white tie. After the ceremony was over and hearty congratulations were extended, the guests were seated about the tables spread with a luxurious wedding feast, which was prepared by hands skilled in the culinary art, the bride's cake being especially fine. The happy couple were the recipients of many expensive and useful presents, which were nicely displayed in the drawing room.

The bride is a pleasing and highly accomplished young lady who is well known throughout Western Oregon from her several years of active newspaper work at various places in this part of the state. She has very acceptably filled important positions on the Cottage Grove Leader and Myrtle Point Enterprise and was editor and sole proprietor of the Drain Watchman for about two years. A short time prior to her marriage she held the position of city editor on the PLAINDEALER, and has been twice elected an Oregon delegate and attended the annual meetings of the National Editorial Association.

The groom is a prosperous, energetic and very exemplary young man who for the past few years has been member of the Myrtle Point Ore. Hardware firm of Huling & Lundy, but who lately disposed of his interests at that place in order to take advantage of a business opening at San Francisco where the happy couple will make their future home. They are both held in the highest esteem of a wide circle of admiring friends who join with the PLAINDEALER in wishing them a long, happy and prosperous wedded life. May they never forget the responsibilities which rest on them and may the golden moments of their strong union be filled with the happiness of the "numberless as the sands on the seashore" and may the silvery waves that bear them heavenward be filled with loving whisperings. They were named for this morning's overland for San Francisco where they will be at home to friends after March 15, 1902.

Of Local Interest.

Chas. J. Schnabel, a Portland attorney, has been interested in the matter of securing the pardon of Beckman the Douglas county murderer, who, it will be remembered, killed his wife and step-son at their home several miles east of this city some seven years ago; was convicted of the charge of murder in the second degree and was sentenced to life imprisonment. An indictment still stands against him for the murder of his step-son. The only ground on which the plea for pardon is based is that the old man prior to the commission of the crime was a good, law-abiding citizen; was goaded into committing the murder and is now aged, feeble and broken in health and that he has suffered sufficiently for his crime and should be permitted to spend his few remaining days at liberty. It is not likely the effort to secure his release will meet with much support in this county and District Attorney Brown has refused to sign the application for his pardon.

On account of the irregular surveys of many of the townships in the Roseburg land district, it is almost impossible to locate section corners without a copy of the Government survey. Frank E. He is an earnest, eloquent speaker.
