Roseburg will be what we who live here make it. Wake up.
The fun is beginning—politically, and it promises to be "fast and furious."
A board of trade is to be organized at Roseburg. A good thing for any town.—Myrtle Point Enterprise.

The bill to provide for the election of U. S. senators by popular vote has been favorably reported to the house by the committee.

Hon. Grover Cleveland is now quite certain that he will not be chosen to be the democratic Moses; also that he ought to be.

The democrats in Congress are giving fresh proof that opposition requires no ability. They oppose everything proposed by the republicans, but they propose nothing themselves.

The friends of Claude Gatch of Salem insist that Tongue should not have everything his own way and therefore have launched a boom for the Capitol city statesman for congress.—Register.

The house judiciary committee, which has been working on the subject since Congress met, has framed a stringent anti-anarchist bill. Now, let Congress lose no time in placing it upon the statute books.

The London Saturday Review will have to acquire a little knowledge on American affairs before its attacks upon us receive any serious attention. In a recent issue it speaks of Senator Teller as "Mr. Senator Tell of the U. S. house of elected lords."

The Chinese Minister's latest is a speech advocating the serving of American women on juries. He declares our women to be equal in intellect and eloquence to our men. Why Mr. Wu, you are away behind the procession; we consider our women superior.

The world laughs at the "Impressions of America" written by foreigners who make a living out of the country, and there is no good reason why the impression of the Philippines brought away by visiting Congressmen should receive any more serious treatment.

The East Side Herald published at Portland, is the latest newspaper candidate seeking public favor. The Herald is a weekly five column, eight page paper, a gem typographically and is well filled with local and general news and live ads. In politics it will be independent. It is published by the East Side Herald Publishing Co. Here's wishing the new journal success.

of Fat Dog. It says: Great Father of Washington, Kam and Gittum. Tired ovum. No work, no fish, no good. All time heap flirt with squaw. Dammm!

A country editor is considerably of a chump, but he is learning. He is beginning to practice reciprocity. He is using his influence to throw trade to those who patronize his paper. If home merchants do not advertise it to the publisher's interest to divert trade to other merchants who do. There is no business but what should be represented in its home paper, and if it is not, it is safe to say the publisher will go to no trouble to turn custom in that direction.

The Democrats will probably make some what of an issue of the statement recently made by a prominent member of the party, that American Workmen are overfed. History proves that there is nothing which will so quickly and effectively reduce their rations as Democratic enmity in state and national affairs. In spite of this announcement, the American people will continue to wish the American workman three square meals a day and trust to his intelligence to keep the country in the front rank of the industrial world.

The Hamilton County Transcript, Commission, Ohio, has discarded the old big-bag form and come out in 2-column, magazine size—the first local newspaper we know of to make this bold departure. The move is in the right direction. A newspaper becomes nearer the ideal when it takes a small, handy form. You wouldn't have the bother of reading a book with pages a yard square; and why a periodical? Before long some far-seeing journalistic Napoleon will start a 20th-century daily in magazine, "tabloid" form, and demonstrate the rank enmity of the blank sheet, circus-poster newspapers of this day.—Pathfinder.

The agricultural department proposes to build specimens of various kinds of roads, such as earth, gravel, macadam, etc. at five points scattered throughout the county, namely Buffalo, N. Y., Comberland, Md., Charlottesville, Va., Jonesboro, Tenn., and Iowa, as object lessons in good road construction. The aim is simply to help along the good-roads movement by educating the country both in making and appreciating such improvements. There is no law allowing the government to give substantial assistance toward road building, but the agricultural department is anxious to help by advice and suggestions so far as its resources go.

Our board of trade is now a thoroughly organized body and ready for business. The executive board is well selected, being composed of old men, most of whom have large business interests and who are at once active and conservative. The organization being now complete, we may begin to look for results. Our mining, grain, forestry and other exhibits will soon be an assured reality. The board is organized for business and differs from organizations of like nature which have been formed in the past, in that it has definite objects in view, rather than indefinite. Previous organizations have been failures to a greater or less extent, but the reasons for that failure are kept in mind in this organization which will profit by the experience of its predecessors.

ADDITIONAL LOCALS.
Base ball notes have again been revived. The umpire may call a ball a foul or strike as he sees fit. The catcher must stand within ten feet of the plate throughout the game. After the batter is in his position if the pitcher throws a ball to any player other than the catcher or strikes a base runner it shall be called a ball, that is if the batter is in position.
W. W. Catehing, millwright, with the South-Kelly Company at Eugene, was among those who went to Eugene to attend the Woodmen exercises. He says that the mill is now running steadily during the day, the night run having been cut out about a week ago. The mill has an average output of about 70,000 feet daily.—Register.

The Eugene Guard murmurs something about the PLAINDEALER publishing an article from his columns without due credit. A comparison of the articles in question will show a vast difference in their construction. It isly becomes the Guard to make such a charge when it holds the record for systematically appropriating local and general news.

THE BOARD OF TRADE
Permanent Organization Effected and Officers Elected.
A WELL ATTENDED MEETING.
Much Interest Manifested. F. W. Woolley, President; L. Barcoe, Vice; Roy McClintock, Sec.; Mrs. M. Josephson, Treas.

The meeting called at Bloem's Hall Tuesday evening for the purpose of effecting a permanent organization of a board of trade for Roseburg and Douglas county, was largely attended by Roseburg's enterprising business men and citizens. The meeting was called to order by Temporary President Barcoe, who announced that the first business in order was the election of a permanent president and secretary. After the reading of the minutes of the first meeting, which were adopted, it was announced that nominations for president and secretary were in order. Geo. A. Cuid nominated F. W. Woolley for president, and there being no other nominations made, the secretary was instructed to cast the ballot duly electing Mr. Woolley president of the Roseburg Board of Trade.

For secretary Hon. A. C. Masters nominated Roy McClintock; Ed Lenox nominated W. C. Conner, who declined the nomination, and H. J. Robinson nominated L. S. West, the ballot resulting in the election of Roy McClintock as permanent secretary of the Board of Trade. The new officers were called forward and thanked the citizens for the honor conferred upon them.

The report of the committee on membership was read by the chairman of the committee, C. S. Jackson, who reported that the result of the first day's canvass showed an enrolled membership of 138 prominent business men and citizens of Roseburg.

The report of the committee on constitution and by-laws was submitted and read by the secretary and upon motion, was adopted by articles and sections.

It was voted that the membership fee be placed at 25 cents for the first year and the dues at 25 cents per quarter.

A full copy of the constitution for the organization was then read as follows: Attorney Louis Barcoe, vice president; Mrs. M. Josephson, treasurer; H. J. Robinson, secretary; board of directors, Hon. A. C. Masters, J. T. Briggs, B. W. Strong, Chas. Schmidt, C. S. Jackson. Committee on membership, Claude B. Cannon, Frank E. Ailey and Capt. F. H. Hamlin. The appointment of the various other committees by the president was deferred until the next regular meeting. Adjourned to meet the fourth Tuesday in March. Regular meetings to be held the fourth Tuesday of each month.

The board of managers extend a cordial invitation to the citizens of the county, as well as those of Roseburg to become members of the Board of Trade, and give the organization their counsel, aid and support.

A Pointer For Roseburg.
GRANTS PASS, Feb. 11.—Grants Pass, through its Board of Trade is preparing to receive a share of the immigration that will pour into Southern and Western Oregon in the coming spring and summer, as a result of the low rates made by the Southern Pacific and connecting lines. While a united effort on the part of every county and ever Board of Trade in Western and Southern Oregon would probably be the most effective in introducing the resources of this section of the state, and incidentally advertising the Lewis and Clark Centennial, yet the impossibility of a united effort makes individual work necessary. For this reason the Grants Pass Board of Trade will launch forth in the advertising of Josephine county and the Lewis and Clark Centennial entirely upon its own responsibility, but at the same time will be ready to join with any outside association in the matter of extending the 1905 Fair. In fact, it has picked the 1905 Fair. In fact, it has picked the 1905 Fair. In fact, it has picked the 1905 Fair.

IN MEMORIAM.
Alexander McCallan, fourth child of Jess and Cynthia Applegate, was born in St. Clair county, Missouri on the 11th day of March, 1838. He crossed the plains to Oregon with his father's family in 1843, and came with them to the Umpqua valley in 1849, where he has made his residence ever since. He was a natural mechanic, skilled in the use of all kinds of mechanical tools. He learned the carpenter's trade in his youth, being very fond of any work of that kind.

When he was a little boy, there came to his father's mill on Salt creek, in Polk county, a skilled workman named William Hayhurst who noticed the little lad's taste for mechanical work, and became greatly attached to him, teaching him many secrets of the craft, and finally leaving him a valuable tract of land in Hayhurst valley where he made his home until his death.

Alexander received such education as was attainable in the pioneer days of Oregon, and added much to it by extensive reading; he was fond of mathematical studies and often amused himself solving problems in algebra and geometry.

He was married in 1863 to Miss Isabelle Estes and was a faithful and affectionate companion to her to the end of his life; three children were born to them, only one of whom lived to be grown, Willis S. S., formerly of Roseburg now of this place.

Horace McKimley Sued.
A suit regarding a transaction in timber lands was heard in the circuit court this morning, says the Salem Journal. The parties to the suit are Frank W. Jewett, plaintiff, and Horace G. McKimley, defendant.

In August, 1900, an agreement was made between these parties whereby McKimley offered Jewett the option of a timberland located in Lane and Douglas counties, at a certain price. Mr. Jewett afterwards changed the description given in the contract from range 4 to range 3. He notified Mr. McKimley of this change and also made arrangements to buy the land after the time named in the option had expired, but McKimley to secure damages for not fulfilling the contract to dispose of the land to him.

In defense of the McKimley holds that he had a right to dispose of the land to anyone, as Jewett took no action to purchase it until after the expiration of the option. Jewett and Wrightman represent the plaintiff and R. J. Fleming and D. W. Tarpey the defendant.

The trial lasted all forenoon and ended in a voluntary nolle prosequi by the plaintiff during the trial. The amount of damages asked was $2,500. The same case was tried once before in Minneapolis, Minn., and ended the same way.

Wedding Near Riddle.
Two well known and highly esteemed young people of Riddle launched their bark upon the matrimonial sea last Sunday Feb. 9, 1902. The contracting parties being Laurence Michaels and Miss Lizzie Finn. The wedding was celebrated at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Mike Finn, near Riddle, in the presence of only a few relatives and friends, Rev. F. H. Bertschman, of Roseburg, officiating. The groom has just been in the employ of J. B. Riddle at Riddle, and is a sober, industrious and prosperous young man. He has held the position of city marshal at that place for several terms and is the owner of a fine little farm well improved and stocked on the South Umpqua a few miles above Canyonville, where he and his bride will take up their future residence. The bride is a charming little brunette and will no doubt make a worthy and faithful life companion. The bride and groom were in Roseburg Tuesday putting in their stock of household supplies preparatory to beginning their new life. The PLAINDEALER joins with their many friends in extending congratulations and best wishes for their future happiness and prosperity.

I have examined this sample and find that it is almost entirely pure sulfur. I think that it would answer the purposes very satisfactorily for spraying compounds or insecticides. I think that if you have plenty of this quality, or can get it, that it will be as good as any sulfur that we can obtain for spraying materials.
Very truly yours,
